¹Diary does not specify the text on which JW preached, but JWES, #1 is dated as finished two days earlier. The sermon can be found in Works, 4:204–214. See also E. Ralph Bates, 'John Wesley's First Preaching Sunday', WHS 40 (1975): 7–16; here, pp. 11–12.

²The definitive list of the texts and dates of JW's earliest sermons is Richard P. Heitzenrater, 'John Wesley's Early Sermons', WHS 37 (1970): 110–28. Heitzenrater uses annotations on surviving early manuscript sermons, information in JW's Oxford diaries, and other sources to reconstruct a list of sermon titles and texts for JW's preaching between September 1725 and September 1735. In some cases we have evidence only of the title; in other cases we know the text as well but not the occasion of preaching; and there are many sermons for which none of these details has survived. But Heitzenrater's list gives us what can be known.

We identify sermons by their number in Heitzenrater's list (JWES, #1, for example, means John Wesley's early sermons, number 1). These numbers do not correspond to the numbering in Works, which covers his combined published and manuscript sermons. The annotations on the manuscript sermons are available in the introductions to the sermons as published in Works. The Oxford diaries will appear in this edition eventually. The reader should assume that the texts and places given in this register for JW's early sermons are indicated in the Oxford diaries and annotations on the manuscript sermons, unless it is indicated otherwise in notes. The published location for these early sermons, when the text is still extant, will be given at the first citation of each.

⁵The text is based on the dated manuscript sermon. JW preached twice at Shipton this Sunday and twice two weeks later (Oct. 24). He surely used this sermon one of those times.

⁶The text is based on the dated manuscript sermon. JW preached twice at Thame on this Sunday and surely used the recently completed sermon for one of the services.

⁷The diary sets the date for the completion of this sermon. Notations on JWES, #2 list Binsey as the first place it was preached. The sermon can be found in Works, 4:215–23.

⁸JWES, #2 includes a notation that JW preached this sermon at Buckland in 1725. The diary indicates that JW traveled to Buckland on Dec. 28, and preached JWES, #1 there on Jan. 9, 1726. He may have preached JWES, #2 at Buckland the previous Sunday, Jan. 2 (which would have still been 1725 by old calendar dating then in effect), but no diary entries exist for that date to confirm this assumption.

¹JWES, #2 carries the notation of being preached at Broadway, but without a date. The diary is not explicit on this either, but this is the most likely date.

²This is St. Thomas's church in west Oxford, the poorest parish in the town, near a workhouse.

³Diary says only 'Weston'. This could have been any of three Westons near Oxford: North Weston, a locality 2 miles west of Thame; South Weston, a village 3 miles north of Watlington; and Weston-on-the-Green, a village 4 miles southwest of Bicester.

⁴No text of this sermon has survived.

⁵This sermon has not survived, but some sense of it can be gained from correspondence between JW and his older brother Samuel in December 1726 (Works, 25:201–207, 220–23).

⁸Notations on JWES, #6 show JW also preached it at Epworth, Wroot, Stanton, Shipton under Wychwood, and Gloucester. No certain dates can be determined from the diary, in part because the section covering Feb. 20, 1727– Apr. 29, 1729 is missing.

²This was a funeral sermon for John ('Robin') Griffiths, son of the Rev. John Griffiths of Broadway; cf. JW's letter to his mother (Jan. 24, 1727), Works, 25:208–209; and letter to his mother (March 19, 1727), Works, 25:214.

⁶JW wrote three early sermons on John 1:47, with the manuscript of only one (#17) still extant. His notations show that he finished transcribing the sermon on Jan. 17, 1728, and preached it at Epworth, probably on the following Sunday, Jan. 21. The text of JWES, #17 can be found in Works, 4:252–61.

⁴Orig., 'St. Mile's'.

²Orig., 'St. Mile's'.

³Diary reads 'F Hinkey'. North Hinksey was also called 'Ferry Hinksey', being linked to the eastern side of Hinksey stream by a small ferry.

⁴JW wrote this sermon between Sept. 2–15, 1733, and his notations on the manuscript indicate that he preached it at All Saints' in 1733. From the diary, we know that JW preached in Oxford on Sept. 23 and 30, and on Nov. 1, but in no instance does he record the church.

¹Although on the same scripture text as JW's first sermon a decade earlier, this was an entirely different sermon and the first to be published as The Trouble and Rest of Good Men (London, Rivington, 1735), according to the title-page, 'at the request of several of the hearers'. See Works, 3:533–41.

²The five undated sermons here were probably preached before the one at Manchester on Sept. 7, 1735, but since there is no extant diary for Mar. 1–Oct. 16, 1735, exact dates cannot be determined.

⁴See JW's reference to this farewell sermon at Epworth in his letter to John Newton (May 14, 1765), Telford, 4:299.

²JW does not name the island. It was called Peeper Island at the time; now it is called Cockspur Island.

³In the Journal JW wrote, 'I entered upon my ministry at Savannah by preaching on the Epistle for the day, being the thirteenth of the First of 1 Corinthians'. He preached on the same chapter the next year (Feb. 20), when it was again the assigned epistle. See note below on that occasion about the surviving manuscript.

⁵On the surviving manuscript copy of this sermon JW noted he had preached it at Savannah on Feb. 20, 1737. The text of the sermon is available in Works, 4:378–88. Some have tied this manuscript to JW's preaching on this text the preceding year (Mar. 7, 1736); cf. pp. 378–79.

⁶This was the First Sunday after Easter; JW preached on the Epistle for the day.

⁷The two previous listings also appear in JW's surviving manuscript journal of his Georgia stay. This manuscript also includes identification of this text for a sermon delivered in Savannah, which JW chose not to include in the published Journal (see Works, 18:353; Curnock, 1:393).

⁸William Stephens, secretary of the trustees of Savannah, records that on Nov. 13 he heard JW preach on, "'Is it lawful to give tribute to Caesar or not?'" from which he [JW] discoursed largely on duties of magistrates, and on the obedience which was due to them; setting forth how far it was consistent with Christian liberty for people to insist upon their rights, when they found themselves oppressed by inferior magistrates exercising a discretionary authority which exceeded their commission' (Stephens, Journal, 1:19).

¹Many who heard this sermon at St. John the Evangelist's were offended and, afterward, JW was informed that he was to preach there no more. Twenty-five years later, in 1763, he published a sermon on this text, 'On Sin in Believers'; see Works, 1:317–34.

²Once again, JW was told he could not preach here. This sermon was probably the same one with which he began his ministry at Savannah; see above, Mar. 7, 1736, and note.

³This is the first of many sermons on this text and came about as a result of JW's conversation with Peter Böhler the day before. JW, doubting he had faith, had asked Böhler if he should leave off preaching. 'By no means', Böhler answered, 'Preach faith till you have it; and then, because you have it, you will preach faith'. JW then observed, 'Accordingly, I began preaching this new doctrine, ... salvation by faith alone.'

⁷Both Journal and diary specify only 'Carfax', but the diary often uses this to refer to St. Martin's church.

⁸This was the same text as JW's sermon Free Grace, which he would publish in 1739 and which marked the breach with George Whitefield; see Works, 3:542–63. After the service, JW reported he was told, 'Sir, you must preach here no more'.

¹¹This sermon, preached in John Gambold's church at Stanton Harcourt in the morning and repeated at St. Mary's, Oxford in the afternoon, was JW's famous sermon on Salvation by Faith (see Works, 1:117–30). Subsequently, it would stand in first place in every collection of sermons he ever published.

¹²JW had set sail for Rotterdam on June 13, 1738, accompanied by Benjamin Ingham, three other Englishmen and three Germans. He returned to London on Saturday, Sept. 16, and resumed his work there the next day. The diary shows that he preached frequently during the following days, but no texts are cited and only topics or comments appear in the Journal for this period. For example, 'I went to the condemned felons in Newgate and offered them free salvation'; 'I went to a society in Bear Yard and preached repentance and remission of sins' (Sept. 19); 'I spoke the truth in love at a society in Aldersgate Street' (Sept. 20); he declared 'the mighty works of God' (Sept. 21); and 'the gospel of peace' at Windsor (Sept. 26).

¹⁴Thomas Cooper, account for CW, Oct. 1741 (MARC, MA 1977/501/16). While Cooper does not list JW's text, he describes the occasion in this manner: 'Such a minister I never heard before, for by the grace of God he spoke to me as never man spake. I found myself condemned under his word. I found by sins I had committed I deserved to be damned. I thought I was the person he made his discourse upon for he told me all that every I did.'

¹An account of her experience sent to CW in 1740 (MARC, MA 1977/501/2).

²This listing is clearly the beginning of a series on the Sermon on the Mount, a forerunner to JW's thirteen-sermon published series on the Sermon on the Mount; see Works, 1:466–698.

³JW recounts his first week of preaching in Bristol (Apr. 1–8, 1739) in a letter to James Hutton (Apr. 9, 1739), Works, 25:625–28. All of the sermons listed in the Journal appear in the letter as well, though the letter provides a few missing texts and occasionally more detail.

⁴At four in the afternoon I submitted to be more vile, and proclaimed in the highways the glad tidings of salvation, speaking from a little eminence in a ground adjoining to the city, to about three thousand people.' This historic sermon, preached in the open air, launched the Methodist revival. Although the diary identifies the place as the 'Glasshouse', JW states in his letter of Apr. 9 to James Hutton and the Fetter Lane society that he had preached in 'a brickyard adjoining the city' (Works, 25:625). For a discussion of the site of this first outdoor sermon, see H. J. Foster, 'Some Bristol Methodist Notes', WHS 2 (1900): 3–8.

⁶JW's description in his letter to James Hutton (Apr. 9, 1739), makes clear that he was starting here a series, and preached every morning in the Newgate society working through John. It appears the prior listing of Acts 1 for the Baldwin Street society was also the beginning of a series.

⁸This and the next two listing are described as the beginning of a sermon series on the book.

¹¹Rose Green was 'a plain on top of a high hill', about 2 mi NE of Kingswood; cf. letter to James Hutton (Apr. 1, 1739), Works, 25:628.

¹²JW lists sermons between April 9–15 in a letter to James Hutton (Apr. 16, 1739), Works, 25:631–33.

¹³Diary: '5 [p.m.] In the meadow, preached, 2,000.'

¹⁴For JW's text from which he offered the 'free grace of God to "heal their backsliding"', see above, Apr. 4, 1739, at Baptist Mills, and Works, 25:626.

¹⁷Hancock cites the text as one of JW's initial sermons in Bristol in her spiritual biography prepared for CW in Apr. 1742 (MARC, MA 1977/501/86). Hancock does not give a date; meanwhile JW mentions in a letter to James Hutton (Works, 25:635) preaching to three thousand in the brickyard on this date, without giving a text. This is as likely an occasion for the text as any.

¹⁸Elizabeth Halfpenny's account for CW, May 1742 (MARC, MA 1977/501/87).

¹⁹JW lists sermons between April 23–29 in a letter to James Hutton (Apr. 30, 1739), Works, 25:637–41.

²⁰This was not the same brickyard in which JW preached on Apr. 2 and 16, although it was near the first and (as the first) on St. Philip's Plain. In his letter of Apr. 30 to James Hutton JW refers to it as 'another brickyard a little nearer the city'. It was in fact owned by John Norman whose wife was one of three women who had 'agreed to meet together once a week; to confess their faults to one another, and pray one for another, that they may be healed' (Works, 25:626). The Normans lived on St. Philip's Plain.

²¹This is the text on which JW based his published sermon 'The Spirit of Bondage and Adoption', issued in 1746; see Works, 1:248–66.

²³This was JW's sermon Free Grace. He had spent most of the previous day writing it, and on Monday afternoon took it to Felix Farley, the printer. Within two weeks the sermon was on sale, his first Bristol publication; see Works, 3:544–63).

²⁵JW was supplying the pulpit for the curate, John Hodges, who was ill. He died on May 21; see letter to James Hutton (May 28, 1739), Works, 25:652.

²⁶Diary reads only 'Gal. 3'; but JW quotes Gal. 3:22 as his text in his letter to James Hutton.

²⁷JW lists sermons between May 7–13 in a letter to James Hutton (May 14, 1739), Works, 25:647–50.

²⁸Diary and letter show that JW was at Weavers' Hall at 7 p.m.

²⁹This was the beginning of a series of sermons on this text which JW preached at Bowling Green every Saturday afternoon at 4 p.m. and each Sunday morning at 7 a.m., concluding on Sunday, June 3. JW began his ministry in Savannah with this text (see Mar. 7, 1736), and there is an early manuscript sermon extant on this text (see Works, 4:378–88). In 1784 he would write another sermon, 'On Charity', which was published in the Arminian Magazine in 1785; see Works, 3:290–307.

³⁰JW lists sermons between May 13 – May 21 in his letter to James Hutton (May 28, 1739), Works, 25:650–53. The sermons for May 13 are a repeat from his previous letter.

³²This was the first time JW had preached in this place. Fishponds derived its name from two extensive ponds which once existed here.

³⁵JW lists sermons between June 4–7 in a letter to James Hutton (June 7, 1739), Works, 25:656–59.

³⁸This was the first sermon of JW heard by Howell Harris; see Hugh J. Hughes, The Life of Howell Harris: The Welsh Reformer (London: Nisbet, 1892), 96.

³⁹Although JW had been preaching in Kingswood and vicinity since Apr. 8, this is the first instance of his preaching 'near the house we had a few days before began to build for a school, in the middle of Kingswood, under a little sycamore tree' (Journal). This was the Colliers' Children's School in Kingswood for which George Whitefield had laid the cornerstone on Apr. 2. According to JW, the foundation was not completed until June, 'after many foreseen and unforeseen difficulties'. John Cennick, the first headmaster, had preached the first sermon in the school on June 14. Most of JW's preaching in Kingswood from this point is in the school. In the diary JW begins to refer to it as 'the house' or 'our house'.

⁴⁰JW mentions being in a new part of Kingswood in the Journal entry, but does not name it. It is identified as the Cupolas in the diary on July 26. The Cupolas was a copper-smelting works 3 mi E of Bristol city center, overlooking the River Avon (now Troopers Hill nature reserve).

⁴¹The diary for this entry and the next for Rose Green gives JW's texts as Luke 7:40 and 7:41, while in the Journal he quotes Luke 7:42, 'I explained the latter part of the seventh of St. Luke; that verse especially, "When they had nothing to pay, he frankly forgave them both"'.

⁴²Also known as 'Bury Field' in JW's day; Bearfield is now the northern district of Bradford-on-Avon.

⁴³This was the last time JW was permitted to preach in Richard Merchant's field. After the service, Merchant told JW that the people damaged the trees, stole things and that, by letting JW preach there, Merchant had earned the displeasure of his neighbours.

⁴⁵On July 21 JW 'began expounding ... our Lord's Sermon on the Mount', usually on Saturdays and Sundays at Bowling Green and on Sundays at Hanham Mount and Rose Green. The diary entries for Bowling Green are fairly straightforward, those for Hanham Mount and Rose Green somewhat less so. In this instance the diary reads simply 'Matt' which can be expanded, with some confidence, to 'Matt. 5:3, 4' when we plot JW's texts at Hanham Mount before and after July 29. The same can be said of the following text for Rose Green which in the diary is 'Matt. 3'. Chapter Three of Matthew is not the Sermon on the Mount. To expand the text as before will fill in sequence for Rose Green.

⁴⁷Diary does not supply chapter and verse; no mention in the Journal or letters.

⁴⁹Diary reads 'Matt. 5' only, but vs. 9 can be supplied from the order JW had been following at Hanham Mount, Bowling Green and Rose Green since July 21.

⁵⁰While JW wrote Ps. 40:16 in the diary, in the Journal he specifically quotes Ps. 40:15 as his text. In the AV, these are verses 12 and 13.

⁵¹Mary Jane Ramsey letter to CW, June 4, 1740 (MARC, MA 1977/501/13). Echoed by Elizabeth Hinsom in an account of her experience sent to CW in 1740 (MARC, MA 1977/501/2).

⁵³JW recorded this and the following six sermons in his letter to CW (Sept. 21, 1739), Work, 25:685–88.

⁵⁶This is a possible date for the occasion mentioned in Mary Jane Ramsey letter to CW, June 4, 1740 (MARC, MA 1977/501/13).

⁵⁷This is the first specific citation of the text used for JW's published sermon 'The Great Privilege of Those that are Born of God', issued in 1748; see Works, 1:431–43.

⁵⁸Mary Jane Ramsey letter to CW, June 4, 1740 (MARC, MA 1977/501/13).

⁵⁹Diary says that there were twelve thousand present, so almost certainly speaking on the flood plain area near St. Pancras church, rather than in the church itself.

⁶¹Diary: 'Hampton Common'.

⁶²'Not being permitted to meet any longer in Weavers' Hall, we met in a large room on Temple Backs.' The diary identifies it as a 'Malt-house', but JW soon begins to refer to this place as the 'Malt-room', which is used henceforth in this register.

⁶⁵This is the first use in the diary since the revival began where JW placed an exclamation mark following a preaching text. In the Journal for that day he says, 'Such freedom of speech I have seldom had as was given me in explaining those words, "The kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost".'

⁶⁶For a contemporary account of this sermon, see the extract of a letter to JW from the Rev. Josiah Tucker of All Saints', Bristol, which JW printed in his Journal for Nov. 1, 1739.

⁶⁷It is not clear whether he preached this sermon at the New Room at 8:15 a.m. or at the Malt-room at 11 a.m.

⁷⁰This building, once the Royal Foundery in Windmill Street (now Tabernacle Street), Moorfields, stood alone surrounded by fields. In 1716 the building was severely damaged by an explosion. It was abandoned, remaining a roofless ruin for almost a quarter of a century. JW began preaching here in November 1739. He soon acquired the property and repaired it. The Foundery soon became the center of JW's work in London, especially after the formal break with the Fetter Lane society in 1740. See J. Henry Martin, John Wesley's London Chapels (London: Epworth, 1946), 20–29.

⁷¹The only record of JW's first sermon at the Foundery is found in his letter to James Hutton (Nov. 14[?], 1739), Works, 25:699–700: 'Sunday, Nov. 11. I preached at eight, to five or six thousand on the spirit of bondage and the spirit of adoption; and at five in the evening to seven or eight thousand, in the place which had been the King's Foundery for cannon.'

⁷²"He said a person might go on forty years for a gradual sanctification, and then if one came and did even but hit their elbow they were in a passion. "

⁷³In a letter to CW, dated May 25, 1740 (MARC, MA 1977/501/2), Hinsom describes a series of sermons by JW that occurred after Sept. 1739 but before May 1740. JW's visit to London Dec. 19, 1739 to Jan. 2, 1740 is the most likely setting of these sermons, as this is the only time he is in London where his manuscript diary is missing.

⁷⁵Nathaniel Hurst account for CW, Oct. 1741 (MARC, MA 1977/501/15): 'He expounded on the eleventh chapter of John on "Lazarus come forth." I found myself that Lazarus whom he spoke of. I was all of atremble, for my bones shook as if they would part from my flesh. But before Mr. Wesley had done his discourse the Lord spoke peace to my soul.'

⁷Although JW wrote 'Cross Hays' in the diary, the more likely name for this inn at Malmesbury would be 'Cross Keys'.

⁹Neither diary nor Journal gives the place in London for this sermon, but JW typically preached on Sunday afternoons at five on Kennington Common.

¹²*Journal* quotes Heb. 10:35.

¹³In the Journal JW gives an outline of this early morning sermon: 'I showed, concerning the Holy Scriptures: (1) That to search (that is, read and hear them) is a command of God. (2) That this command is given to all, believers or unbelievers. (3) That this is commanded or ordained as a means of grace, a means of conveying the grace of God to all, whether unbelievers (such as those to whom he first gave this command, and those to whom faith cometh by hearing) or believers, who by experience know that "all Scripture is profitable", or a means to this end, "that the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished to all good works".'

¹⁴A market area.

¹⁵JW also gives this sermon outline in the Journal: 'I showed at large: (1) That the Lord's Supper was ordained by God to be a means of conveying to men either preventing, or justifying, or sanctifying grace, according to their several necessities. (2) That the persons for whom it was ordained are all those who know and feel that they want the grace of God, either to restrain them from sin, or to show their sins forgiven, or to renew their souls in the image of God. (3) That inasmuch as we come to his table, not to give him anything, but to receive whatsoever he sees best for us, there is no previous preparation indispensably necessary, but a desire to receive whatsoever he pleases to give. And (4) That no fitness is required at the time of communicating, but a sense of our state, of our utter sinfulness and helplessness; every one who knows he is fit for hell being just fit to come to Christ in this as well as all other ways of his appointment.' Cf. his later published sermon on the text, 'The Duty of Constant Communion'; Works, 3:427–39.

¹⁶Silas Told, in his autobiography, says the first sermon he heard JW preach was on this text, on an early Sunday morning in July 1740. This is the Sunday of that month where JW does not mention in his diary where he preached, or on what text, for the early morning regular time.

¹⁸The situation with the Moravians at Fetter Lane had reached the breaking point. After preaching at the early morning service at the Foundery, JW left to take care of other matters, returning late morning. The diary reveals the sequence of events: '11:15 At home; necessary business; religious talk to many. 1:15 Prayed. 3 Communion (nineteen there), agreed to leave the Society!' The Journal adds a few details, including the fact that Susanna Wesley was also present: 'A few of us joined with my mother in the great sacrifice of thanksgiving and then consulted how to proceed with regard to our poor brethren of Fetter Lane. We all saw the thing was now come to a crisis, and were therefore unanimously agreed what to do.'

¹⁹This night, after the Love-feast at Fetter Lane, JW read his paper outlining his differences with the Moravians and then, 'without saying anything more, withdrew, as did eighteen or nineteen of the society.'

²⁰Although the diary makes no specific reference to Islington, JW's usual plan was to preach at Islington on Monday afternoon.

²¹While no information about 'the Barn' has come to light, it appears to have been in the vicinity of Deptford, where JW usually preached on Wednesday afternoons. Other references to 'the Barn' in the diary appear Aug. 27, Sept. 24, and Oct. 8, 1740 (all Wednesdays). The two references in 1741 are on Apr. 23 and 27 (Thursday

²⁸JW's flying visit to Bristol at this time was prompted by his brother Charles's illness. John stayed a week, taking Charles for rides in either a borrowed or hired chariot and also preaching his usual Bristol round.

²⁹Although the place of this service is not given in the diary, it was JW's custom when in Bristol to preach at the Malt-room on Tuesday and Thursday mornings at eleven. See above, Apr. 15, 1740, and note.

³⁰There is a space in the diary between 'Hosea' and the exclamation mark, as if JW intended to fill in the chapter later. Since he had preached from Hos. 11 on Sept. 2, and Hos. 12 on Sept. 4, one could assume his text here was Hos. 13.

³³Beginning with this first Sunday in October 1740, JW shifted his usual Sunday afternoon sermon at Kennington Common to the Foundery (no further references to Kennington appear in the diary or Journal after Sept. 28). A clue to this change may lie in the events of Sunday, Sept. 14, and the days following. When JW returned to the Foundery after preaching at five at Kennington, he found a mob gathered in great numbers about his door. 'This was a time I had long been looking for and immediately spake to those that were next me of "righteousness and judgment to come". At first not many heard, the noise round about being exceeding great. But the silence spread farther and farther till I had a quiet, attentive congregation' (Journal). Other mobs gathered on Thursday and on the following Sundays, all with the intent to drown out JW's voice, but which grew quiet as he preached to them. With the crowds thus moving from the open spaces of the Common to the Foundery grounds, JW could now preach to them from his own doorstep.

⁴This is the text JW used for his later sermon, titled 'The Wisdom of God's Counsels', published in the Arminian Magazine in 1788; see Works, 2:551–66.

⁵JW quotes vs 35 in the Journal.

¹⁰In the Journal JW says that on this day he preached twice at Kingswood and twice at Bristol on those words of a troubled soul, 'Oh that I had wings like a dove; for then would I flee away, and be at rest'. The diary entry for the first of these sermons is 'Psa 55:6, 7', but three remaining entries have only 'Ps. 55'. In these cases the verses have been supplied.

²⁸JW quotes verses 7, 13–14 in the Journal. Malachi 3:7 was the text for his published sermon on 'The Means of Grace'; see Works, 1:366–97.

²⁹In the Journal JW quotes vs. 28, the text for his sermon, The Almost Christian, which he would preach again at St. Mary's, Oxford, on July 25th. It is interesting to note that while JW had been preaching from the twenty-sixth chapter of Acts from at least Aug. 3, 1739, this is the first time he recorded that he preached from these particular verses.

³²This was The Almost Christian, which was published by Strahan later this year. JW placed it as the second sermon in his first volume of Sermons on Several Occasions (1746), and it would remain in that place in all the subsequent editions of his sermons; see Works, 1:131–41.

³⁴Chelsea, where Lady Huntingdon had another residence, appears in the diary for the first time. JW had paid a visit earlier this day to the Huntingdon estate at Enfield Chase, north of London, where he had 'tea and religious talk with them', and it is fairly certain that this trip to Chelsea was for the purpose of meeting once again with Lady Huntingdon and her friends.

³⁷This was another Huguenot chapel, pastored by Rev. J. L. Deleznot, JW would return several times, and offer the Lord's Supper here. See Martin, Wesley's Chapels, 54–55.

⁴¹In this sermon or one about this time, JW spoke of "the five wounds Christ had received for us"; see Mary Thomas's account for CW, dated May 24, 1742 (MARC, MA 1977/501/128).

⁴²Susannah Designe, manuscript journal covering 1741–42 (MARC, DDCW 9/2), pp. 31–32; she notes that this was the first time JW had taken the pulpit since his illness, and that he seemed refreshed by the Spirit.

⁴³*Ibid.*, p. 32.

⁴⁴This is the only occasion recorded for JW preaching on this specific verse. Much later he used it as the text for his sermon 'Spiritual Idolatry', published in the Arminian Magazine in 1781; see Works, 3:103–14.

⁵Orig., 'Burnham'.

⁶JW again preached on his father's tombstone, as he did every evening this week, not being permitted to preach in Epworth church.

⁷In the Journal JW says, 'I preached on the righteousness of the law and the righteousness of faith'. His published sermon on Rom. 10:5–8, 'The Righteousness of Faith,' was issued in 1746; see Works, 1:200–216.

⁸This was the funeral sermon for his mother.

⁹The Journal quotes 'Why will ye die, O house of Israel?', a text which occurs in both Ezek. 18:31 and 33:11. Over all, JW preferred Ezek. 18:31 (eighteen times, plus two times for Ezek. 18:32). Ezek. 33:11 occurs only twice in the record, both late (Sept. 3, 1770, and Oct 14, 1790).

¹¹JW describes this in the Journal as 'an open place, ... between Whitechapel and Coverlet's Fields'.

¹²This was one of JW's favorite early texts, and served as the text for an early published sermon titled 'The Way to the Kingdom', issued in 1748; see Works, 1:217–32.

¹JW reports this service was in 'a large hollow, not half a mile from the town, capable of containing four or five thousand people'. It was 'a natural amphitheatre in the Coalpit Field destroyed eighty years later when Telford put the Holyhead Road through Wednesbury' (Works, 19:310 n 32).

²Gateshead Fell was in JW's day a sparsely populated, wild, common area filled with quarries. It is now the town of 'Low Fell'.

⁷JW had just gained a long-term lease on this chapel on West Street, near the Seven Dials, which had been opened in 1700 to serve French Protestants (Huguenots) fleeing persecution in their homeland. The chapel had later come under the control of St. Clement Dane's parish and was rented out in support of poor widows. See Martin, Wesley's Chapels, 47–49.

⁸*The Manuscript Journal of the Rev. Charles Wesley, M.A.*, edited by S T Kimbrough Jr. & Kenneth G. C. Newport (Nashville, TN: Kingswood Books, 2008).

¹³Orig., 'Lower Spen'.

¹⁴This was the second time JW had preached at this chapel in Snowsfields. His first sermon here was on Aug. 6, but the Journal gives no text for that occasion. The chapel stood on the west side of Meeting House Walk, an alley running south from Snowsfields a short distance east of Crosby Row. It had been built in 1736 by Elizabeth Ginn for the use of a Unitarian Baptist preacher, Mr. Sayer Rudd. When Rudd fell out of favour with his benefactress and congregation, the chapel was taken over by the Methodists, who occupied it for more than twenty years. For the second 'Snowsfield chapel', see below, Aug. 18, 1764. For a history of these two chapels, see also Martin, Wesley's Chapels, 49–50; and John Vickers, 'John Wesley's Third London Chapel', WHS 43 (1981): 59–61.

¹⁵Orig., 'St. Hilary Downs'. The Higher Downs are half a mile SE of St. Hilary.

³Orig., 'Triggivary Downs'.

⁵Richard Viney was present at this service and reports JW's text; cf. M. Rigall, 'Richard Viney's Diary 1784', WHS 14 (1923): 194–95.

⁶JW mentions only the shire name, but it was clearly in the SE corner of Lancashire. He was traveling with John Bennet who had a preaching point in this area that he called 'Hopkin Pit', the specific location of which remains uncertain.

⁷Chinley End is not listed in Bartholomew and does not appear on OS. There are two villages that JW may be referring to inaccurately: Hull End is half a mile E of Chinley (OS #110, SK 0582); Chinley Head is 1 mi N of Chinley (OS #110, SK 0484).

¹This was Easter Day, as described in the Journal.

²There is mention of this sermon in the Osmotherly Methodist Society's book; see WHS 3 (1902): 93.

³Orig., 'Bongs'.

⁴Not actually at Wendron but 'a mile and a half from the church under a shady tree'. JW preached 'on part of the Epistle for the day, "Marvel not if the world hate you"' (i.e., 1 John 3:13). This was the Second Sunday after Trinity.

⁵The text was 'part of the Second Morning Lesson' for the Second Sunday after Trinity.

⁶JW's text was the Gospel for the day on this Third Sunday after Trinity.

⁸In the church calendar Sept. 29 this year was the Feast Day of St. Michael and All Angels, for which the First Lesson was Gen. 32.

¹JW was preaching at Roger Moss's house, which was near Rode Hall farm, about 3 mi NE of Congleton, Cheshire. Dyson (Congleton Circuit, 20) gives a first-hand account by Thomas Buckley of Astbury of this sermon in which Buckley quotes JW's text from Rom. 3:23.

²This is possibly the occasion on which Thomas Mitchell heard JW speak on this text (see Jackson, Lives, 1:242).

⁴Letter of Martha to JW (MARC, DDWF 12/7): 'The sermon you preached here was the very thing I wanted you to speak of. That continual worship you so well described is what I am satisfied I was called to years ago!'

⁵Williams (Wesley in Wales, p. 25, n. 3) states this was probably St. Mary's Church, Nolton, in Oldcastle, a locality which joined Bridgend to the south. Although JW preached here at least four more times during his ministry (Aug. 19, 1769; Aug. 25, 1772; July 23, 1777; and Aug. 25, 1779), the Journal accounts do not give his preaching texts for these occasions. The extant manuscript diaries and sermon registers are of no help since none of these dates falls within the scope of these documents.

³Orig., 'Patten'.

⁴This entry and the two following for East Ferry illustrate a recurring problem in deciphering SR1. For the entire span of SR1 (1747–61) all of the places beginning with 'F' and the Scripture texts for them take up only about three-quarters of one page. The very first entry for 1747 is 'Ferry', and three texts are listed. The Journal shows, however, that JW preached at Ferry only once in 1747. The second and third of this trio of texts were clearly written sometime after the first text, although no year for them is indicated. Most likely they belong to July 1748 and September 1749 when JW was once more in the area, but the Journal gives us no clue where to assign them and, therefore, they remain here in the sequence of SR1. Ferry is entered again in SR1 in 1752, with one text supplied. Then, on the same line, in the midst of 1752 entries, the year '1757' is written and one text listed. The last entry for Ferry is in August, 1761, with one text given.

⁵JW's Journal mentions preaching in [High] Spen on April 8, 1747.

⁷Orig., 'Pictory'.

⁹Orig., 'Holton', under the 'Hs' in SR1 for April. We know from JW's itinerary and the Journal entry for this day that he was at Oulton.

¹³Orig., 'Widdup'.

¹⁵Stonesey Gate is also not to be found on present-day maps, but JW's comments that it was five miles from Widdop to Stonesey Gate and 'four miles further south to Shore' would indicate he was following Widdop Road SE toward Hebden Bridge, then moving back SW to Shore.

¹⁶Orig., 'Rosendale'. Rossendale was at this time the name of a general area in the River Irwell valley between Bacup and Rawtenstall. JW almost certainly preached at the home of William Darney in Miller Barn. Cf. <http://www.newchurch-methodist.co.uk/history.htm>.

¹⁷Listed under Manchester in SR1, but in the Journal JW says he 'walked straight to Salford Cross' to preach. In the Journal account he quotes Isa. 55:6 as his text, although Isa. 55:7 is given in SR1.

¹⁸'Woodly' in both SR1 and Journal, where JW says, 'I preached ... in the evening at Woodly Green'.

²²Orig., 'Beer'.

²³In SR1 the texts given for this visit to Plymouth are all listed under 'Plymouth Dock', although the Journal makes it clear that JW preached some of the texts in other parts of the town (i.e., 'on the Common', 'near the room', 'at the head of the town').

²⁴JW also may have used this text at the 5 a.m. service 'on the Common', although it is listed only once in SR1. The Journal entry is ambiguous.

²⁵Orig., 'Perrinwill'. This was JW's only recorded visit.

²⁷These four texts for Gwennap are listed under June in SR1. However, JW did not preach in Gwennap in June. He was there on July 5 and preached at various places in the St. Ives vicinity between July 14–24. Most likely these texts were used at those times.

²⁸Tyerman (Wesley, 1:554–55) gives an account of JW preaching at St. Agnes: a man hearing that JW was about to preach said, 'If he does, I'll stone him', and forthwith began to fill his pockets with the needful missiles. ... JW took his text, "He that is without sin among you, let him first cast a stone at her". The man's courage failed him, stone after stone stealthily dropped from his well filled pockets, and he went away with the impression that the preacher was something wonderful'. Tyerman's citation for this incident is simply 'Manuscript'. The only text given in SR1 for St. Agnes in 1747 is 2 Cor. 8:9. John 8:7 is not listed a single time in SR1, 1747–61.

³¹Although this text is listed in 1747, it may actually belong to 1748. JW preached at Sithney on Sept. 26, 1748, but the town is not entered among the 'Ss' for that year and no text for 1748 is given.

³⁴Orig., 'St. Ginnys'; in 1753 'St. Ginnis'.

³⁵Always referred to in the Journal as 'St. Stephen's Down near Launceston'. JW preached here again on Sept. 18, 1748, and Sept. 29, 1750, but SR1 supplies no texts for these occasions. This St. Stephens should not be confused with St. Stephen, a village near St. Austell, where JW preached Sept. 25, 1757, 'near a lone house on the side of a barren mountain'.

³⁶Orig., 'Portkellis'. Another text for Porkellis (Ps. 34:8) was written following the two given here. But it is in JW's own handwriting and added at a much later time, probably in 1757 when he first began making entries in the sermon register himself. His only other visit to Porkellis during the years of the sermon register was Sept. 17, 1757 (which see).

³⁸Orig. 'Builth'.

³⁹A former Lutheran church that the Methodists were using for a preaching house.

⁴³Orig., '2 Cor. 2:18.' However, ch. 2 has only 17 vss. Attempting to correct the error, another hand has inserted a '1' before the '2' to read ch. 12:18. This does not solve the problem (there is no other instance of his preaching from 2 Cor. 12:18). He did preach occasionally from 2 Cor. 3:18 and that is the correction supplied here.

⁴Orig., 'Lanidlos'.

⁵Orig. 'Ryd-y-spardun'. The home of Thomas Thomas. No longer extant, displaced by the airport some four miles west of Llangefni, near Bodffordd and the west end of Cefni Reservoir. See OS #114; SH 4276.

⁶Orig., 'Llanfihengel'. JW describes it as about 6 mi SW of Llangefni. No such town exists at this location. He almost certainly meant 6 mi NW, where is found Llanfihangel Tre'r -beirdd.

⁷In SR1 there are no entries for Dublin for 1748. Our only knowledge of JW's preaching there on this visit are the sermons recorded in the Journal and his letter to his brother.

⁸This was the beginning of a series on Acts.

⁹JW lists sermons between March 14–30 in a letter to his brother Charles (Apr. 4, 1748), Works, 26:299–303.

¹⁰Chapter and verse are not given in SR1.

¹²JW lists sermons between April 4–12 in a letter to his brother Charles (Apr. 16, 1748), Works, 26:305–309.

²¹A park in Oxmantown, the quarter of Dublin north of the River Liffey.

²³The old orchard of the Dominican Friary, in the Quakers Friars, so-called because the estate fell to the Penn family through the marriage of William Penn to Hannah Callowhill, daughter of a Bristol Quaker. It is now covered by Penn Street, Callowhill Street, and Philadelphia Street. JW had preached here first on June 23, 1747.

²⁴Orig., listed under 'July', but JW was nowhere near Stroud in July. From the Journal we know he preached at 'Wallbridge, near Stroud' on June 27. No entry for Wallbridge was made in SR1 in 1748.

²⁵Orig., 'June 15:7!' At this time in his ministry, JW's only text from ch. 15, vs. 7 is from Luke, which has here been supplied. It should be noted that JW's quoting Rev. 3:2 in the Journal is simply an editorial comment and not his text on this occasion.

²⁶The only Bradford JW could have visited during June was Bradford-on-Avon, sometime between the 21st and 26th, although there is no mention of such a visit in the Journal. JW preached at Bradford (Yorkshire), on Aug. 23, 1748, but for the text in question SR1 clearly indicates 'June'.

²⁹Orig., 'Laseby'.

³⁷Orig., 'Holton'.

³⁹Orig., 'Ecclesal'.

⁴⁰JW calls 'The Bank', and alphabetized under the 'Ts' in SR1. Now called 'Lumb Bank', it was a mill owner's estate half a mile NW of Heptonstall. As JW describes it in the Journal, 'the house stands on the side of a steep mountain and commands all the vale below'.

⁴¹'Todmorden' only in SR1, but in the Journal JW says he 'rode to Todmorden Edge'.

⁴²SR1 lists 'Rosendale' only; in the Journal JW says he preached at Miller Barn in Rossendale. Not until Apr. 2, 1752, does Miller Barn appear as a separate listing in SR1 and then as 'Mellarbarn'. See above, May 7, 1747, and note. William Darney lived in Miller Barn.

⁴⁴Another text (John 8:12) in JW's own handwriting followed this one, but it was entered at a much later date when JW was himself keeping the sermon register.

⁴⁵JW describes preaching this and the next two sermons at Lady Huntingdon's house in Chelsea in a letter to his brother Charles (Sep. 15, 1748), Works, 26:330–31.

⁴⁷Orig., 'Tresmare'.

¹It is unlikely JW preached this many sermons in the same place in one day; the sermon register is likely gathering texts preached over a week or more.

²James Erskine was present for this sermon, and wrote extended comments which he sent enclosed in a letter to Charles Wesley dated Jan. 16, 1749.

³Orig., 'Matt. 16:36'. However, Matt. 16 has only 28 vss. Another hand has overwritten the '3' with '2' to read vs. 26. Matt. 16:26 was a text from which JW often preached.

⁴See above, Dec. 29, 1748, and note.

⁷Orig., 'Treshford' under the 'Ts'. The date in SR1 is given as February. However, the Journal makes clear both the spelling and the date of JW's visit.

⁸John was accompanying his brother Charles to Garth, Wales, for Charles's wedding to Sally Gwynne. Charles records in his MS Journal several instances of John preaching between April 4 and April 10, but does not give sermon texts.

⁹In the Journal JW says he preached afternoon and evening on this date, and he quotes Heb. 4:16 as his text for both occasions. SR1 gives Heb. 4:14 as the text where it is listed only once.

¹¹This first text is dated May 13 in SR1 but the Journal reports JW's first sermon on this visit was on Friday night, May 12, between six and seven in the evening. JW specifies preaching at 'an open place without the walls'. At a later visit, June 12, 1785, he says, 'I preached near Mardyke, on a smooth, grassy place'.

¹²Orig., 'Gal. 5:35' Gal. 5 has only 26 vss. Another hand has written a '2' over the '3' to read Gal. 5:25.

¹⁶Orig., 'Gen. 28:30', but Gen. 28 has only 22 vss. JW had preached from Gen. 28:20 several times. Both this text and the preceding one appear in SR1 on the line following the text used on May 1 but almost certainly belong to this visit in June.

¹⁷Three texts are listed in SR1 for Mountmellick, dated June 25, the first of which is Heb. 8:10. The Journal makes it clear that JW used this text on Monday evening, June 26, which sets up an inconsistency between the order given in SR1 and the Journal account—not an uncommon problem in SR1.

¹⁸Orig., '1 Cor. 5:19', but 1 Cor. 5 has only 13 vss. 2 Cor. 5:19 is the more likely text since JW frequently preached from 2 Cor. 5:18 and/or 19.

¹⁹Orig. first read 'Gen. 28:30'—but ch. 28 has only 22 vss. Then the '2' was marked over to read 'Gen. 18:30'. One wonders if this correction was itself an error, and that instead the correction should have changed the verse from '30' to '20'? JW preached several times from Gen. 28:20; we know of no other instance of his use of Gen. 18:30.

²²In SR1 all the texts for this visit to Berwick-upon-Tweed are listed under Sept. 9, although the visit extended until Sept. 14. The Journal supplies dates and times for JW's preaching at Berwick on this trip, and they are so entered here.

²³The four texts listed in SR1 for Hindley Hill in 1749 are not given in the order which the Journal account indicates they were preached. There, JW quotes the fourth (Heb. 4:14) as his text for Sept. 20, and the second (Rev. 20) as his text on Sept 27.

²⁴This text and the next are listed in SR1 under date of Oct. 1, but Journal entries show that JW used these two texts on Sept. 23 and 24.

²⁶As JW described in the Journal, The Ginns was a small village of colliers, about a half mile SW of Whitehaven. It was swallowed by the city and now remains only as a road name.

²⁷Orig. '2 Cor. 6:19', but 2 Cor. 6 does not have 19 vss. 1 Cor. 6 does have, and JW preached from 1 Cor. 6:19 on occasion (and that is the text supplied here). An argument could be made that the intended text was 2 Cor. 5:19, another favorite of JW, but he used this text in Whitehaven a few days later, and it is unlikely that he would repeat himself so soon.

²⁸This and the two texts following for Whitehaven are listed in SR1 under Oct. 1. See Journal for the actual dates.

³⁰Orig., 'Matt. 20:4', but in the Journal on this date, JW quotes Matt. 22:4 as his text, a favorite on which he preached at least sixty-five times during his ministry. Matt. 20:4, on the other hand, occurs again only twice: Apr. 24, 1759 (at Mold), and Sept. 19, 1787 (at Winterbourne).

³¹Orig., 'Shackerly'.

³²This entry is representative of the multiple problems that are met with in SR1. The line of texts for Alpraham for October this year reads: 'Isa. 55:7! Mark 1:15! Acts 11. Jer. 8:22! 26', with the '26' written at the end of the line, almost as an afterthought. One possible reading might be 'Jer. 8:22, 26'—but Jer. 8 does not have 26 vss. Another might indicate two texts: 'Jer. 8:22' and 'Jer. 26'. Although JW did preach occasionally from Jeremiah, we have no record that he ever used Jer. 26 as a text. Instead, I believe that the '26' was intended to be added to the next to last text on the line, 'Acts 11', to read 'Acts 11:26'. JW had already preached on Acts 11:26 seven times this year—and he continued to use it up until 1790. He never preached from the entire eleventh chapter of Acts so far as records show.

³³Orig., 'Little Acton'.

³⁴Orig., 'Stanley'. Almost certainly here and in later occasions he means Stanley Pontlarge, which is on the way down from Evesham to Stroud; much less likely is King's Stanley, below Stroud.

³⁵Orig., 'Stroud'. But in the Journal JW says that he preached 'at Wallbridge near Stroud'. Wallbridge was a crossing for the River Frome just SW of Stroud.

¹This is the first of twenty instances where Heb. 12:38 has been recorded in SR1 (10 in 1750; 5 each in 1751 and 1752). Heb. 12 has only 29 vss. It is virtually impossible to determine the text on which JW actually preached on these occasions. The Journal does not provide a single clue. To compound the problem, in four of these texts, in another hand, the 3 has been changed to a 2, to read Heb. 12:28 (Coleford, April, n.d., 1750; Coolylough, May 4, 1750; Berwick, April 23, 1751; Leigh, Dec. 26, 1751). In two others, the 3 has been changed to 1, or marked through, to read either Heb. 12:18 or Heb. 12:8. In two instances, the 12 has been changed to 11 to read Heb. 11:38 (Bolton, April 2, 1752; Bearfield [Bradford-on-Avon], Oct., n.d., 1750). The rest remain unchanged. While JW had preached from Heb. 10:38 nineteen times between Aug. 7, 1739 and Sept. 14, 1749, on Nov. 3, 1749, he began to preach from Heb. 12:28 and used this text two more times before the end of the year (Nov. 13 and Dec. 1).

03-nd-50	Shepton Mallet ⁵	Gal. 6:14	SR1
03-nd-50	Shepton Mallet	Rev. 20	SR1

³This text appears in SR1 for Mar. 1750 under Kingswood; it is not among those listed for Bristol. In the Journal, however, for Mar. 7, 1750, JW quotes Rev. 2:5 as his text. The assumption is that he was at Bristol rather than Kingswood—and that there was an omission in SR1. On the other hand, this may be an erroneous assumption and the text for Kingswood is the only one that should be counted. Nonetheless, it should be noted that JW frequently used the same texts at both Bristol and Kingswood.

⁴Orig., 'How. Thomas'. In the Journal JW says he 'preached at Howell Thomas's, in Trefollwyn parish'.

⁵Orig., 'Shepton'.

⁷Dated 'April' in SR1. But JW was nowhere near Bath at this time. It is possible that he preached there sometime between Mar. 5–19, while he was in the Bristol area.

⁸Also dated 'Ap' in SR1, although JW was not in the Coleford vicinity at this time. As with Bath, above, it is possible he visited Coleford sometime between Mar. 5–19.

¹⁰This name appears in SR1 in the 'Gs' under 'April', but JW almost certainly is referring to Robert Griffith, who hosted his stay in Holyhead on March 30–31, 1750.

¹¹Richard Hughes is listed in SR1 under 'April' in the 'Hs'. An apostrophe following 'Hughes' indicates that JW preached at his house. The Journal offers no clues to identity or place.

¹²Orig., 'Road'.

¹⁵This text in JW's hand belongs to a later date impossible to determine. It may, in fact, be a duplication of the text for June 9, 1758 (which see), that JW had inserted among texts for 1756!

¹⁶Orig. in JW's hand and belongs to a later date impossible to determine. The 1758 and 1760 entries for Aughrim are on the facing page and this text may belong to one of those years.

¹⁷See Feb. 12, 1750, Brentford, and note.

¹⁸An open area about half a mile west of city center, on the river edge, now drained. JW gives an extended account of attempts to disturb the preaching in the Journal.

²¹Orig., 'Rom. 3:32', but the third chapter of Romans has only 31 vss. JW had just published a two-sermon set on this text titled 'The Law Established by Faith'; see Works, 2:20–43.

²²Orig., '1 Cor. 1:10!' (the only time this text appears in SR1). In the Journal, however, JW quotes 1 Cor. 1:30 as his text for this occasion. In addition to this statement, evidence for 1 Cor. 1:30 is overwhelming since JW preached from it more than seventy times during his ministry.

²⁴This is the text that JW later used for his sermon 'On Redeeming the Time', published in the Arminian Magazine in 1782; see Works, 3:322–32.

²⁵Orig., 'Luke 16:49'. However, Luke 16 does not have 49 vss. Most likely the text intended is Luke 16:9 from which JW preached a number of times during the months preceding and following this entry.

²⁷See Feb. 12, 1750, Brentford, and note.

²⁸Orig., 'Treshford', and listed under the 'Ts'.

³¹In SR1 this text was entered at the end of the line on which were written the two texts JW had used at Canterbury the previous February. From the blunt pen strokes, however, it appears to belong to the group of texts for this December visit. Confirmation comes from the Journal, Dec. 3, 1750, when JW quotes Rev. 20 as his text at Canterbury on this day.

¹About seven in the evening, God brought us safe to Oxford. A congregation was waiting for me at Mr. Evans's, whom I immediately addressed in those awful words, "What is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?" Although SR1 does not show preaching texts for Oxford in January of this year, two texts (one of which is Matt. 16:26) are listed for August, without specific days however. His itinerary does not indicate a visit to Oxford in August, but one was entirely possible.

²This text and the one that follows appear in SR1 under the month of February only; there is no mention of this visit to Hayes in the Journal. Feb 3, however, seems to be the only possibility since on the following Sunday, Feb 10, JW slipped and fell on ice while crossing London Bridge and was not able to travel again until Mar 4.

³In SR1 the Twenty-third Psalm is not listed for the Foundery. Ps. 33:4,5 is listed under Feb 1.

⁴2 Tim. 3 has only 17 vss. JW did preach occasionally from 2 Tim. 2:19.

⁵Mark 7 has only 37 vss. Perhaps an error in SR1 for Mark 8 which does have 38 vss.

⁹Orig., 'Shackerly'. Under month only in SR1. See Journal for an earlier visit to Shakerley (Aug. 28, 1748) when JW preached on Mark 12:34 before many of the disciples of Dr. Taylor who laughed 'at original sin, and, consequently, at the whole frame of scriptural Christianity'.

¹⁰This text and the six following are given in SR1 for Whitehaven under 'March' only. However, JW's March itinerary did not include Whitehaven. He did spend several days there in mid-April and it is to this period that these texts belong.

¹³JW made three visits to Newcastle in April and May. He arrived on Saturday afternoon, Apr 20, and preached in Morpeth on Monday, the 22nd. He returned to Newcastle for a second time on Apr 29, remaining until May 3. He was there again on May 5 and probably preached his last sermon on this round on Monday morning, May 6, before going on to Durham. In SR1 there are 13 texts listed for Newcastle, on three lines. On the first line the date of Apr 20 is given, followed by four texts. It is to the first visit that these texts apply. The next seven texts were most probably those used on the second visit. The last two texts were used on May 5 and 6.

²²Probable date falls between May 17–23 when JW spent a few days ‘among the neighbouring societies’ before returning to London. Two villages with this name are located in the vicinity of JW’s itinerary at this time (one SW of Hoyland Nether; the other 4 mi E of Huddersfield), but it is impossible to determine which is meant here, the only recorded visit JW made to High Green.

²³Orig., ‘The Fell’, and listed under the ‘Ts’.

²⁹In SR1 the month only is given for the eleven texts from which JW preached during this visit to Tiverton, which lasted from Sunday, Aug 25, until Saturday, Aug 31 (with a brief jaunt to Uffculme, 8 miles distant, on Tuesday the Aug 27). The only clue in the Journal as to which text he preached on what date refers to Acts 28:22, the ninth text in the list. On Friday, Aug 30, he says, 'I preached at six on those words in the Morning Lesson, "We desire to hear of thee what thou thinkest: for, as concerning this sect, we know everywhere it is spoken against"'. The two remaining texts would, of course, have followed in turn.

³⁰Four texts are given for Launceston, all listed under the month of August. JW preached here once on Aug 31 and twice on Sept 1. His last visit this year was on Sept 17. On that occasion his text was most likely the last in this series (2 Cor. 4:5), which see under that date.

³²Orig. first read 'John 21:29' but was then changed. John 21 does not have 29 vss.

³⁴Orig., 'St. Ginny's'.

³⁵Orig., 'St. Kubert'. This is the only occurrence in SR1. Various spellings are found in JW's writings for this village, sometimes known as St. Cuthbert (for the patron saint of the parish). In his Journal, Sept 7, 1765, JW declared the 'true spelling' to be 'Cuthbert', although thereafter he consistently used 'Cubert'.

³⁶Orig., 'Zunnor'.

³⁸Orig., 'Bray'.

³⁹Following this text, three more have been inserted among the entries for Oct. 1751. But they are in JW's hand and therefore belong to a later time, most likely to Oct. 1757, when JW was keeping the register himself. Kingswood is not among SR1 listings for 1757, but JW was there in October of that year.

¹Orig., 'Phil. 3:9,10 :11 :14'. This may indicate texts for more than one sermon (Phil. 3:9, 10; Phil. 3:11; Phil. 3:14), but such a reading is conjectural.

¹¹No listing appears in Bartholomew. A remote possibility might be Dagdale, Staffordshire, a locality 3 mi W of Uttoxeter, although there is no other record that JW preached here.

¹²Orig., 'Davy-holme'.

¹³Orig. in JW hand. Therefore, it belongs to a later date impossible to determine. The only visit to Davyhulme during the remaining years of SR1 (according to the Journal) was Apr. 2, 1753. While no text is listed in SR1 for this 1753 visit, this is not likely to be the one used since JW did not begin to make the entries himself until 1757.

¹⁷Orig., 'Birnam', dated Apr. 15.

¹⁸Another text (Gal. 5:22), in JW's hand, follows this which belongs to a later date. JW preached at Clayworth on June 12, 1755, and July 25, 1757, and texts for these occasions are given in SR1. His last visit was on Aug. 1, 1761 (when no text is supplied) and it is to this date that Gal. 5:22 most probably belongs (which see).

²²The home of William Grimshaw's first wife, Sarah née Lockwood, located about half a mile NE of Mytholmroyd, Yorkshire, West Riding. According to the Journal, JW was again at Ewood Hall on June 9, but no text is listed.

²³JW was in the vicinity of Epworth between April 14–20.

²⁴Orig., 'Kighly'.

²⁵Nether and Upper Poppleton were villages 4 mi NW of York. Which of these villages JW visited has not been determined.

²⁶Orig., 'Rom. 3:33', but Rom. 3 has only 31 vss. Cf. June 22, 1750 above, and note.

²⁸Orig., 'Leak'.

²⁹Orig. gives only chapter and verse, which are preceded by a blank space. The only book in the Bible that JW preached from during the years of SR1 with this text combination was 1 Kings, which is supplied here.

³⁰The colliery village of Plessey, Northumberland, was located near Plessey Woods, 2 mi SW of Bedlington. The latter is on the River Blyth. A possible explanation is that JW preached on the 'South b[ank]' of the River Blyth.

³¹Orig. listed under the 'Gs' instead of under Newcastle. Garth Heads was a small field just north of the Keelman's Hospital.

³³Orig., 'Warda', in the 'Ss' for April, 1752, on a line of texts for Sheep Hill. The only other time Weardale appears in SR1 is 1761 (June 9) where it is spelled 'Wardale.'

³⁴This text and the one following appear in SR1 in the 'Ws' (beside Whickham and on the line usually reserved for texts) as preached at 'Hinel h.' The Journal for May 26 records that JW was in 'Allendale' and quotes this text. There is no listing in SR1 at all in 1752 for Allendale.

³⁶Orig. undated. JW most likely preached here around May 19 when he was in the Gateshead area and preached at Whickham just north of Swalwell.

³⁷Probably in mid-May when JW was traveling between Newcastle upon Tyne and Berwick-upon-Tweed.

³⁸Orig. dated 'May', the only time Seaton appears in SR1. JW's single visit to this 'town of colliers' was on June 2.

³⁹Orig., 'Mellarbarn'. See May 7, 1747, and note.

⁴⁰Following this text, JW wrote in a tremulous hand, '2 Kings 5:12', which belongs to a later date. His only other visit to Redditch was on Mar. 12, 1761 (which see).

⁴¹Identification of 'Thompson's Cross' remains uncertain, though it was surely on the course between Redditch and Stroud. In the Journal JW mentions finding a congregation waiting, but does not say where.

⁴²A rare text in SR1 which includes more than one or two verses from a single chapter. Orig. reads: 'Col. 1:7 to c. 3. v. 17'.

⁴⁴Orig., 'Acts 22:28'. But JW quotes Acts 28:22 as his text in the Journal, chapter and verse obviously being inverted when entered in SR1.

⁴⁷The Journal suggests that JW's text may have been Luke 10:42.

⁴⁸Orig. in JW's hand which indicates this text belongs to a later date now impossible to determine. Following 1756, when JW began keeping the register himself, he visited Ireland only in 1758 and 1760, and texts for Edenderry are given in SR1 for both of those years.

⁴⁹Orig. text was followed by an exclamation mark which was then marked through. Probable date for this sermon was between July 3–5, when JW was at Chester.

⁵⁰Orig., 'The Ginns' under the 'Ts', with the month only given in SR1. The most probable date would be between July 10–13, while JW was in Whitehaven awaiting passage to Dublin. For 'The Ginns', see Sept. 24, 1749 and note.

⁵²Orig., 'Street'.⁵³Orig., 'Abidarrig'.

⁵⁴On the line following this text JW entered 'Col. 3:9' which belongs not to 1752 but to a later date, which can only be conjectured. During the remaining years of SR1, JW visited Ireland again three times, in 1756, 1758, and 1760. 'Abidarrig' is listed only in 1756. A puzzle exists here also, in that JW added a text following the two entered by his amanuensis. This text ('Ecc. 9:10') belongs, most probably, to the 1758 visit, sometime either in May or June of that year when JW was in the vicinity. The text in question here (Col. 3:9) belongs, most probably, to June 9, 1760, when JW was in Abbeyderg once more.

⁵⁶Orig., 'Shronill'.

⁵⁸See above, Feb. 12, 1750, Brentford, and note.

⁵⁹There are no missing days in JW's Journal at this point; rather he is reflecting the official move from the Julian Calendar to the Gregorian Calendar, which had the result of Wednesday, September 2, being followed immediately by Thursday, September 14.

⁶⁰Orig., 'Boiree'. According to Crookshank (Ireland, 1:94), the Bog of Boira was 'in the parish of Kiltrisk, Wexford'.

⁶¹Orig. gives chapter and verse but no book in the Bible. JW had preached from Acts 8:22 once (Aug. 14, 1746) and from Rom. 8:22 three times (May 1, 1747, Aug. 27, 1748, Nov. 1, 1750), but he had used Jer. 8:22 forty-eight times from Mar. 1747 until Aug. 22, 1752. From this overwhelming evidence, we have here supplied the Book of Jeremiah.

⁶²On the line below these texts for the Bog of Boira, JW crowded in 'Balligarane Gal. 3:22. Rom. 12:1', leaving the impression that this entry belongs to 1752. But because it is in JW's hand, we know these texts were used at a later date. He preached at Ballingrane on June 16, 1756, but texts for this visit are listed in SR1. Ballingrane is mentioned in the Journal on June 23, 1758, but it does not appear that JW preached at this time. He did preach here on July 9, 1760, and since no more texts appear in SR1 for Ballingrane, it is to this date that the above texts most probably belong (which see).

⁶³Dates and texts for both Birr and Bandon in 1752 are quite confusing. The three texts listed here for Bandon may in fact belong to Birr (JW was at Birr, Sept. 20–21). The Journal gives no mention of a visit to Bandon in Sept., but JW was there on Oct. 2 (which see).

⁶⁴Orig., 'Rev. 17:22'. Rev. 17 does not have 22 vss. The most probable explanation is that chapter and verse were inverted. Rev. 22:17 was a favorite text from which JW had preached more than thirty times. See below, Dec. 18, 1752, at Mill Hill, where this same inversion occurs.

⁶⁵See note on Bandon for 09-nd-52.

⁶⁶Orig., 'Passage'. Following this text is another (Ps. 34:8) in JW's hand, which belongs, most probably, to Aug. 6, 1758 (which see).

⁶⁷Orig. lists no month or day for this and the two following texts; however, we know from the diary of one of JW's stewards that he was preaching in Bristol Oct. 15–30; see Bristol Steward Diary, 16–33.

⁶⁸'Mond. 16. Mr John made an excellent Sermon at 5, concerning taking up our Cross. Highly needful in this Society!' Bristol Steward's Diary, 17. While this could refer either to Luke 9:22–26 or Matt. 16:24–27, JW had been recording regularly preaching on Matt. 16:24.

⁶⁹Both sources note that this was a funeral sermon for Elizabeth Man[n]; cf. Bristol Steward's Diary, 28.

⁷¹There are a number of places in Britain named 'Mill Hill'; however, since the preaching occasions occur in December (when JW was traditionally in London), the Mill Hill mentioned here is almost certainly the one in Middlesex.

⁷²Orig., 'Rev. 17:22'. For the inversion of this text, see note at Cork, Oct. 1, 1752.

²This would have been a sermon on the duties of husbands, wives and directions to children and servants. When JW published his fourth volume of Sermons on Several Occasions in 1760, he added to it seven essays, four of which were entitled, 'The Duties of Husbands and Wives', 'Directions to Children', 'Directions to Servants', and 'Christian Instructions'. However, he did not write his sermon 'On Family Religion' until 1783, almost thirty years after the occasion here (see Works, 3:333–46), with Josh. 24:15 as the text.

³Dates in SR1 for the Shaftesbury texts in 1753 are not clear at first glance. All but one appear to be for unspecified days in October. The exception (John 3:7) is dated July 15. I believe, however, that the five texts given in SR1 represent all of JW's preaching at Shaftesbury in 1753. With the help of the Journal, we can assign the first two in the list here to Mar. 14, and the following three to JW's visit July 14–15 (which see). None belongs to October as a first reading of SR1 might seem to imply.

⁵Mitchell letter to JW, AM 3 (1780): 323.

⁷This text in JW's hand follows texts for St. Agnes in 1753, but it belongs to a later date impossible to determine. After JW began to keep the sermon register himself in 1757, he preached at St. Agnes twice—in 1757 and 1760—but SR1 supplies texts for both these years.

⁸Orig., 'Zunnor'.

⁹In the Journal JW quotes Hos. 11:8 as his text, not an unprecedented discrepancy. On the line following this text, JW wrote another (Ps. 34:8) which belongs to a later date. His only other visit to Morvah between 1757–61 when JW was keeping the register himself was Sept. 11, 1757 (which see).

¹⁰In the Journal JW quotes Phil. 4:6 as his text (see note above).

¹¹Orig. gives month only for this and the two following texts. Most probable date would be between July 12–14 when JW stopped at Salisbury en route from Newport (Isle of Wight) to Bristol.

¹²Orig., 'Trome' under the 'Ts'.

¹³Orig., 'Treshford' under the 'Ts'.

¹⁴Following this text are two more in JW's hand which belong to a later date, the determination of which can only be conjectural. JW preached at Gwennap three more years during SR1 (1755, 1757, 1760). Two texts are given for his visit, Aug. 31–Sept. 1, 1755—which take up most of the line. Crowded at the end (book and chapter written over the verse) is 'Jo 6:37'. On JW's visit in 1757, he probably stayed at Gwennap overnight, preaching night and morning. He had room beside the 1753 text to enter these two (as he did not have alongside those for 1755). When he return in 1760, rather than make a new entry for Gwennap, he crowded in his text following those for 1755 (which see).

¹⁵Orig., 'Bezore', with month only given. On the line following this text, two more were written in JW's hand (1 John 5:19 and Mark 1:15) which belong to a later date, most probably Sept. 20–21, 1757, when JW preached at Besore again (which see). SR1 also gives texts for 1760 (JW was in Cornwall in September that year), although Besore is not mentioned in the Journal.

¹⁶On the line following this text is another (Eph. 5:8) in JW's hand which belongs to a later date, most probably to Aug. 31, 1757 (which see). He also preached at Trewalder on Sept. 6–7, 1760, but there are entries in SR1 for these occasions.

¹⁷Orig., 'St. Ginnis'.

¹⁸Orig., 'Collumpton'.

¹⁹JW had preached on 1 Thess. 1:1–4 on July 16, at Bristol. Here, he picks up where he had left off and continues to the end of the epistle.

²⁰This text is in JW's hand and, therefore, belongs to a later time now impossible to determine. JW's only other visit to Fonmon and vicinity (so far as we know) was in Aug. 1758, and there are texts given in SR1 for this period.

²¹Following this text, JW entered two more (Matt. 26:26 and 1 Cor. 6:19), which belong to a later date. JW's other visits to Week St. Mary were Oct. 2–3, 1757, and Sept. 29, 1760. The texts for the 1757 visit are given in SR1; those for the 1760 visit are not and, therefore, it is to this date they most probably belong (which see).

²³Orig., 'Kingswood Junr'. Kingswood, Wiltshire, is a village 1 mi SW of Wotton-under-Edge. JW preached there again on Apr. 1, 1755, but no texts are given for this year in SR1. One could say that texts for both years are grouped together here in 1753, but such is mere conjecture.

²⁴Four texts in JW's hand follow this and probably represent JW's preaching at Paulton during the last five years of SR1 (1757–61). However, the only specific date we have for JW's preaching at Paulton is Oct. 17, 1757 (which see).

²⁵Orig., 'Buckland'. 'I preached at six in the evening at Buckland, about two miles from Frome, in a meadow of Mr. [Jeremiah] Emblem's.'

²⁶Orig., 'Road'.

²⁷Orig., 'Treshford', under the 'Ts'.

²⁸This text and the following are in JW's hand and fall between 1757–61, but the date is impossible to determine without clues from the Journal or other sources. Only seven miles from Bristol, JW could have visited Wick at almost any time he was in that area. The text is one he chose for a late published sermon, appearing in the Arminian Magazine in 1790; see Works, 4:48–59.

²⁹JW's Journal says that he preached in 'a village in the New Forest, eight miles wide of Southampton'. The New Forest was an extended area of wetlands and woods W of Southampton, Hampshire. The text is listed in SR1 as 'New Forest' in the 'Ns'.

³⁰Orig., 'Shorhill'.

³¹JW had preached at Portsmouth in July, but none of the texts in SR1 for this year are so dated. Rather, they all appear under 'Oct. 1753'. Lacking Journal evidence, the July texts cannot be separated from those for Oct.

³²Following this text, JW entered another (John 17:3), which belongs to a later date; see Oct. 8, 1758.

³³Following this text, and crowded at the end of this line and the next, are three texts in JW's hand which belong to a later date. The only other visit he made to Portsmouth between 1757–61 was Oct. 5–9, 1758 (which see).

³⁴This text and the following may in fact belong to Oct. 25, 1752, although '1753' precedes them in SR1. JW was at Wick in 1752, but there is no entry for this visit in SR1, whereas Wick was entered twice in 1753. The Journal has no mention of a later visit, but Wick was near Bristol and within an easy day's journey.

³⁶There is a gap in SR1 between Nov. 25, 1753, and Mar. 26, 1754. JW had fallen ill on Oct. 20, 1753, but continued in his rounds of preaching and traveling as best he could. Chills, fever and coughing continued, however, and by the end of November his brother Charles (and others) feared for his life. Following doctor's orders not to stay in town a day longer, on Nov. 26, JW retired to the home of his friend, Ebenezer Blackwell, at Lewisham. Acknowledging that death could come at any time, JW wrote his epitaph, as he said, 'to prevent vile panegyric'. He remained at Lewisham throughout December, but by Jan. 3 he had arrived in Bristol to drink the waters at Hot Wells. Still not able to make his rounds and preach, on Jan. 6, 1754, he began writing his Explanatory Notes Upon the New Testament, a work he could not have undertaken had he been able to keep to his former strenuous schedule (and one he did not complete until late Sept. 1755). On Mar. 10, 1754, health improving, he left the Hot Wells and returned to Bristol. On Tuesday, Mar. 26, he preached for the first time 'after an intermission of four months' (Journal).

³⁷Sarah Ryan reported that in April 1754 she went to Spitalfields church and heard JW preach on the parable of the sower; Arminian Magazine 2 (1779): 301.

³⁸A building in the theater district just south of Sadler's Wells, near the London Spa. JW began using it in May 1752 as a preaching house, which use continued through 1754.

³⁹This is the first surviving record of JW preaching on this text, which was the basis for his published sermon 'Heaviness through Manifold Temptations', which was issued in 1760; see Works, 2:222–35.

⁴⁰This is the first of four texts, in JW's hand, written at the end of the lines of texts for Deptford in 1754, 1755, 1756, along with one more inserted to precede texts for Feb. 17, 1756. They all belong to dates after 1756. JW's known visits to Deptford (from the Journal) not covered in SR1 are Feb. 22, 1757, Feb. 13, 1759, Nov. 10, 1761, and Dec. 1 or 2, 1761, but to divide up the above texts among these dates would be irresponsible.

Listings for Deptford for 1748–51, 1753–56, and 1758 were entered under the 'Ds'. Those for 1752, 1757, 1759–60 appear under 'London'. Represented in both categories is 1756, with texts for Feb. 17 in the 'Ds' and those for Sept. under 'London'. No texts appear in either place for 1761.

⁴²Orig., 'Luke 16:32' (Luke 16 has only 31 vss). Later, the '3' was marked through (with a different pen) to read 'Luke 16:2'. One might read the corrected text as 'Luke 16:12', but up to this point in SR1 the evidence is overwhelmingly in favor of Luke 16:2.

⁴³Orig., 'Rom. 6:33' (Rom. 6 has only 23 vss). JW frequently preached from Rom. 6:23 (the text supplied here)—although Rom. 8:33 was also a favorite text.

⁴⁸Orig., 'Treshford' under the 'Ts'.

⁴⁹Orig., 'Mar 16:26' (Mark 16 has only 20 vss). Later, the '2' was marked through with a '1' to read Mark 16:16, a text JW began to use quite often from Apr. 1755.

⁵⁰Orig., preceding this text, 'Selfd' (meaning a sermon on self-denial?).

⁵¹JW's Journal notes that he 'retired' for a period of study, and writing at Bonner's Hall, starting Nov. 7, 1754 and (by evidence of SR1) staying through December. Bonner's Hall was the former palace of the bishop of London. JW was likely preaching to a congregation that gathered there (cf. Journal, Sept. 16, 1756). He would stay and/or preach at Bonner's Hall regularly for the next few years.

¹Orig., 'Mark 16:26', but Mark 16 has only 20 vss. Mark 16:16 was a frequently used text, especially during the years of SR1. Another favorite was Matt. 16:26, which may have been the basis for the inadvertent error.

²Orig., 'Bo'. The church of St. Mary-le-Bow church was in Cheapside.

³Orig., 'Treshford' under the 'Ts'.

⁴Referred to as 'Kingswood Junr' in 1753 SR1 (see Sept. 5). In the Journal that same year (Sept. 11), JW called it 'New Kingswood'. It is a village 1 mi SW of Wotton-under-Edge.

⁶Orig., 'Ashbourn'.

⁷This was a funeral sermon for the daughter of John Baddiley who had died on April 7. See Journal, April 8, for JW's account of her death. See also Baddiley's letter to JW, dated June 7, 1755, where Baddiley mentions this 'discourse' on Ecclesiastes; in Arminian Magazine 2 (1779): 319–21.

⁸*Journal* gives the date as April 14.

⁹This text and the three following are in JW's hand and belong to later dates. JW preached at Warrington on May 2, 1757, Mar. 24, 1760, and Apr. 4, 1761, although Warrington is not listed in SR1 for these times. However, these texts cannot be divided among these dates with any degree of confidence.

¹³This text is also in JW's hand, separated from the preceding by a vertical line, and belongs to a later time, possibly July 15, 1761.

¹⁴May 6–8, 1755 was the meeting of Conference in Leeds. While he does not record a text, CW reports that 'part of a sermon of my brother's I did hear, in which he said: "neither the Moravians, nor predestinarians preached or practised self-denial".' Letter to Lady Huntingdon, June 11, 1755 (Drew: Methodist Archives).

¹⁵Another unusual instance where JW's text covers more than one chapter. JW had used a variation of this text earlier at Bristol (see Mar. 1, 1753, and note).

¹⁷Orig. dated 'May 26', but in the Journal JW says, 'I preached in the High Street (it being Trinity Sunday)'—i.e. May 25.

¹⁸Orig. omits the place. Since Manchester is listed on the line above, the reader assumes that this entry for May 26 also belongs to Manchester. However, JW was nowhere near Manchester on this date. Indeed, during all the years of SR1, he was never in the Manchester area during the month of May. He did preach at Morpeth on May 26.

¹⁹Orig. date for this and the following text was June 3. The Journal gives June 8. JW preached in a room in the Pump Yard, Newgate, which he described as an 'oven'. It held 120 persons and was registered for public worship; cf. John Lyth, Glimpses of Early Methodism in York (York: William Sessions, 1885), 80–81.

²⁰Following this text is another (Gen. 6:5) in JW's hand which most probably belongs to the group immediately below it for JW's visit to York, July 11, 1757 (which see).

²¹Orig. in JW's hand and belongs to a later time impossible to determine. JW preached at Barley Hall on July 27, 1757, and again on July 27, 1761, but with no clues from the Journal or other sources this text cannot be assigned to either year with confidence.

08-26-55	Luxulyan	1 Pet. 2:1, etc.	SR1

²⁶Orig. listed under Aug. 10.

²⁷Both Heb. 3:15 and Heb. 3:14 were entered for Salisbury, probably an unintentional 'duplication' of the text. Another duplicated text occurs for Shaftesbury on Aug. 20, below (which see).

³¹Orig., 'St. Ausol'.

³²Orig. dated Aug. 30.

³⁴Orig. lists all four of the texts for Helston under Sept. 3, but see Journal for JW's preaching dates at Helston in 1755.

³⁵Orig., 'Breag'.

³⁶This text, in JW's hand, belongs to a later time impossible to determine. So far as the Journal records, JW did not preach again at Breage between 1757–61.

³⁷Orig., 'Newlin'.

³⁸Following this text are two more in JW's hand which belong to Sept. 11–12, 1757 (which see). JW also preached at Newlyn on Sept. 19, 1760, but texts for this visit are given in SR1 under that year as those for 1757 are not.

³⁹Orig. 'Bray' and dated 'Oct.'; however, JW's only visit in 1755 was on Sept. 14.

⁴⁰Orig. dated Aug. 31.

⁴¹This text and the following are in JW's hand and belong to a later time impossible to determine. During the remaining years of SR1, JW preached at St. Agnes only in 1757 and 1760, but entries for these years appear in SR1.

⁴²Surrounding these two texts for Port Isaac are three others (2 Cor. 5:7; Luke 16:9; Rom. 8:13) in JW's hand which most probably belong to his later visit, Aug. 31, 1757 (which see). JW's last visit during the years of SR1 was Sept. 7, 1760, for which he recorded texts in SR1.

⁴³Orig. dated Sept. 19. JW arrived at North Molton on the evening of the 19th but, 'being wet and tired and the people not having notice', he did not preach until the following morning. Another text in JW's hand follows, but it belongs to Oct. 4, 1757.

⁴⁴Orig., 'Collumpton'.

⁴⁵The more specific date for this visit to Crowan is probably around Sept. 13 when JW was in the vicinity of Camborne—which, incidentally, does not appear in SR1 in 1755. Following this text is another in JW's hand (Hos. 14:4) which most probably belongs to Sept. 6, 1757 (which see), when JW was in the area.

⁴⁶This text and the two following were dated 'Sept 30', then the '30' was marked through.

⁴⁷This text and the five following are dated only 'Sept.' in SR1. Three of them (2 Tim. 3:4; 1 Cor. 10:12; Heb. 3:15) appear in two different listings for Bristol in 1755 and may possibly be duplicates. On the other hand, JW frequently used the same texts at different locations within a city and that could well be the case here.

⁵⁰See JW's later published sermon on this text, published in the Arminian Magazine in 1786, titled 'On Divine Providence'; see Works, 2:534–50.

⁵¹This text and the two following are undated in orig. JW was in Bristol until about the middle of the month.

⁵²Zoar Chapel was built for a Presbyterian congregation in 1687/88; the congregation moved away in 1740. It was then rented to finance Gravel-Lane Charity School. The Methodists rented it as a preaching house for about six years. In SR1 it is listed under the 'Zs'. See Martin, Wesley's Chapels, 50–51.

⁵³This may, in fact, be the text for Sunday, Dec. 14 (which see). In the Journal for that day, JW said he 'explained those comfortable words in the First Lesson' and quotes Isa. 26:20.

³This text and the two that follow are listed under the 'Ws', not under London.

⁴Of these four texts at Deptford, three are in JW's hand (1 Pet. 2:17; Heb. 3:14; and Phil. 4:7) and belong to a later time impossible to determine. See above, May 15, 1754, Deptford, Gen. 6:5, and note.

⁶This is one of three texts in JW's hand entered on lines following the 1756 entries for Kingswood. They may belong to JW's visits in Oct. 1757 (entries for 1758-1761 are listed in SR1), but the Journal supplies no such evidence. See notes below, Rev. 3:25 (under Aug. 29), and Ps. 84:11 (under Sept. 5).

⁷Following this text is another (John 3:7) in JW's hand which belongs to a later date, most probably to Nov. 3, 1757 (which see). JW preached at Pill again Oct. 9, 1760 and in 1761 (no month or day specified), but texts for these visits are listed in SR1.

⁹*Journal* quotes Luke 21:36 as his text.

¹⁵This text in JW's hand belongs to a later date impossible to determine. Ballingrane is mentioned in the Journal, June 23, 1758, and this text may perhaps have been used then, although JW does not indicate that he preached at that time. Texts for his last visit, July 9, 1760 (which see), seem to have been tucked among the 1752 texts.

¹⁶Following this text are two others in JW's hand which belong to a later date. JW's only other visit to Ennis during the remaining years of SR1 was on June 29–30, 1758 (which see).

¹⁷This text and the following are in JW's hand and belong to a later date impossible to determine with confidence. JW preached at Hollymount again June 2, 1758, and May 28, 1760. Perhaps these texts could be divided between these dates. Or, instead, both may belong to the 1758 visit or that of 1760. 'Holy Mount' in orig.

¹⁹Orig., 'Aghrim'.

²⁰Orig., 'Ahaskra'. Following this text for Ahascragh are two more in JW's hand which belong to later dates. JW's only other visits to Ahascragh during the years of SR1 were on June 9, 1758, and June 6, 1760 (which see).

²¹This text and the six following are all dated July 8. They represent, however, JW's preaching at Athlone from Thursday night, July 8 through Monday morning, July 12 (see Journal).

²²Orig., 'Abidarrig'. Following this text is another in JW's hand which belongs to a later time, probably to late May, 1758, when JW was in the area. See note above, Aug. 4, 1752, Abbeyderg, Gal. 3:22.

²⁴Orig., 'Rosmide'.

²⁵This text and the two which follow are in JW's hand and probably belong to a later date (impossible to determine). Otherwise, this is a rare example of an entry in JW's hand prior to 1757. JW preached at Rosmead in 1758 and 1760, but entries were made in SR1 for each of these years.

²⁶The Belfast texts are all dated July 23 in SR1. The Journal shows, however, that JW preached on 1 Cor. 1:24 on Saturday, July 24 and was again in Belfast on July 26. This text may belong to that date.

²⁷This text in JW's hand belongs to a later year. JW preached at Belfast again on May 14, 1758, and May 5, 1760, but without evidence from the Journal or other sources it cannot be assigned with confidence to either year.

²⁸Dated Sunday, July 25 in Journal—and the text which follows was used most likely on Monday morning, the 26th, before JW's departure. All the texts for this visit to Carrickfergus, however, appear under July 24 in SR1.

²⁹Crowded between the date and this text are two more in JW's hand (1 Pet. 1:4 and Matt. 16:23) which belong to a later time, most probably to his two-day visit Apr. 27–28, 1758 (which see).

³⁰Following this text are two more in JW's hand which belong to a later time. JW preached at Manchester every year during the remaining years of SR1 and texts for each visit are recorded therein with the exception of Mar. 16–17, 1758 (which see).

³¹Following this text for Wednesbury are six more in JW's hand which belong to a later time, most probably to Mar. 4–7, 1760 (which see). JW also preached at Wednesbury in 1757 and 1761, but texts for these visits were recorded in SR1.

³⁶Orig. dated only 'Sept'.

³⁷A meeting house built by the Quakers during the reign of Charles II, on Bull and Mouth Street (a cross-street leading from St. Martin's-le-Grand to Butcher Hall Lane). The Quakers occupied the house until 1760, when the Sandemanians took it over. JW was invited to preach there beginning in September 1756. His last sermon there was on Dec. 21, 1763 (see Journal entry).

³⁸This text may be duplicated under entries dated only 'Sept' (which see).

³⁹This text and the one following were entered under the 'Ws', dated Sept. 13. Duplicate entries seem to have been made under 'London' dated only 'Sept' (which see).

⁴⁰This text from the Journal is possibly a duplicate of the one entered under this same date in SR1 for the Foundry (which see).

¹Entries for Bull and Mouth, Jan. 1757, are in two lists on separate pages. This text and the two that follow comprise the second set. It should be noted that these last two texts (John 11:49 and Titus 2, ult.) were used again at Bull and Mouth in November (see undated Nov. entries below), thus apparently thwarting one of the purposes of the Sermon Register which was to avoid text repetitions in any place.

³This text and the following are in JW's hand and may belong to a later date impossible to determine with no clues from the Journal. Although JW visited Canterbury each of the remaining years of SR1, these entries under 1757 are the only ones recorded.

⁴Orig., 'Beconsfd'.

⁵Orig. 'May 1757', but JW was in the north in May. The date here is from Journal, where JW says he 'preached at noon on the parable of the Sower'.

⁶This is the text on which JW based his published sermon 'Wandering Thoughts', issued in 1762; see Works, 2:125–37.

⁸This text for Dudley, in JW's hand, may belong to this visit (since JW began making the entries about this time) or to one of his later visits on Mar. 7, 1760, or Mar. 17, 1761.

⁹This text and the three following are also listed under May in SR1; however, JW's only visit to Wednesbury in 1757 was April 17–18 (Journal).

¹⁰1 Cor. 6:19 was first entered in SR1, then (with a different pen) the '1' was struck through to read 1 Cor. 6:9. Although 1 Cor. 6:19 was a frequently used text, JW on occasion also preached from 1 Cor. 6:9.

¹¹Orig. dated only 'April', but this visit to Alpraham most probably occurred on Apr. 19 or 20 when JW was traveling from Nantwich to Chester. The Journal provides no clue to the exact date.

¹²Orig., 'Warton', dated only 'May'. Although there are four Wartons in England (two in Lancashire, one each in Warwickshire and Northumberland), none seems to be a possibility for JW in May 1757. He did preach at Warrington on May 2, and the most likely explanation is that JW's amanuensis recorded 'Warrington' phonetically: 'Warton'.

¹³This text for Bolton, and the six following, bear no dates in SR1 except the month of May. We know from JW's itinerary that he could have been in Bolton only early in the month.

¹⁴Orig., 'Huddsfield'. Following this text for Huddersfield is another (Eph. 2:8), in JW's hand, which most probably belongs to his last visit to Huddersfield during the years of SR1 on July 23, 1759 (which see).

¹⁶This text and the following, in JW's hand, may perhaps belong to a later time, say, in 1759 or 1761, when JW was in the Wakefield area again, but no Journal entries in these years mention Wakefield by name or supply clues as to his preaching.

¹⁷Following this text, two more were entered in JW's hand which most probably belong to July 23–24, 1759 (which see). JW also preached at Halifax on July 15, 1761, but no text for this visit was listed in SR1.

¹⁸Another text (1 Pet. 1:9) in JW's hand follows this which most probably belongs to his visit to Hepstonstall, July 21, 1759 (which see).

¹⁹Following this text, JW drew a sharp vertical line and then entered '1 Jo 3:1', which most probably belongs to July 17, 1761, when he preached once more at Ewood Hall (which see).

²¹Orig., 'Kighley'.

²²This text was separated from the foregoing by a mark similar to a closed square bracket and may in fact belong to JW's visit in July, 1761 (see Journal). However, JW did preach twice at Bingley in 1757. No other listing for Bingley appears in SR1 for 1761.

²³For this and the following texts at Whitehaven only the month of May is supplied in SR1. JW's visit extended from May 24–26 and perhaps to the 28th (his letter to Ebenezer Blackwell is dated from Whitehaven on May 28).

²⁴This text (and perhaps the previous one), in JW's hand, may in fact belong to his visit, Apr. 22, 1761. No other entries for Branthwaite appear in SR1.

²⁵*Journal* gives the date for this visit to Wigton, which in SR1 is dated only 'May 1757'. JW preached here again on May 21, 1759, and Apr. 27, 1761, and it may be that the second and third texts in this set actually belong to those later dates since no other listing for Wigton appears in SR1. These texts are in JW's hand (as the first is not) and from the pen and ink strokes seem to have been entered at the same time and therefore linked together in time, but from evidence at hand it cannot be said whether they belong to 1759 or to 1761—or even here in 1757.

²⁷This text in JW's hand may belong to this year, or it may belong to a later visit unrecorded in Journal. JW could have preached at Rothwell anytime he was in the vicinity of Leeds.

²⁸Listed under April in SR1, but this visit was most probably on May 16 or 17. Following a visit to Birstall on Sunday, May 15, JW says, 'On Monday and Tuesday I preached in the neighbouring towns' (Journal).

³⁰'Orig.', 'Woller'.

³¹In Journal, JW says that on this occasion he 'proclaimed the love of Christ to sinners'. Another text (1 Cor. 1:24), in JW's hand, follows this and belongs to June 18, 1759 (which see).

³²Orig., 'Placey'.

³³In SR1 this and the following 17 texts for Newcastle are dated June only. JW preached in the Newcastle vicinity from June 13 until his departure July 4.

³⁴William Hunter describes his response to hearing JW preach this sermon in a letter to JW, Aug. 29, 1779, Arminian Magazine 2 (1779): 595.

³⁵JW is continuing in SR1 a practice begun in the diary of placing a cross (†) beside a text to indicate the service was 'convincing' or attended by a special blessing (see above, July 22, 1739, and note). In SR1, this cross is placed before the text

³⁷Most likely North Shields.

³⁸Following this text, two more (Mark 1:15 and 1 Thess. 5:16) had been entered and then deleted. Although JW preached again at Chester-le-Street on June 13–14, 1759, no texts are listed in SR1.

³⁹Orig. dated the following day, June 24. In the Journal JW gives the date as the 23rd and refers to it as 'South Biddick'.

⁴⁰JW preached at Swalwell again both in 1759 and 1761, but no other texts are listed in SR1 except the three in this set—which may perhaps represent his preaching not only for 1757 but for 1759 and 1761 as well.

⁴¹This text and the four that follow may belong instead to JW's visit to Sheep Hill, June 15, 1759. No other texts for that year are given in SR1.

⁴²This text is separated from the previous one by a sharp vertical line and probably belongs either to 1759 or 1761, but the Journal offers no help on the date. Orig., 'Horseley'.

⁴⁴Two more texts follow this one which probably represent JW's preaching at Durham during the remaining years of SR1 since Durham is not listed again. See below, July 2, 1759 (1 Cor. 1:24), and June 15, 1761 (Job 22:21).

⁴⁵At first glance, the six entries for Yarm in SR1 appear to be under Aug. 1748; however, following the first entry JW wrote '1757, Jer. 8:22'. The four remaining texts can be assigned, on Journal evidence, to July 6–7, 1759, and June 19–20, 1761.

⁴⁶This text may perhaps belong to JW's last visit to Osmotherley, June 21, 1761.

⁴⁷*Journal* gives date as July 10. While JW preached again at Robin Hood's Bay both in 1759 and 1761, no other texts save the seven in this series appear in SR1.

⁴⁸*Journal* gives the date of July 14.

⁴⁹This text in JW's hand was entered at the end of a group of texts for York, June 8, 1755, but it actually belongs to this later visit in July, 1757.

⁵⁰Orig., '1757 1 Co 13:13', tucked at the end of the 1751 entries for Acomb. JW's only visit to Acomb in 1757 was on July 12, when he says he preached to 'a calm and solid congregation' (Journal).

⁵¹This text, in JW's hand, was entered on the line with the 1752 texts for Poppleton, separated from them by a vertical line after which he wrote '1757'.

⁵²As with Poppleton, above, JW drew another vertical line after a 1752 text for Pocklington and then wrote '1757'. Four texts were then entered (two above two), of which this is the first. All appear at first glance to belong to 1757. Such is not the case, however. In Journal JW quotes this text (John 7:37) as his text for July 15, 1757. The last three texts in this set can be assigned to JW's later visits, July 13, 1759, and July 2–3, 1761 (which see). It should be noted that while JW had also preached at Pocklington, May 13 and May 19, 1753, no texts for these visits appear in SR1 (which at that period of time would have been entered by JW's amanuensis).

⁵⁴This text was entered among 1752 texts but preceded by '1757'.

⁵⁵JW also preached at Westwoodside, a village a mile west of Haxey, on this date but no reference appears in SR1. He preached there again, Aug. 2, 1761, with a text recorded (which see).

⁵⁶This text and the following may in fact belong to JW's later visit on Aug. 2–3, 1761.

⁵⁸Following this visit to Rotherham, JW preached at Barley Hall. See note at June 14, 1755 (Hos. 11:8).

⁵⁹Orig., 'Woodseats'. JW preached here again, July 29, 1761. The text for this later visit was entered following the one given here, separated from it by a vertical line. In the 1761 list of places beginning with 'W' JW had also entered 'Woodseats', but no text follows.

⁶⁰*Journal* gives date as July 31.

⁶¹Although SR1 seems to be rather straightforward that this text and the two following belong to 1757, and JW gives them the specific date of 'Aug. 1', the Journal indicates that JW had returned to London by that date. JW also preached at Bedford in 1758 on two different occasions and once in 1759, but no texts for these years appear in SR1—unless JW tucked them among other entries.

⁶²Orig., 'Middlesey'.

⁶³Orig., 'Lanceston'. At first glance it would appear that these texts for Launceston belong to 1758. However, JW dated them 'Aug. 29', and the only year during the remaining years of SR1 when he was at Launceston in August was 1757. See also, below, Oct. 1, for another set of texts belonging to his return visit to Launceston later in 1757.

⁶⁴Following these two texts for Camelford, two others were entered which most probably belong to JW's visit Sept. 5–6, 1760 (which see).

⁶⁵This and the two texts following for Port Isaac, in JW's hand, were entered in SR1 surrounding texts for Sept. 15, 1755, but they most probably belong here. Texts for JW's later visit, Sept. 7, 1760, are listed in SR1.

⁶⁶This text, in JW's hand, was entered following texts for 1753, but it belongs to a later time. The most probable date is this, Aug. 31, 1757. JW preached at Trewalder again, Sept. 6–7, 1760, but there are entries for these occasions in SR1.

⁶⁷Orig., 'Illuggan'. Two or more of these texts for Illogan probably belong to Sept. 19–20, 1760—pen and ink strokes suggest that the last three were written at a later time than the first one. Another problem is '1758' entered below this date, 'Sep. 5, 1757'. JW was not in Cornwall in 1758 or 1759, his next visit occurring in Sept. 1760.

⁶⁸This text in JW's hand, follows one for 1755, but it most probably belongs here (Sept. 6, 1757), when JW was in the area again preaching at Camborne, three miles to the north. JW returned to Cornwall in 1760 but there is no evidence that he preached at either Crowan or Camborne that year (see following note).

⁷⁰Orig., 'Ligeon'.

⁷¹Orig., 'Morva', as throughout SR1. This text, in JW's hand, was written on a line following a text for Morvah, July 29, 1753, but belongs to a later date. JW's only other visit to Morvah during the years of SR1 was on this date, Sept. 11, 1757.

⁷²Orig., 'Newlin'. This text and the following in JW's hand follow two texts for 1755, but they belong here instead. JW also preached at Newlyn on Sept. 19, 1760, but texts for this visit are given in SR1 under that year, as these for 1757 are not.

⁷³St. John's was a small village, half a mile SE of Helston, along the Cober River. A society was formed and met in Mrs. Warren's house there. Not long after JW's first visit a chapel was built. When the chapel in Helston was built, the one at St. John's was sold for a warehouse.

⁷⁶Orig., 'Bezore'. The two texts, in JW's hand, were entered on a line following a text for Aug. 7, 1753, but they belong instead to these dates in 1757.

⁷⁷Orig., 'Grampond'.

⁷⁸Orig., 'Mevagizzy', where this text and the following are dated Sept. 23, with no year indicated. At a later time JW entered texts for 1760 above them giving the appearance that these two texts also belong to 1760. However, JW was in Penryn, not Mevagissey, on these dates in 1760. The Journal gives the date of JW's visit to Mevagissey as Sept. 22–24, 1757.

⁷⁹Orig., 'St. Austle'. Although these texts for St. Austell are dated Sept. 22 in SR1, the Journal shows that JW did not arrive at St. Austell until Sept. 24 (following his visit to Mevagissey) and that he departed Sept. 26.

⁸⁰A village 4 mi W of St. Austell, where JW says he preached 'near a lone house on the side of a barren mountain' (J 4, 239).

⁸¹Orig., 'Luxilian', dated simply 'Sep.' Date is from Journal.

⁸²Orig., 'Lescard'. JW preached here again Sept. 26, 1760, but no texts are entered in SR1 for this later visit.

⁸³Some of these nine texts for Plymouth Dock (possibly as many as six) belong to JW's later visit, Sept. 27–28, 1760, but with no clue from the Journal the dividing point cannot be determined.

⁸⁵Orig., 'Mary Week' under the 'Ms'.

⁸⁶This text in JW's hand follows one for Sept. 19, 1755, but it belongs to this date instead, JW's only other recorded visit to North Molton during the remaining years of SR1.

⁸⁷JW was again in Tiverton Sept. 2, and Oct. 1, 1760, but no texts for these visits appear in SR1.

⁸⁸Orig., 'Collumpton'. The two texts, in JW's hand, were entered after a text for 1755. The only other mention in the Journal of his preaching at Cullompton is Sept. 30, 1760, but texts for this visit are given in SR1. JW was at Tiverton, near Cullompton on Oct. 5–7, 1757, when he says, 'On the three following days I saw as many of the societies as I could'.

⁸⁹Orig., 'Halburton'. Another text (1 John 5:19) follows the text here. The ink and pen strokes indicate it belongs to a later time, most probably to Oct. 1, 1760 (which see).

⁹⁰These texts are in JW's hand and follow a text for 1753. They probably represent JW's preaching at Paulton during the last five years of SR1. However, the only specific date given in the Journal is this, Oct. 17, 1757.

⁹¹These texts for Bradford-on-Avon are dated 'Oct. 19' and are on a page headed '1757'. Immediately above these texts is an entry for Bosulow dated Sept. 1760, giving the appearance that the Bradford texts also belong to 1760. However, JW was in Bristol on Oct 19, 1760. The Journal confirms that he was at Bradford-on-Avon on this date in 1757.

⁹⁵This text and the two that follow are in JW's hand, inserted after Kingswood texts for Oct. 1751. Having only enough space on the Kingswood line for the first text, he dropped down on the next line to enter the second and third texts—a line which reads 'May...Kighley [i.e. Keighley] Heb. 4:14!'. But before entering the last two texts, JW drew a mark (something like an open square bracket with the lower horizontal mark missing) to separate these entries from those for Keighley. The most likely date for these three texts in question is Oct. 1757. Otherwise, Kingswood does not appear among SR1 entries for 1757, although JW was there in October of that year.

⁹⁸This was JW's first visit to Lakenheath and from the Journal account it appears that he preached no more than two or three times. Some of the texts given here may belong to later visits otherwise unaccounted for in SR1—i.e., Nov. 6–7, 1758, and Feb. 2, 1761. The entry here is dated 'Nov. 22' when JW was still at Norwich, but such mistakes are not unprecedented in SR1 or in JW's diaries.

²This text and the following, in JW's hand, were entered with texts for Aug. 19, 1756, but the probability is that they belong here instead. JW preached at Manchester every year during the remaining years of SR1 and texts for all these visits are listed with the exception of this one in 1758.

⁵Immediately preceding this text, the initials 'SD' are written in capital letters. They may stand for the place in Dublin (St. David's, St. Daniel's, e.g.) where JW preached, or he may have preached once more on self-denial, as he had done on April 2 (see Journal). His text for his published sermon with this title was Luke 9:23 (Works, 2:236–50). For another sermon on self-denial, see below, Mar. 6, 1759, at Norwich.

⁶This text in JW's hand follows texts listed for May 4, 1756. It most probably belongs here, however, as do the three texts below which were also entered among the 1756 texts. JW preached at Portarlington in both 1758 and 1760. While texts for 1760 appear in SR1, none is specifically dated 1758.

⁷Orig., 'Mt Melick'.

⁸JW preached again at Tullamore on June 14 of this year and it is possible that this text, the last text in this set, belongs to that date.

⁹Orig., 'Coolylough'.

¹⁰Orig. dated May 6; Journal gives date as May 5.

¹¹Orig., 'Rosmide'.

¹⁴JW preached again at Comber, May 4, 1760, but no texts for this visit appear in SR1.

¹⁵Orig., 'Newtown'.

¹⁶JW preached again at Larne May 7, 1760, but no texts appear in SR1 for this later visit.

¹⁷Orig. dated 'May 26', but JW was already at Drumsna by this time. Journal gives May 24 as the date for this visit to Granard.

¹⁹Orig., 'Cleghill'.

²⁰Orig., 'Dummasnah' ('Drummersnave' in the Journal which gives May 25–26 as the dates for the visit. JW lodged 'at the only gentleman's house in town'.

²¹This text, in JW's hand, followed two entries in 1756, but it most probably belongs to this year, in May or June while he was in the area (see above, Aug. 4, 1752, Abbeyderg, Gal. 3:22 and note).

²²Orig., 'Minulla', and dated June 3. A 1760 entry written above this one seems to imply that this text also belongs to that year. However, JW's only visit to Manulla was June 3, 1758 (Journal).

²³Orig., 'Ahaskra'. This text and one other in JW's hand were entered following a text for Ahascragh for July 8, 1756, but belong to a later date. JW's only other visits to Ahascragh during the remaining years of SR1 were this (June 9, 1758) and June 6, 1760 (which see).

²⁴Orig., 'Coolylough'. JW preached at Coolalough June 22–23, 1760, but no texts for this later visit appear in SR1.

²⁶Orig., 'Court Mats'. In dating this entry JW first wrote 'July 22' and then attempted to delete the 'ly' to read 'Ju[ne] 22'. The only visit JW made to Courtmatrix in 1758 was June 23. On July 22 he was at Cork.

²⁷Another confusing entry in SR1. As with Courtmatrix above, JW first wrote 'July 29' and then marked through 'ly' to read 'Ju[ne]'.²⁹ Despite the specific date, it appears that the five texts listed here belong to both 1758 and 1760, the only years in the remaining SR1 when JW was in Ireland. In other words, in 1760 JW crowded in the later entries following the earlier ones without indicating the dividing point. JW's visit to Clare on June 29, 1758, was brief with time for only one sermon (the one shown here). His visit beginning July 11, 1760 would have permitted more preaching opportunities.

²⁸As with Courtmatrix and Clare, above, these entries for Ennis, are also dated 'July 29'. However, here the month was not altered to read 'Ju[ne]', an obvious oversight, since JW was in Cork in July and could not have been at Ennis at the same time. JW's visit to Ennis also included June 30.

²⁹Although these entries for Limerick are dated July 1 in SR1, it would appear from the Journal that JW's visit was from July 2–6. On Sunday, July 2, he reported that he preached both morning and evening 'in the island near Limerick ... standing on the side of a large hollow. ... The ground on the side of it sloped upward so that the people sat on the grass, row above row. Such an amphitheatre I never saw before'.

³⁰*Journal* gives date as July 9

³¹Following this text JW had written 'Is. 1:3' and then deleted it by drawing a line through it. He re-entered it for July 17 (which see).

³²These texts for Kinsale all appear under date of July 13, 1758, although one or more may in fact belong to JW's visit there, Aug. 7–8, 1760. He preached then several times but no other texts appear in SR1.

³³This text in JW's hand follows a text (John 17:3) listed in 1752, but it belongs to a later time and most likely to this date since it is the only time during the remaining years of SR1 that JW landed or embarked from Cork.

³⁵This text may be a duplicate entry of one given for Oct. 7, 1761 (which see). That is, when JW was making his 1761 entries, he may have at first entered this text here at the end of the 1758 texts. Then, without deleting it, he made a separate entry for Shepton Mallet on another page listing this one text only. If this is not a duplicate, it is a rare repetition of a text at a place, the prevention of which was one of the purposes of the Sermon Register. JW also preached at Shepton Mallet in 1760, but no separate texts for this visit were listed in SR1.

³⁸This text and the two following at first glance appear to belong to 1760 since '1760' was written immediately preceding 'Bath'. However, they are on a page originally designated for 1758 texts and belong to JW's visit this year. The '1760' refers to three more texts which follow these (see below, Nov. 3, 1760).

³⁹This text may belong to JW's later visit, Dec. 26, 1758. He also preached here again on Jan. 4, 1760, but no texts for this date were listed in SR1.

⁴⁰Acts 4 has only 37 vss. Was this an error for Acts 2:42, a text JW used occasionally?

⁴¹JW would be preaching in the Methodist house opened in Sept. 1757. See Martin, Wesley's Chapels, 55–56.

⁴³Orig., 'Edmondsbury' under the 'Es', not under the 'Bs' as in 1755. Four texts are entered which at first glance appear to belong to 1758. However, the last two most probably belong to JW's visit, Jan. 16–17, 1761 (which see). The ink and pen strokes are different, and no other entries are given in SR1 for the 1761 visit.

¹Orig., '1 Ep. Peter c. 3 & 4th to v. 7'.

²Orig., 'Whitchurch'. Seven texts were entered for Whitchurch, all under 'Jan. 12'. Two of the texts, however (the second and third in the series—Isa. 35:8 and Dan. 9:7), were underlined indicating deletion. JW had inadvertently entered them on the wrong line. They belonged instead on the line above; i.e. to Wandsworth, Feb. 14 (which see). The entries for Whitchurch probably represent JW's preaching not only on this date but also on Sept. 15, 1759, and Nov. 7, 1760. (While JW did preach at Whitchurch, Shropshire, on occasion, none of these visits occurred during the years of SR1.)

³Orig. dated Jan. 15 (entries being made after JW had returned to London). At first glance the entries appear to belong to 1760; however, JW's only January visit to Basingstoke was in 1759.

⁴Orig., '1 Pet. 4:8–c 5, ad fin'.

⁵This text and the two that follow are listed among the London texts, not in the 'Ds' as is the usual practice (see above, May 15, 1754, and note).

⁶Orig., 'Jo 6:17', with the '1' then changed to a semblance of a figure that could be read as a '2' or a '3'. JW did not preach from John 6:27 until near the end of his life and then only five times in all. He preached on John 6:37 at least twenty-five times during the years of SR1, and it is the text shown here.

⁸JW preached on this text several times in the following years; see his sermon on the text, 'On the Fall of Man', published in the Arminian Magazine in 1782; see Works, 2:400–12.

¹⁰During this time, Lady Huntingdon had arranged intercession meetings in her home at Chelsea. John, his brother Charles, and Thomas Maxfield had walked there for breakfast on the morning of the 27th. Later, they were joined by George Whitefield, Martin Madan, William Romaine, Thomas Jones of Southwark, George Downing and Henry Venn, along with other 'persons of quality'. Although Whitefield was to have administered the sacrament, he insisted that JW do so instead. Afterward, Lady Huntingdon requested that JW preach, which he did on 1 Cor. 13:13.

¹¹On Sunday afternoon, Mar. 4, JW preached on St. John's Green in Colchester (Journal). Which of these five texts was used on that occasion cannot be determined since the order in which they were entered is questionable. Also, although JW visited Colchester on three different occasions in 1759 (Mar. 3–4, Mar. 18–22, and Sept. 10), the texts here are the only ones listed in SR1 for that year. JW returned to Colchester on Jan. 5, 1760, but did not record texts in SR1.

¹²JW was in the Norwich area until Apr. 1. This long series of texts under date of Mar. 6 actually represent JW's preaching during the entire month of March.

¹⁴Orig., 'Forncet'.

¹⁵*Journal* gives date as Apr. 4. This text and the foregoing were duplicated in SR1 on a succeeding page and may indeed be the only texts JW used at Boston in 1759. He spent a two days there, Aug. 12–13, 1761, preaching more than once, although only one text (Matt. 16:26) was listed in SR1. The last two texts for Boston, above, may in fact belong to the 1761 visit.

¹⁶Orig., 'Marum'.

¹⁷This text may in fact belong to Aug. 11, 1761, although JW gave no such indication in SR1.

¹⁸Following this text, JW drew a vertical line and entered six more texts which almost certainly belong to his later visit to Grimsby, Aug. 8–10, 1761 (which see).

¹⁹*Journal* gives date as Apr. 18.

²⁰Another text (Mark 1:15) follows this, but it almost certainly belongs to JW's return visit to Tadcaster on July 17 (which see).

²¹*Journal*: 'At half-hour past ten we reached Stainland chapel, near Elland. ... Mr. [William] Grimshaw read prayers, and I preached on part of the Second Lesson.' The calendar lists Acts 18; SR1 gives the specific text JW used this day as Acts 18:17.

²²Orig., 'Maxfield'. The two texts here are bracketed with two texts for Mold. This year, 1759, is the only year during SR1 that JW visited both places at about the same time. JW preached here again, Mar. 22, 1761, but no texts for this later visit were entered in SR1.

²³JW based his later published sermon 'The Imperfection of Human Knowledge', published in the Arminian Magazine in 1784, on this text; see Works, 2:567–86.

²⁴The date is more likely somewhere around Apr. 21, when JW was nearby, rather than the Apr. 26 when he had returned to Manchester.

²⁵JW had entered this text following one for Stockport in 1752 (see undated entries under March 1752, and note). Thinking better of it, and without erasing, he turned the page and dropping down below other entries for the 'Ss' in 1759, he wrote, 'Apr 29 Stockport Matt. 16:26', thus duplicating the earlier entry.

²⁶Orig., 'Altringham'. This is the only text listed in SR1 for Altrincham. Entered just below the Apr. 30 entry for Acton Bridge, it appears to belong to 1759 (it would have been on JW's route from Stockport to Liverpool). The only mention in the Journal of JW's preaching at Altrincham is Mar. 31, 1761, and this text may in fact belong to that date. It is not unprecedented that JW would insert a 1761 reference among those for 1759.

²⁷Orig., 'Mould'. These undated texts for Mold, Wales were written above and bracketed with texts for Macclesfield which were dated 'Apr. 24'. The only year in which JW visited both places was 1759. He did visit Mold, Wales again in both 1760 and 1761 but listed no texts for these visits in SR1.

²⁹Orig., 'Downham Green'. JW says this was a town, 'near Wigan, wickd to a proverb'. Downall Green is about 5 mi southwest of Wigan. JW preached here again on Apr. 13, 1761, but no text is given in SR1 for this visit unless the second text given here belongs to that date.

³⁴Although JW entered Rev. 3:20 in SR1, in Journal, he quotes Rev. 3:15. He probably preached from the whole passage, Rev. 3:15–20.

³⁵This text for Alnwick and the seven which follow were entered below texts for 1757 with no indication as to what month and year they actually belonged. While they cover both of JW's visits to Alnwick in 1759 (June 2–3 and June 16–17), they cannot be easily divided between those visits since JW's quotation of two of the texts in the Journal does not match the sequence in which the texts were entered in SR1. That is, JW quotes as his text for Sunday, June 3, the second text in the SR1 list (John 7:37), for what was at least the third time he had preached on this visit. When JW returned to Alnwick two weeks later, he quotes as his text for Sunday, June 17, the third text in the list (John 3:7), although we know he had preached on other texts in the interim.

³⁶JW had preached at Sheep Hill before riding to Widdrington (see above, June 26, 1757, for what may have been his texts). Following the text for Widdrington given here, another (John 6:37) was entered which most probably belongs to JW's later visit, May 18, 1761 (which see).

³⁷This text, in JW's hand, was entered on the same line with a 1757 text for Morpeth which had been written by his amanuensis. It does, in fact, belong to this visit in 1759; see Journal, where JW quotes 1 Cor. 1:23 as his text on this occasion. JW's last visit to Morpeth during the years of SR1 was May 18, 1761 (which see).

⁴⁰This text and the two following are separated from the foregoing texts by a vertical line, perhaps indicating that they were used on June 23–24 (see Journal).

⁴²The Journal makes clear that JW preached at both North Shields and South Shields. The Journal also indicates that he preached at both on May 25, 1761; at least two of the texts listed here may perhaps belong there (no other texts for Shields appear in SR1).

⁴³Orig., 'Winlinton'. The second text given here (1 Cor. 1:30) may belong to JW's visit, June 6, 1761.

⁴⁶As with Yarm, in SR1 JW entered all the texts for Hutton Rudby under July 7, 1759, although only this one text belongs to this date. The remaining three belong to July 20–22, 1761. See Journal.

⁴⁷The texts for Stokesley and Scarborough for both 1759 and 1761 are confused by JW's use of two right braces. The first apparently links Luke 13:23 and Luke 15:7 to both places in 1759. Later, another brace indicates that the two texts entered for 1761 (John 17:3 and Rom. 12:1) were each preached at both places. See below, June 22, 1761. For Scarborough, see below, July 10, 1759, and June 25, 1761.

⁴⁸Orig., 'Gisbro'. As with Yarm and Hutton Rudby above, JW entered all the texts for Guisborough under one date (July 8, 1759). For the remaining texts for Guisborough in SR1, see below June 22–23, 1761.

⁴⁹Orig. inserted in the 'Rs' between 1752 and 1753 texts, dated only '1759'. JW's only visit to Robin Hood's Bay in 1759 was July 8–10.

⁵³Although this text appears after one for JW's earlier visit on Apr. 20, it belongs here when JW once again preached at Tadcaster before going on to Otley.

⁵⁴JW says that he preached 'at the foot of a high mountain near Otley'. This ridge overlooking Otley is called 'Chevin'.

⁵⁵Orig., 'Kighley'.

⁵⁶Probably Broad Clough Hall; see Journal, where JW says, 'We rode to Broad Clough, ... a lone house in the midst of the Lancashire mountains'.

⁵⁷Orig., 'Gawksham'. Journal reads 'Gaulksholme'. Frank Baker identifies it as 'Gauxholme' in the parish of Rochdale, 1 mi SSW of Todmorden. JW had preached here before, on May 19, 1757, although in the Journal he quotes no text for his sermon and none is listed in SR1. This 1759 visit is listed in SR1 as well as in the Journal. There JW says, 'Mr. Grimshaw led us to Gawksham, another lone house on the side of an enormous mountain. The congregation stood and sat, row above row, in the sylvan theatre. ... The road from hence [ran] between huge steep mountains, clothed with wood to the top, and washed at the bottom by a clear winding stream.'

⁵⁸This text, entered following one for May 18, 1757, most likely belongs here instead. JW also preached at Heptonstall on July 14, 1761, but no other texts for Heptonstall appear in SR1.

⁵⁹This text, in JW's hand, follows an earlier entry for Huddersfield, on May 9, 1757, but it almost certainly belongs to this last visit during the years of SR1.

⁶⁰This text and the following, in JW's hand, were entered after a text for May 18, 1757, but they most probably belong to this later visit to Halifax. JW also preached here on July 15, 1761, but no text for this visit was listed in SR1.

⁶²This text in JW's hand was entered following a text for Aug. 1748. It belongs here, however, JW's only other visit to Gildersome during the years of SR1.

⁶³Orig., 'Gummersal'.

⁶⁴Another text (Heb. 2:1) follows this in SR1. However, it is separated from these 1759 texts for Birstall by a vertical line and most likely belongs to the 1761 entries listed below it (see July 17, 1761).

⁶⁵JW again preached at Gainsborough on Aug. 5, 1761, and this text may in fact belong to that date.

⁶⁸This is the text JW used later for his sermon 'Of Evil Angels', published without title in the Arminian Magazine in 1783; see Works, 3:16–29.

⁷¹Orig., 'Elmnall' and therefore entered under the 'Es'. The local pronunciation is 'Hemnal'. Even in 1904, a tree in the center of the village was still spoken of as 'Wesley's tree'; see WHS 4 (1904): 244.

⁷²Orig., 'Sunden'. Although JW had been at Sundon, Mar. 6–9, 1758, these four texts are the only ones which appear in SR1. The date of Sept. 13, 1759, for the first (2 Cor. 8:9) is determined by the Journal, and the second may have been used the following morning, Sept. 14, before JW returned to London. He was again in Sundon on Nov. 22 of this year, but the Journal gives no evidence that he preached. It could be conjectured that the last two texts belong to JW's visit, Jan. 9, 1761, but verification is lacking in the Journal.

⁷³This text and the two following were entered at the bottom of a page following a Sept. 5, 1756, text for Bristol. Most probably, however, they belong here. JW preached at Brentford in both 1760 and 1761, but texts for these years are given in SR1.

⁷⁴Orig. dated 'Sept' only, at first glance appearing to be in 1760. However, JW was in Cornwall in Sept., 1760. The only year he visited Basingstoke in Sept. was 1759. JW also preached at Basingstoke on Oct. 26, 1759, and Nov. 7, 1760, and the second and third texts listed above may in fact belong to those dates.

⁷⁵*Journal* gives date as Sept. 30.

⁷⁶*Journal* gives date as Oct. 15. JW had walked to Knowle, about two miles from Bristol, to see the French prisoners who were confined under miserable conditions and was so affected he preached to them. He paid another visit on Oct. 24, 1760, and found 'many of them almost naked again'. The Bristol Chronicle reported the day before that 'A charity sermon will be preached at the New Room in the Horsefair on Sunday evening [Oct. 26] at 8 o'clock, by the Rev. John Wesley for the use of the French prisoners at Knowle', but JW makes no mention of this service in the Journal or in SR1.

⁷⁷For JW's later visit to North Common, see Oct. 9, 1761, which was entered in SR1 under 'Bristol' as 'N. C.'.

⁷⁸There is some question about whether this text belongs to 1759 or to 1758 (see entries for Sept. 14–15, 1758), but the placement of the text and a small dividing line seem to associate it with the 1759 group.

⁸¹This text and the following appear with the London texts, not under the 'Ds' as is the usual practice (see above, May 15, 1754, and note).

The next two texts on the line belong to his visit, Nov. 26–27 (which see). The last (Joel 2:13) can be dated Feb. 4, 1761 from Journal.

⁵This text and the five which follow are in JW's hand, entered with texts for Aug. 22, 1756. However, they most probably belong here since texts for JW's only other visits to Wednesbury in 1757 and 1761 were recorded in SR1. On this visit in 1760 JW's stay stretched from the evening of Mar. 4 through the morning of Mar. 7.

⁷JW preached again at Little Leigh, Apr. 1, 1761, and the second text given here (2 Kgs. 5:12) may in fact belong to the later date.

⁸The Journal gives no clue to JW's having preached at Bolton in 1760. This reference in SR1 dated '1760 March' is the only mention we have of Bolton that year. The most likely date for these two texts would have been in the middle of the month when JW was in the Manchester area.

⁹Orig., 'Rosmide'.

¹⁰This and the following five texts were duplicated in SR1. They were first entered beneath the 1758 texts for Newry (preceded by '1760'). Then, without deleting the first list, JW entered them again on a following page, although not in the exact order, dating them 'April 23, 1760'. There is one discrepancy between the two groups. In the first list, Isa. 40:1 was entered which, when copied to the second list, was inadvertently written as Isa. 41:1, a text JW never used. Isa. 40:1 was a fairly frequent choice.

¹¹Orig., 'Moyra'. JW returned to Moira on May 12 and one or two of these texts probably belong to that date.

¹²Orig., 'Garvah'.

¹³Although Journal indicates that JW preached at Cootehill three times on this visit, only two texts were recorded in SR1.

¹⁴The texts for JW's two visits to Sligo in 1760 were entered on two separate pages of SR1. The texts for the first visit, May 15–18, 1760, are undated except for the year, and were entered below the texts for his earlier preaching there, May 27, 1758. Following these eight texts, five more are listed which were then duplicated on the following page in the list for JW's second visit, June 25, 1760 (which see).

¹⁵Orig., 'Aghrim', dated 'May 1760'. JW's visit extended from May 29–31. He returned to Aughrim on July 1, departing the next day. The texts recorded here cover his preaching for both May and July.

¹⁷*Journal* quotes 1 John 5:7.

¹⁸This text and one other in JW's hand were entered on a line with a text for Ahascragh for July 8, 1756, but they belong to a later time. JW's only other visits to Ahascragh during the remaining years of SR1 were June 9, 1758 (which see), and this.

¹⁹Orig., 'Abidarrig'. See Aug. 4, 1752, Abbeyderg, Gal. 3:22, and note.

²⁰Orig., 'Dummasnah' (in the Journal 'Drummersnave'). The last two of the five texts given here may in fact belong to JW's visit of June 24, 1760.

²¹This visit to Edenderry extended through June 17 and perhaps until the morning of June 18.

²²Orig., 'Mt Melick'.

²³Of the ten texts here listed for JW's second visit to Sligo in 1760 all but one (Phil. 4:7) have duplicates in the other Sligo entries for 1760, which were entered on two separate pages of SR1. On the first page, 2 Cor. 8:9; 1 Pet. 2:1; Mark 4:3; Mark 4:27; Matt. 11:28 first appear following texts for May 15, 1760. On the second page, Jer. 8:22; Isa. 35:8; John 17:3; and Micah 6:7 were entered following 'May 27', a date which relates to JW's visit on May 27, 1758, not to that of May 15, 1760. Without deleting this line, JW began another, dated only 'June', on which he recorded these ten texts, though not in the exact order in which they were first written.

²⁵*Journal* quotes Micah 6:8, and dates on June 29.

²⁶Orig., 'Moat'.

07-12-60	Ennis, Ireland	Job 22:21 ³⁰	SR1

²⁷This text was entered on the line with a text for May 10, 1749. At that time, however, JW preached only one time (Journal). He did not return to Eyrecourt until July 2, 1760, when again he preached only once.

²⁹This text and the three which follow for Clare were entered after a text for June 29, 1758, with no indication of a date. They most likely belong here when JW was in the area long enough to preach several times.

³⁰This text and the following are in JW's hand on a line of texts for Ennis, June 24, 1756, but they belong to a later time. JW had preached again at Ennis, June 29–30, 1758, but texts for that visit were listed in SR1. His only other visit during the remaining years of SR1 was this one, July 12–13, 1760, and it is here that these texts most probably belong.

³¹Date is from Journal. SR1 presents a puzzle in that this place appears to be bracketed under 'Sept. 1760' with Newlyn, Cornwall. JW was at Newlyn on Sept. 18, 1760, but his only visit to Newmarket was on July 16, 1760. Apparently, JW first wrote '1760 Newmarket Rom. 3:22'—not giving month and day for this visit. In Sept. when he was at Newlyn, making this entry above the other, he wrote 'Sept. Newlin Jer. 8:20. Rom. 12, 21'. The bracket encloses 'Sept. 1760' and points to 'Newlin', which simply means that it applies only to Newlyn, not to Newmarket on the next line.

³²Although JW was at Limerick three different times in July (4–8, 13–16, 17–20), in SR1 all his texts are entered under July 4. With no evidence as to the breakdown of the texts between the three periods, they were so listed here. In addition to these, however, we know from the Journal for July 20, that JW preached 'in the old camp' near Limerick where he 'exhorted them to "ask for the old paths, and walk therein", that they might "find rest to" their "souls"', almost certainly a separate use of Jer. 6:16 from that which appears fifth in the sequence of texts under July 4.

³³Orig., 'Camp', on a line following two texts for Clonmel. Journal gives the date and details: 'At six I preached at the camp near Cahir to a large and serious congregation of soldiers'.

³⁴From the Journal we know that JW preached three times this year at Clonmel, twice 'near the barracks' (July 22 and 25) and once at the 'barrack-gate' (Aug. 18), but only these two texts are given in SR1.

³⁷Orig., 'Middlesey'.

³⁸This text and the following for Camelford were entered in SR1 after two texts for Aug. 30–31, 1757, but they most probably were used during this 1760 visit. At neither time was his stay long enough to preach four sermons.

³⁹Orig., 'Newlin'.

⁴⁰Orig., 'Bezore'. This text and the one following are placed within the texts for 1755 but are dated '1760'.

⁴²Orig., 'St. Austle'.

⁴³Orig., 'Mary Week' under the 'Ms'. This text and the following are in JW's hand, entered after a text for 1753, but they belong most probably to this date, Sept. 29, 1760. JW had preached at Week St. Mary, Oct. 2–3, 1757, but texts for this visit are given in SR1.

⁴⁴Orig., 'Collumpton'.

⁴⁵Orig., 'Bizulla'. JW was in the area in mid-Sept.

⁴⁶This text follows one for Oct. 6, 1757 (which see), but it most probably belongs to this later visit to Halberton.

⁴⁷This text, in JW's hand, was inserted among entries for 1756–57, but it almost certainly belongs to Oct. 2, 1760, the only Journal mention of his preaching at Taunton in the remaining years of SR. Taunton is not listed again in SR1.

⁴⁹This text appears to have been written at a later date than the foregoing, but the Journal gives us no clue as to its placement. JW could have preached at Bedminster at any time he was in the Bristol area.

⁵¹This text and the two which follow were entered in SR1 after three texts for Oct. 20, 1758. All six appear at first glance to belong to 1760. For an explanation of their placement, see above, Oct. 20, 1758, and note.

The first two texts most probably belong to 1760 (Shoreham was nowhere near JW's travels in late Dec. in 1757, 1758, or 1759). The third text most probably belongs to his visit, Dec. 3, 1761 (which see).

⁵³Perhaps Caherconnel, Co. Clare, north of Ennis; otherwise unidentified. This entry is undated except for the year. JW was in the vicinity of Ennis, July 11–13.

¹Orig., 'Dec. 11'. These texts for Everton are entered below texts for Aug. 5 and Nov. 24–25, 1759, and one would assume that these, too, belong to 1759. However, JW was back in London by Dec. 11, 1759, as he was also on that date in 1760 and 1761. The only other visit he made to Everton during the remaining years of SR1 was on, Jan. 11, 1761.

²Orig., 'Edmondsbury' under the 'Es'. The two texts for this location appear in SR1 following entries for 1758. However, they most probably belong here. The ink and pen strokes are not the same as in the two preceding texts, and no other entries were made in SR1 for this 1761 visit.

³Orig., 'Horseford'. The entry is undated except for the year. JW's only visit to the Norwich area in 1761 was Jan. 17–29. On Sunday, Jan. 25, he wrote: 'In some of the following days I visited the country societies' (Journal).

⁴Orig., 'Melburn'.

⁵JW entered this text at the end of a line of texts for 1759 without indicating that it belonged instead to 1761. In Journal JW says that on this occasion he preached from 'the scripture appointed for the Epistle' which (being Ash Wednesday) was Joel 2:12. In the Journal account, however, he quoted Joel 2:13, and this was the text he entered in SR1.

⁷JW had preached at Bedford on Jan. 10, 1761, and one of the texts here may belong to that date.

⁹In SR1 on the line below the entries for the Chapel on March 1, JW had written an ‘8’ (i.e. Mar. 8) and ‘Heb. 9:13’, the last sermon that he preached at West Street until his return to London in August. At that time, to list his texts for West Street, instead of dropping down to a new line (being ever the conservator of paper and space—as well as time!), he wrote ‘Aug. 23’ just to the right of the ‘8’, then skipping over ‘Heb.9:13’, he entered ‘Gal. 5:22’, the text of his first sermon at the Chapel in almost six months, followed by the remaining texts for West Street that August. These entries, made with a newly-trimmed pen, are finer and in lighter ink than that for Mar. 8 which was made with a blunter pen carrying more ink.

¹²Orig., ‘Stanley’.

¹³This text in JW’s hand was entered following one for 1752, but it belongs to a later date. The only other time during the remaining years of SR1 that JW preached in Redditch was on this date.

¹⁴Orig., 'Borslam'.

¹⁵This was JW's only visit to 'Bridgefield', 'in the midst of the Derbyshire mountains', a place which does not appear on the Ordnance Survey and is not listed in Bartholomew. As Reginald Ward suggests, this is likely a misreference to Brookfield, 2 mi NW of Glossop (Works, 21:313n).

¹⁶JW had preached from one of these twelve texts for Manchester at 5 a.m. on Mar. 23 (Journal), but their order of entry in SR1 is not clear enough to conjecture which one.

¹⁷*Journal* gives date as Mar. 31.

²³Orig., 'Musselboro'.

²⁴Orig. undated except for the year. JW's only visit to Haddington this year was on May 12, when he preached in Provost Dickson's parlour (Journal).

²⁵Orig., 'Warksworth'.

²⁶This text follows one entered for June 16, 1759, but it most likely belongs here, JW's last visit to Widdrington.

³⁰*Journal* gives date as May 28.

³²Orig., 'Waredale'. This was probably in the High House preaching house (later High House chapel) which had been built in 1760. This chapel is now a museum in the village known as Ireshopeburn, 1 mi SE of Wearhead: <http://www.weardalemuseum.co.uk/index.htm>.

³³Orig., 'Teasdale'; i.e., the valley along the River Tees. JW does not specify a village, but Middleton in Teesdale would be on his way.

³⁴Orig., 'Swaledale'. The Spensley family of Blades, near Low Row, in Swaledale (the River Swale valley) kept a cottage adjoining their house for Methodist preaching.

³⁷Orig., 'the Grange', under the 'Gs'.

³⁸All the texts for Yarm were listed under 1748, following the single entry made by JW's amanuensis that year. After that first entry, JW wrote '1757 Jer. 7:22'. For the remainder of the entries he gave no year, but from the Journal we can determine that two of them belong to July 6–7, 1759, and two here in 1761.

³⁹As with the entries for Yarm, these for Hutton Rudby (including the one given after Potto, below) were entered in SR1 following an entry that belonged to July 7, 1759 (see Journal).

⁴⁴Entered following a text for July 14, 1759, with no indication that it belongs to this later time.

⁴⁵JW was in the York vicinity from June 27 to July 6. All the 1761 entries, however, are listed under June

⁵⁰Date from Journal.

⁵¹We know from the Journal that on this visit to William Grimshaw's church at Haworth JW preached at least three times, twice on Sunday the 12th and at five o'clock on the morning of the 13th; however, only two texts are listed in SR1. On Monday, July 13, JW says he preached 'on the manner of waiting for "perfect love"', but with such slim evidence one can only speculate what his text might have been on this occasion.

⁵²JW had first preached at Padiham on May 20, 1757, but no texts were listed in SR1 for this visit.

⁵³Orig., 'Bentley Wood Green', clearly an error.

⁵⁴This text was entered following one for May 19, 1757, but separated from it by a sharp vertical line. It most probably belongs to this date, the last time JW preached at Ewood Hall during the remaining years of SR1.

⁵⁵This text is at the end of a line of texts for 1759 but separated from them by a vertical line. It most likely belongs with the other 1761 texts below it. JW preached at Birstall several times between July 17–26. Of the seven texts given in SR1 only Matt. 8:2 (July 19) is quoted in the Journal.

⁵⁶The location of this site is not certain. Most likely is South Royd, Yorkshire, West Riding; a hamlet in the parish of Kirkheaton, 2.5 mi E of Huddersfield; OS #104, SE 1818.

⁵⁷JW says on this occasion that he rode to Leeds to preach a funeral sermon for Mary Shent and that he 'spoke very plain from part of the Gospel for the day, "Give an account of thy stewardship, for thou mayest be no longer steward"'. The Gospel for the day on this Ninth Sunday after Trinity was Luke 16:1–9.

⁵⁸*Journal* gives date as July 24. Henry Moore mentions this occasion: 'Before the conference [at Leeds] quite broke up Mr. Wesley took an opportunity of preaching from the words of St. James'; in Moore, The Life of the Rev. John Wesley (London: J. Kershaw, 1824–25), 2:216 (end of Book VI).

⁵⁹*Journal* gives date as July 26.

⁶⁰In Journal JW quotes 1 Cor. 1:23 as his text. He had preached at Bramley before going on to Kippax but no texts for Bramley are listed in SR1 for 1761.

⁶¹From Staincross JW proceeded to Barley Hall where he preached at five in the afternoon. See above, June 14, 1755 (Hos. 11:8), and note, for uncertainties as to the placement of texts for Barley Hall.

⁶²Orig., 'Woodseats' in the 'Ws'.

⁶³This text in JW's hand, was written following one for Clayworth in 1752, but it belongs to a later time. JW preached here on June 12, 1755, and July 25, 1757, but texts for these visits are supplied in SR1 as they are not for 1761

⁶⁴This text and the following were squeezed in after two texts for July 24, 1757, separated from them by a vertical line. This was JW's last visit to Misterton during the years of SR1.

⁶⁵Orig., 'Woodside'. JW had preached here earlier, July 23, 1757, but no mention of that visit was made in SR1.

⁶⁷Orig., 'Barrow'.

⁶⁸These six texts for Grimsby were entered following texts for Apr. 8, 1759, separated from them by a vertical line. They almost certainly belong to the later visit which lasted from Aug. 8–10, 1761.

⁶⁹Orig., 'Yarmouth'. This is the only entry for Great Yarmouth in SR1, and it is undated except that it follows the York entries for June, 1761. JW had first preached at Great Yarmouth, Jan. 20–21, 1761, and returned again Aug. 19–20 (the Journal is imprecise).

⁷⁰This date would fall between Aug. 22 (when JW returned to London) and Aug. 31.

⁷¹A first-hand account of this service was given by Margaret Wood in her letter to JW, dated January 7, 1772, which was printed in the Arminian Magazine 8 (1785): 56–59. Wood also mentions hearing his sermons on 2 Cor. 6:2 and 1 Sam. 17, below (the latter she dated Sept. 22).

⁷²There is a duplicate list of the 1761 texts for Kingswood among the Bristol texts. Those under 'Bristol' are undated except for the year, and they are bracketed under a 'K'. Those under 'Kingswood' are dated: 'Sept. 27', 'Oct. 11', and '[Oct.] 20'. There are two discrepancies: (1) the 'Bristol' list contains one text that was not transferred to the 'Kingswood' list which we have included (see Mark 9:23, under Oct. 11); and, (2) Phil. 3:13 in the 'Bristol' list was transferred to the 'Kingswood' list as 'Phil. 3:14'. Since JW frequently preached from the same texts at both places and since Phil. 3:13 had been his text at Bristol on Oct. 9, we have counted that as his Kingswood text (see below, Oct. 11).

⁷³This text and '1761', in JW's hand, were written within the 1754 texts for Westbury. JW could have preached there in Sept. of this year while traveling between London and Bristol or in Oct. when he made the return trip.

⁷⁶Ibid.

11-05-61	Westminster	Ps. 107:2 ⁷⁹	SR1
11-06-61	London, West Street Chapel	Luke 10:42	SR1

⁷⁸Orig., 'Wint.' under 'Bristol'.

⁷⁹This text is dated 'Nov. 5', written under a line of texts for Westminster dated Jan. 31, 1760, implying that it, too, belonged to that year. However, JW did not return to London from Bristol until Nov. 8. This text, therefore, belongs instead to 1761 when JW was in London on Nov. 5.

²R. L. Gwynne, a former rector, gives an account of JW's preaching at Little Easton in 1762. George Raven, one of the congregation who afterwards joined JW's society and became himself a preacher, never forgot JW's text: 'Fight the good fight ... lay hold on eternal life'; see Gwynne, Estaines Parva, a History of Easton Parish (London: Silas Birch, 1923), 69. Determining the exact date in 1762 is difficult. The only time JW seems to have been in the area was between Jan. 21–22, when traveling between Colchester and London. However, Raven's account says the service was on a Sunday afternoon. JW was at Norwich on Sunday, Jan. 17, and had returned to London by the next Sunday, Jan. 24. The Journal has no references at all to JW's preaching at Little Easton.

³JW says that on this occasion he preached in the old camp. His text is given in Crookshank, Ireland, 1:160.

⁴JW says he strongly applied, 'the story of Dives and Lazarus'. Not until Mar. 23–25, 1788, however, did he write a sermon on this text, which was published the following year in Arminian Magazine 12 (1789):66–71, 621–28; see Works, 4:4–18.

⁷This was the Thirteenth Sunday after Trinity. JW's text was from the Gospel for that day.

⁸Letter to CW, Nov. 10, 1762 (MARC, DDP 1/11). JW was speaking in the context of the 'London Blessing' controversy. 'He spoke highly of knowledge and many other gifts, natural, acquired or divine: all which he proved to have a natural tendency to puff up, if not under subjection to love: for love only buildeth up in every virtue that forms the perfect Christian.'

To be saved he said was [1] to be convinced of sin; [2] to be justified; [and 3] to be sanctified.

Conviction he observed was the first work of the Spirit and was variable as to the means and degrees. Justification or the New Birth, is an instantaneous work of the H.G. and is illustrated by the birth of a child. He affirmed that sanctification is also an instantaneous work, being the death of sin. This he illustrated by the death of the body, which must be an instantaneous stroke.

He endeavoured to prove that these two operations in the souls were easily distinguished by supposing a professor of each to stand up. Ask the first, have you no pride or anger or desire? He will answer, yes I find much of these boils in my heart and at times they greatly trouble me; but by the grace of God, I can keep them under and desire to— to the prize of my high calling. Ask the other the same questions and he will answer, no, by the grace of God I find no remains of any evil and have likewise the witness from above that they are all done away and the change was instantaneous.

He affirmed that if sanctification is not an instantaneous work because not mentioned in the Bible, neither is justification; for we can only prove either from the reason of the thing experience.

All this he declared was no new doctrine; but what he had preach'd from the beginning; for proof of which he referred us to his Journal about the year 1739, wherein in a comparative review, he describes his own state of soul.'

¹This was the sermon preached before the Society for the Reformation of Manners (Tyerman, Wesley, 2:468–69). It was written at Lewisham and published this year as a six-penny pamphlet; see Works, 2:300–323. On a similar occasion sixty-five years earlier, JW's father, Samuel Wesley, had preached a sermon from the same text.

³William Briggs to CW, Mar. 5, 1763 (MARC, DDWes 2/61).

⁴Howell Harris gave a first-hand account of this sermon in his diary: 'At 10 Mr. John Wesley graced our Chappel with an excellent exposition on the history of David killing Goliath' (quoted in Williams, Wesley in Wales, p. 63, n. 2).

⁵In the Journal JW says, 'The congregation was waiting, so I began without delay, explaining to them the righteousness of faith'. Although the text for JW's published sermon with this title is Rom. 10:5–8 (see Works, 1:200–216), his most frequently used text from the tenth chapter of Romans in recent years was Rom. 10:4, the text supplied here.

⁶JW says, 'I began expounding [at Bristol] a second time, after an interval of above twenty years, the First Epistle of St. John'. It was in fact twenty-four-and-a-half years since Apr. 6, 1739, when he had begun a series of sermons at Bristol on this Epistle, only four days after the beginning of the Revival.

⁴JW's early frequent preaching on this text surely echoed his 1738 published sermon Salvation by Faith (see Works, 1:109–30). By this point, at least, JW's preaching on this text would reflect more of the themes of his published sermon The Scripture Way of Salvation, which appeared in 1765 (see Works, 2:153–69).

⁵JW says he 'explained at large the nature of Christian Perfection'. While he had published his sermon, Christian Perfection, in 1741 on Phil. 3:12 (see Works, 2:97–124), he never records that he preached from this text. In 1785 he published the sermon, 'On Perfection', on Heb. 6:1 (Works, 3:70–87), a text he had used at least thirty-two times before 1764 and after which he would use more than fifty times. On this overwhelming evidence, Heb. 6:1 has been supplied as his text on this occasion. (See also below, Apr. 2, 1782, at New Mills.)

⁹Since JW's Journal gives no record of his preaching on this day, we are indebted to John Valton for his first-hand account of this sermon at Snowsfields as well as the one following at Spitalfields; see Jackson, Lives, 6:24.

¹⁰Bristol Diarist says 'near Bedminster'; Journal says on 'Redcliff Hill'.

¹¹After preaching on this text the Bristol Diarist says that JW exhorted the Society to enter covenant with God.

¹²John Valton also heard JW preach on this text on this date; see Jackson, Lives, 6:27.

³A blind preacher, Margaret Davidson, was present at this service and reported that 'Mr. Wesley preached from "Truly our fellowship is with the Father". ... After preaching he took me gently by the hand and said, "Faint not, go on, and you shall see in glory"' (Crookshank, Ireland, 1:182-83).

⁴See above, Aug. 8, 1742, and note.

⁵In the Journal JW says only that he preached 'on our Lord's lamentation over Jerusalem'. Although he preached from Matt. 23:37 two or three times, his overwhelming choice was Luke 19:42, the text supplied here.

⁷Commanded by Major General Charles Montagu, who was attached to the army establishment in Ireland. The Felicity is not mentioned in either the Dublin or Whitehaven papers at this time, possibly because she was not in the regular trade with the port of Dublin; WHS 5 (1905): 75–78.

⁸By this time the Gilbert family had moved from Kendal to Chester where JW was again entertained in their household. We are once more indebted to Mary Gilbert's diary for JW's text on this occasion as well as the following on Aug. 18; see Gilbert, Journal, 38.

⁹JW quotes his text: 'Open thy mouth wide, and I will fill it', one of his rare uses of the Authorized Version of the Psalms. From the BCP the citation would be Ps. 81:11. But there the text reads: 'shall' instead of 'will'. There is further confirmation of the AV in John Valton's journal for Oct. 24, 1765 (see below), where he says JW preached on that day from Ps. 81:10.

¹¹See above, Aug. 26, 1765, and note. According to John Valton (Jackson, Lives, 6:46), this sermon was in reply to an objectionable phrase ('the imputed righteousness of Christ') in James Hervey's Eleven Letters from the late Rev. Mr. Hervey, to the Rev. Mr. John Wesley; containing an Answer to that Gentleman's Remarks on 'Theron and Aspasio' (London: Charles Rivington, 1765).

¹²JW says, 'I preached on those words in the Lesson for the day, "The Lord our Righteousness"'. This being the Twenty-fifth Sunday after Trinity, the Epistle for the day was Jer. 23:5[–8]. Cf. JW's printed sermon The Lord Our Righteousness (Works, 1:444–65).

¹In the Journal JW says he preached on 'Awake, thou that sleepest'. His brother Charles had preached from the same text before the University of Oxford, Apr. 4, 1742, and the sermon was published that year. When John issued his first volume of Sermons in 1746, he included his brother's sermon as No. 3, a place it has retained in all subsequent editions; see Works, 1:142–58.

²Mary Gilbert supplies the five texts for this visit to Chester; see Gilbert, Journal, 57–58.

³In this instance, Gilbert (Journal) gives Isa. 17:9 as JW's text, but she quotes John 17:3.

⁵See above, July 7, 1765, and note.

⁶This was the Tenth Sunday after Trinity. JW's text was part of the Gospel for that day.

⁷In his Journal JW says only, 'I strongly exhorted the backsliders to return to God'. George Story, one of JW's preachers who was present, took down this sermon in longhand (with a few shorthand notes) in a notebook, quoting the text as 'I will heal their backslidings'; see Story, Papers, item #11 (a notebook labeled P.xviii by Story),

⁹See above, Mar. 16, 1766, at Bristol, and note.

¹⁰JW says that he 'strongly applied the case of the impotent man at the pool of Bethesda', the text he had used earlier on Apr. 3 at Chester.

¹¹'I preached on those words in the Gospel for the day, "Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself".' Although this was the Nineteenth Sunday after Trinity, JW's text was from the Gospel for the Eighteenth Sunday after Trinity. That he had fallen a week behind in his dates was not unprecedented.

¹²On this occasion JW preached on family religion, 'the grand desideratum among the Methodists'. Not until 1783, however, did he publish a sermon with this title and on this text; see Works, 3:333–46.

¹³JW preached on the education of children. As with the above text, he did not publish his sermon, 'On the Education of Children', until 1783; see Works, 3:347–60.

¹William Black was present at this service. He says that JW preached in the area of the Linen Hall from 'Today is salvation come to this house'. Afterwards JW administered the Sacrament to forty or fifty persons, nearly all the Methodists in the counties of Down and Antrim (Crookshank, Ireland, 1:202).

²JW's text was 'part of the Gospel for the day'. This was the First Sunday after Trinity, Easter falling on Apr. 19.

³JW says his text on this occasion was chosen by William New, 'a little before God called him hence'.

⁴This is reported in a letter JW included in his Journal on Nov. 20 (Works, 22:111).

¹In the evening and the following morning I brought strange things to the ears of many in Manchester concerning the government of their families and the education of their children.’. These were most certainly his sermons ‘On Family Religion’ and ‘On the Education of Children’ and the texts supplied here are the same as he had used earlier at London; see above Nov. 16 and 30, 1766 and notes.

³Albert Outler suggests that this was the occasion for JW preaching his formal sermon The Good Steward, which was published this same year; see Works, 2:281–98.

⁵This is the only the second time that JW preached from this text during the entire sixty-five years of his ministry (so far as the record shows; see above May 4, 1750), although Ps. 77:7–8 is the text of his published sermon A Call to Backsliders, written almost ten years later (May 20, 1778); see Works, 3:210–26.

¹I preached on the Gospel for the day—the Woman of Canaan'. This was the Second Sunday in Lent. The Gospel for the day in the BCP is Matt. 15:21[–28].

⁶St. Daniel's was an abandoned church, half a mile SE of town, eventually turned into a Methodist chapel.

⁷JW says he preached 'on those words in the Second Lesson, "What God hath cleansed, that call not thou common"'. This was the Second Lesson for the day before, Saturday, Aug. 12.

¹⁰John Hinrik Lidén reported in his journal that on this date JW preached a 'short but eminently evangelical' sermon 'in the Methodist Chapel in Spitalfields for an audience of more than 4,000 people'. His text was Luke 1:68; see WHS 17 (1929): 2.

¹In the Journal JW said that this was 'a kind of funeral sermon' for 'that wise and good man, William Conrad,' who had died two or three days before JW had arrived at Alnwick.

²This was the first time that Thomas Rutherford (later an itinerant) heard JW preach. He not only recorded JW's text, but also the impression JW left upon him: 'His apostolic and angelic appearance struck me exceedingly. He appeared like one come down from heaven to teach men the way thither. ... He opened the words [of Scripture] in a concise and easy maner, and spoke from them with such perspicuity and simplicity, and at the same time, with such wisdom and authority as I never heard before. To me he seemed like one of the apostles going about confirming the churches' (Moore, Rutherford, 39–40). In his Journal JW says only, 'I preached at Morpeth'.

⁶JW says, 'I preached on Death in the evening; and Hell in the morning'. The sermon on death was almost certainly from Heb. 9:27, 'It is appointed unto men once to die', a text he used from time to time. For the sermon on hell, most probably he would have used Mark 9:44; see above, Jan. 26, 1764, and note.

⁷This was the funeral sermon for George Whitefield, which JW preached twice on this day: first in Whitefield's chapel in Tottenham Court Road; second, at four o'clock in the afternoon, at the Tabernacle in Moorfields. For the text of the sermon, see Works, 2:325–48.

²Orig., 'Rabin'. This was the estate of Dodwell Browne. JW expounded the Gospel for the day, which was the First Sunday after Trinity Sunday. He paid a return visit to Rahins (or Raheens) on May 22, 1775.

³Orig., 'Derry', as was usual with JW.

⁴JW preached on part of the Sermon on the Mount, 'the noblest compendium of religion which is to be found even in the oracles of God', a favorite subject on which he had been preaching since at least 1735. For his thirteen published sermons on this topic, see Works, 1:466–698.

⁵In the Journal JW says, 'I described the "strait gate"', which occurs in Matt. 7:13, 14, and Luke 13:24. This is the first of three such instances where there are no corresponding diary or sermon register entries to verify JW's exact text (see also, Aug. 14, 1772, and Oct. 9, 1775). However, where these do exist, the overwhelming evidence is for Matt. 7:14 (fourteen times). Matt. 7:13 occurs only once in JW's preaching record and Luke 13:24 six times.

⁶JW had most probably arrived back in London by Sunday, the 17th, where he says he preached morning and afternoon on 'the education of children'. The text supplied here is that of his published sermon, 'On the Education of Children' (Works, 3:347–60).

⁷This was a funeral sermon for 'that excellent man, Mr. John Shewell'.

⁸This was the Second Lesson for Evening Prayer.

⁹In ancient times Reigate Place had been a monastery. Later, Queen Elizabeth chose it for one of her palaces. In JW's day it was an estate owned by Richard Ireland.

¹'I spoke ... on the narrow way that leadeth to life'. Although JW had preached at Hertford several times since his first visit, Oct. 10, 1763, this is the first time the Journal gives a clue to his text.

²The High House preaching house, 1 mi SE of Wearhead; see above June 8, 1761, note on Weardale.

⁴William Ripley met JW at Yarm and traveled with him to Whitby, preserving in his diary this and the following six texts from which JW preached along the way (at Yarm, Thirsk, Osmotherley, Stokesley, and Castleton); quoted in Curnock 5:472–73, n. 5; and Works, 22:338, n. 84.

⁵Ripley reported that at the evening service at Osmotherley JW preached from 'little David and great Goliath, reading the whole chapter'.

⁶Thomas Rutherford, who was present on this occasion, reported that JW preached in a field behind the chapel to an immense congregation. Rutherford recorded JW's text and then commented, 'He took occasion ... to show the nature of the work which God had wrought among the Methodists, namely, that it was a quick work—a deep work—a clear work—an extensive work—a lasting work—and a growing work' (Moore, Rutherford, 51–52).

¹This was JW's sermon 'On Predestination'. He finished putting the sermon on paper at 'Armagh, Sat. June 5, 1773'. Much later, when he included the sermon in the 1782 Arminian Magazine, he noted that he had preached it at Londonderry. The only time JW spent in Londonderry during the 1773 trip to Ireland was May 27–June 1. See Works, 2:413–21.

²JW says, 'I explained the great text of St. John'. This was Trinity Sunday. The 'great text' would have been John 3:1[–15], the Gospel for the day.

³'Mentor', Letter to St. James's Chronicle (Dec. 23–25, 1777), p. 2, speaks of being convinced of a decline in JW's mental abilities by a sermon preached 'about four years ago' at Broadmead in Bristol on "'What are ye better than others?'" [Matt. 5:47] Here the preacher displayed his vanity largely by flattering his audience and praising himself.'

⁴Letter to JW from Miss B. C., Oct. 13, 1773, Arminian Magazine 9 (1786): 458–59. B. C. refers to JW's 'last sermon'. Knowle is just outside Bristol, and JW preached his departing sermon to the Bristol society on Oct. 3, 1733.

⁵This text and the two following are from a manuscript volume that was likely written by Thomas Coleman, who settled in Margate, taught school there, and was converted under JW. The volume includes abstracts of sermons that Coleman preached, and at the end a list of some sermons that he had heard, including these three by JW. The volume was displayed at an exhibition in York in 1926, then sold into private hands. Its current location is unknown. See the account of the volume by F. F. Bretherton in WHS 17 (1929): 72–75.

¹I preached on those words in the Second Lesson, “Lazarus, come forth!” The Second Lesson for this day was John 11.

²This was the Second Sunday after Easter. The First Lesson for this day was Num. 23. JW says he preached from part of it, ‘Let me die the death of the righteous, and let my last end be like his!’

³The sermon preached by JW to open the new preaching house at Wakefield was taken down in shorthand by Mr. Williamson, ‘a teacher of that art’, and then published, giving us this text; see Works, 4:519–24.

⁴I preached ... on that delicate device of Satan to destroy the whole religion of the heart’. This would have been the sermon on ‘Satan’s Devices’, and a text he had preached on since 1739. For the published sermon on this text and title, see Works, 2:138–51.

⁵For this and the following text, JW says he preached on ‘Death and Judgment’, topics that he often grouped together, along with ‘Hell’ (see Oct. 8–10, 1770).

⁷See above, May 16, 1774, and note.

⁸JW’s text was the Gospel for the day, this being the Sixth Sunday after Trinity.

⁹This text and an account of the service are given in a letter of Miss J. C. March of London, dated Aug. 23, 1774, who said it 'was the prettiest and most simple discourse I ever heard on the text'. The letter is quoted in Works, 22:424 n. 68; and Curnock, 6:35 n. 2.

¹⁰William Dyer, a Bristol Quaker, records in his diary that on this day in the New Room at Bristol he 'heard John Wesley's curious distinction of four justifications'. Dyer's manuscript is quoted in WHS 18 (1932): 122. This is almost certainly a reference to JW's sermon The Repentance of Believers, published in 1767; see JW's distinction between initial justification and 'continuing in the justified state' by going 'from faith to faith' in section II.4 (Works, 1:348). Elsewhere JW would make this point by distinguishing between 'first' and 'final' justification.

¹¹Dyer records in his diary that on this day in the New Room at Bristol JW 'asserted there were four kinds of faith, viz., that of the heathen who believe in one God; that of a Jew; that of John the Baptist who believed in a Messiah already come; and that of a Christian'; again quoted in WHS 18 (1932): 122. JW's sermon on four kinds of faith was not published until 1788, although certainly he had preached on the subject numerous times before committing it to print (see Works, 3:492–501).

¹²This was a funeral sermon for James Wood.

¹The Westminster Journal (Feb. 4, 1775), p. 3, reports: 'Last Sunday the Rev. Mr. J. Wesley preached to a very numerous auditory on the alarming state of our national affairs. Mr. Wesley declared that he was more and more convinced that FRENCH GOLD was flying about in this nation, and that he was surprised Englishmen were not sufficiently alarmed at their impending danger. Mr. Wesley chose his text from 2 Samuel 15:31.' This is likely the occasion when John Hampson heard JW preach on this text; cf. Hampson, Memoirs of the late Rev. John Wesley, A.M. (Sunderland: J Graham, 1791), 3:134.

²The Westminster Journal described this as, 'an awful sermon, on the horrid effects of a civil war', observing 'that, of all the scourges from God, war was the most to be deprecated, because it often swept away all traces of religion, and even of humanity' (Tyerman, John Wesley, 3:185).

³This was the sermon On the Trinity, first published in Dublin and later in London; see Works, 2:373–86.

⁴*Public Ledger* (Aug. 15, 1775), p. 2, reports: 'On Wednesday evening the Rev. Mr. John Wesley preached to a very crowded auditory at West Street Chapel from Jeremiah 40:6–7.' The report in The Chester Chronicle (Aug. 21, 1775), p. 1, gives further detail, that JW 'displayed the national sins of England to be swearing, luxury, and murmuring against their rulers, for which the judgment of God hung over this land. He further observed that, except in some large towns, he had never in the course of his life seen such want and penury among the lower order of people, which, added to the present disturbances in America, was truly alarming.' This would be the occasion noted by John Hampson of JW preaching on this text; cf. Hampson, Memoirs of the late Rev. John Wesley, A.M. (Sunderland: J Graham, 1791), 3:134.

⁵This was JW's sermon on, The Important Question, which was 'published for the benefit of a public charity'; see Works, 3:181–98.

⁷I was desired to preach, in Bethnal Green church, a charity sermon for the widows and orphans of the soldiers that were killed in America. Knowing how many would seek occasion of offence, I wrote down my sermon.' The sermon was published immediately. In 1825 Thomas Jackson supplied the title by which it became known to later Methodists, 'National Sins and Miseries'; see Works, 3:564–76.

The following account of the sermon was printed in the London Chronicle (Nov. 11–14, 1775), p. 472: 'Mr Wesley largely expatiated on the sins of England and America, and of the punishments hanging over our heads. He pathetically described the dire horrors of war, the noise of cannon, cities and villages involved with pillars of fire and smoke, garments rolled in blood, the cries of wounded and dying soldiers, the distresses of the widow, and the sighs and tears of helpless orphans. High and low, young and old, seemed affected with Mr. Wesley's elaborate discourse; for scarce a dry eye was seen in that large assembly. After the sermon a good collection was made at the church doors, for the support of widows and children of those soldiers which were slain on the plains of America.'

²*London Packet; or New Lloyd's Journal* (Jan. 29–31, 1776), p. 4, reports the text and says: 'Mr. Wesley bore his testimony against the horrible Calvinian opinions of absolute necessity and unconditional predestination, which make the Holy God and Judge of all the author of sin, and renders the death of Christ a needless thing. Mr. Wesley earnestly warned his hearers against such diabolical creeds, and called upon all the ministers of the gospel of Christ and of the Church of England to preach against necessity, Calvinism, and antinomianism, the horrible tenets of our day.' JW describes the sermon as a 'charity sermon' in Journal.

⁴This was the first time that JW had preached in the church at Bingley. Thomas Taylor left a first-hand account of the occasion in his diary and cited JW's text; quoted in Works, 23:11, n 48.

⁵JW preached on 'those words in the Second Lesson, "What lack I yet?"'.

⁶JW preached on 'the nature and necessity of Christian love, ... vilely rendered charity, to confound poor English readers'.

⁷This was the Ninth Sunday after Trinity, and JW's text was from the Epistle for the day. Hannah Ball was present at the service and later wrote of it in a letter to Patty Chapman; reproduced in Methodist Recorder, 1897, 1026, and quoted in Works, 23:25–26, n 12.

¹Letter of Miss A. C. to JW, AM 11 (1788): 275–76. Note, it is possible this was instead either March 13 or 20, the two other Thursdays JW was in Bristol prior to July 10 in 1777 (the date of Miss A. C.'s letter).

²JW's text was from the Second Lesson for Evening Prayer.

⁴JW had become convinced that redevelopment plans for Moorfields threatened continued use of the Foundry as his central London preaching house. The city granted him land to develop on City Road, and this was the day he laid the cornerstone of his new chapel. Cf. George J. Stevenson, City Road Chapel, London, and Its Associations (London, [1872]).

⁵The sermon can be found in Works, 3:577–92.

⁶'I explained and applied "They were all filled with the Holy Ghost".' These words appear twice in Scripture: Acts 2:4 and Acts 4:31. So far as the diaries and sermon registers show, JW used Acts 4:31 only one time (June 29, 1784), while he preached from Acts 2:4 at least thirteen times. By this evidence we have supplied Acts 2:4 here and on June 3, 1781, where we have the text quoted in the Journal.

⁷Mary Bosanquet (later Mrs. John Fletcher) heard this sermon and called it, 'a sweet discourse ... showing the great danger of every earthly gratification. This lesson, he said, might be learned even from the body. As often as we take down food, we swallow so many seeds of death, by causing so many more particles of earth to adhere to and clog our vessels, and so hasten our dissolution. And without great watchfulness so it would be with our souls. If we were not on our guard, human comforts received would also bring the soul nearer to death instead of being a step to life. It is truly said of worldly joy, "It does with powerful charm hold down the mind and sensualize the soul"' (Moore, Mary Fletcher, 1:146). Moore cites Aug. 1777 as the date, but JW was in the Bradford vicinity only in June.

⁸Bosanquet was also present at this service, citing the text (ibid.), which is not mentioned in the Journal.

⁹Again, we are indebted to Mary Bosanquet not only for JW's text but a precis of his sermon, giving us another glimpse of JW's oral preaching: 'First, he considered what were the works. Secondly, What the reward. The works, he said, were three-fold. 1. What the man is. 2. What he does. 3. What he suffers. 1. All he is that is right shall have its reward: all the fruits of the spirit—love, joy, peace, long-suffering, meekness, patience, faith, self-denial, fortitude. All these are the works of God and all received through Christ. Above all, love, which is the image of God. 2. All he does, all his works of piety and mercy, all that is wrought in faith. Nay, the most common labours of his daily business, if done in a spirit of the Apostle, for sacrifice, shall not be forgotten: for it is said of servants, by the Apostle for their encouragement, that when they "obey and serve men, with singleness of heart, they serve the Lord Jesus Christ". 3. All he suffers. Not one cross taken up in obedience to the will of God but it shall have its reward. But what is the reward? First, the very nature of each grace necessarily brings its reward. The more faith, patience, courage, and perseverance, the more holiness will be brought into the soul; and consequently, the soul will be rendered more like God, and more capable of fellowship with Him. And in proportion to our fellowship with God must be our happiness. But, besides these, there is a reward of infinite free mercy (over and above what flows from inherent holiness) bestowed on each grace, and on each action done for God, and each cross borne for his sake' (Moore, Mary Fletcher, 1:147).

¹¹Andre Oliver, ed. The Journal of Samuel Curwen, Loyalist (Cambridge, MA: Harvard University Press, 1972), 400.

¹²This was the sermon written on Nov. 21, preached on Sunday, Nov. 23, in the Lewisham church before the Humane Society and published in pamphlet form before the end of the year. In his 1809 edition of JW's Works, Joseph Benson gave it the title by which it is still known, 'The Reward of Righteousness' (Works, 3:399–414).

¹³This was the occasion of laying the first stone of the foundation of the new Methodist preaching house in King Street. Mary Bosanquet gives JW's text, reporting that he 'pointed out to us in what a wonderful manner the Lord had carried on his work in the three kingdoms within these last thirty or forty years. It was a solemn time. The people were very attentive, though the cold was very severe' (Moore, Mary Fletcher, 1:152).

¹A partial transcription of this sermon is contained in a notebook held in The Archives of King's College, Cambridge, EMF/23/18. The notebook at one time belonged to John Jebb (1775–1833), Bishop of Limerick, who was a long-time friend of Alexander Knox. The transcription may have been by Knox; or at least was likely conveyed to Jebb by Knox.

²Cockhill was a hill and inn about 5 mi W of Portadown, Co. Armagh. It has since been leveled.

³William Black left a first-hand account of JW's preaching at Armagh on this text and reported that when JW came to speak on the second clause of the text, 'For they are equal unto the angels, and are the children of God, being the children of the resurrection', he repeated it several times, and his soul being so filled with rapture that he could not proceed, he burst into tears, saying, 'Let us pray'. An overwhelming influence fell upon the assembly (Crookshank, Ireland, 1:323).

⁵In a letter challenging JW's recent comments on the American Colonists, dated Oct. 9, 1778, the author (signed 'Amicus') mentions hearing JW preach 'very lately' on the parable of the Good Samaritan; cf. General Advertiser and Morning Intelligencer (Oct. 23, 1778), p. 4.

⁶JW 'preached on the seed that fell among thorns'. The weight of evidence from SR1 is that this text was most probably Mark 4:18. When JW preached from 'The Parable of the Sower', his text was most often Mark 4:3, although there are a few instances when he preached from the first part of Matt. 13.

¹JW 'preached on the nature of Christian zeal'. His text was most probably the same as his sermon 'On Zeal' published in the Arminian Magazine in 1781; see Works, 3:308–21.

²Curnock (6:234, n. 5) reports that JW preached on 2 Cor. 5:17 this day near Sunderland at Burn Moor Farm, which belonged to Ralph Wylam. A young convert was Martha Wylam, aged eight. Her granddaughter, a Miss Emmerson of Sunderland, reported the occasion to Rev. B. A. Hurd Barley who related the information to Curnock.

³Joseph Cownley to CW, July 22, 1779 (MARC, DDP 2/55): 'Your brother ... preached a strange sermon to us on, "I will not destroy the city for ten's sake," in which he gave such an account of the nation in general that if it be true we may hope to escape what you and others who see our country in a different light apprehend is coming upon us.'

⁴Bartholomew does not list 'Langham Row' or even a 'Langham' in Lincolnshire. JW addressed letters to George Robinson (a steward of the Grimsby circuit) 'at Langham Row, near Alford, Lincolnshire.' This would likely be what is now Langham Farm, about six miles southeast of Alford (see OS #122, TF 5374).

⁹JW preached on 'Set thy house in order, for thou shalt die and not live'. These words occur twice in the Bible: 2 Kgs. 20:1 and Isa. 38:1. So far as our records show, JW never used the text from 2 Kings. As his diary indicates, he did preach from the Isaiah text at least three times (Mar. 24, Apr. 23, and July 20, 1789), and on that evidence we have here supplied Isa. 38:1.

¹Hester Ann Roe (later Rogers) records this and the following sermon in her manuscript journal; see Rogers, Extract, 45. She comments on the first sermon: 'How sweetly did Mr. Wesley prove from this the godhead of Christ, and then spiritualize the subject, showing faith to be the one and only condition of salvation.'

²This was a funeral sermon for John Ritchie.

³This and the four following entries are first-hand accounts of JW's preaching by Allen Edmundson in a manuscript Commonplace Book. Edmundson's account of JW's sermon on Acts 20:27 at Bingley Church in the 'forenoon' of Sunday, Apr. 23, is especially helpful: 'He [JW] dwelt only on one head, which was to show what was all the counsel of God; he divided it into four particulars, Repent, Believe, Love, and Obey.'

⁵Mrs. James Shepherd, whose husband had been Governor of York Castle for many years, recalled in 1860 (she was then eighty-six years old) this visit of JW to Northallerton. She was a little girl of five or six years. The service was held in Jacky Wren's yard which was full of people. She had the most vivid recollection of the sun shining full in JW's face while he preached and that his text was, 'If the salt have lost its savour, wherewith shall it be salted?' She remembered afterward walking by his side, taking hold of a hem of his clerical robe. John Ward, Methodism in the Thirsk Circuit (Thirsk, David Peat, 1860), 36.

⁷Robert Roe heard JW preach on this occasion and remembered that 'his sermon seemed for me alone'. He quoted JW's text. See Arminian Magazine 7 (1784):524; quoted in Works, 23:185 n 19.

¹This was JW's sermon, 'The End of Christ's Coming'. He had been preaching from this text since 1742, but he did not write out the sermon until Jan. 20, 1781. Later in the year, it was published in the Arminian Magazine 4 (1781):360–66, 408–14; see also Works, 2:471–84.

²JW had preached a sermon taken from William Tilly on this text in the early 1730s. Now he is speaking in his own voice, and soon published 'On Working Out Our Own Salvation', based on this text, in the 1785 Arminian Magazine; see Works, 3:199–209.

³Charles Atmore provides more than fifty first-hand accounts of JW's preaching in a manuscript diary, including this and the following five instances. In this first case he cited Mark 9:48, which is a duplicate of Mark 9:44 recorded by JW. See Stamp, 'Atmore', 8.

⁴Hester Ann Roe (later Rogers) records this sermon in her manuscript journal; see Rogers, Extract, 121. She describes it thus: 'He addressed believers and explained the words in the order in which they stand; but insisted chiefly of Christian holiness, as being rooted and grounded in love, and hereby put into a capacity of comprehending the length and breadth, and depth and height — yea, and a growing in grace till filled with all the fullness of God.'

⁵Roe also records this sermon (see Rogers, Extract, 122–23). She comments: 'He showed what were the things committed to Timothy, and then confined his discourse to the particular doctrines committed to the Methodists; and insisted that the doctrine of Christian Perfection was the one particular point they were called to preach and practice.'

⁷The identification of 'Kabb' has not been determined with certainty. Correspondence published in WHS 4 (1904): 247–48; and WHS 6 (1907): 14–16, suggests that the place in question was Nab Farm in Turton, which in JW's time was off the high road about a half mile to the south of Nab and near Larwood Church. Part of this area was eventually submerged by reservoirs and the names do not now appear on the Ordnance Survey Map.

¹¹The joint parish of North and South Rauceby, Lincolnshire. This was JW's only visit here. His text was from the Second Lesson for Evening Prayer.

¹³Edmundson also supplied an outline of this sermon: 'He [JW] showed the most probable time when and how this great work would begin and be carried on. It appeared that this reformation would begin 1. in England; 2ly in the other Reformed Churches; and 3ly the papists; and 4ly the Jews; 5ly the Mahometans; 6ly and lastly the pagans'.

¹Hester Ann Roe (later Rogers) records these ten sermons at Macclesfield and Leek in her manuscript journal, which is held at the Methodist Archive and Research Centre (accession number MA 1977/295), The John Rylands University Library, The University of Manchester. Her account gives extended summaries of some of the sermons. Portions of this segment of her journal are included in Rogers, Extract, 180–87. A complete transcription of the manuscript segment covering this visit (vol. 2, pp. 173–80) has recently been published in Paul Wesley Chilcote, ed., Early Methodist Spirituality: Selected Women's Writings (Nashville: Kingswood, 2007), 112–17. Readers should consult this transcription for Roe's summaries.

²JW says that 'perceiving they had suffered much by not having the doctrine of perfection clearly explained and strongly pressed upon them, I preached expressly on the head'. For the text, Heb. 6:1, supplied here and at Stockport, see note above, Apr. 4, 1764, Grimsby.

³This text and the four following are from Edmundson, Commonplace Book. Edmundson includes the comment that JW 'divided the text into two heads. First, he showed the opposite, what it was not to be built upon a rock. Secondly, what it was to be built upon a rock'.

⁴Edmundson gives JW's sermon outline: 'He [JW] divided the text into two heads. First, he showed what the things were that Gallio cared not for. Secondly, he inquired whether it was his wisdom or folly in not caring for those things'.

⁵Edmundson does not give the book of the Bible, listing only '18:32', but he quotes, 'And he said I will not destroy it for ten's sake'—i.e. Gen. 18:32.

⁷JW preached from the Gospel for the day, which was the Fifth Sunday after Easter.

⁹In the Arminian Magazine 14 (1791): 420 is an account of a Mrs. Planche who reported that on this occasion JW spent the night and 'lodged at my brother's. He preached in the evening from Rev. 20:11, 12. In the morning at five he preached from 1 Cor. 13'.

¹¹'I preached at West Street on the ministry of angels; and many were greatly refreshed in considering the office of those spirits that continually attend on the heirs of salvation.' The text supplied here is that of his sermon, 'Of Good Angels', published in 1783 (see Works, 3:3–15. This was a topic rarely used by JW. Prior to this date there are only two references to his having preached on Heb. 1:14—Nov. 18, 1752 and Nov. 25, 1758—both, oddly enough, at Snowsfield Chapel, London. On Nov. 25, 1786, he again preached from this text, also in London, for what was to be the last time.

¹²Adam Clarke first met JW on this day and heard him preach in the evening on Zech. 4:6; see An Account of the Infancy, Religious, and Literary Life of Adam Clarke, ed. J. B. B. Clarke (London: T. S. Clarke, 1833), 1:165.

¹³JW's text, 'Ye cannot serve God and mammon', also appears in Luke 16:13. However, where there are SR or diary 'controls', JW's overwhelming preference was for the Matthew text.

¹⁴This was a funeral sermon for Jenny Hall, 'a lovely young woman who died in full triumph and desired a sermon might be preached on Rev. 7:13 and following verses'.

¹⁹JW published a sermon, eventually titled 'The More Excellent Way', on this text in 1787 in the Arminian Magazine; see Works, 3:262–77.

²⁰In the Journal JW says he preached from, 'To day if ye will hear his voice, harden not your hearts' (Heb. 3:7–8, 15; 4:7), a completely different text than the one entered in the diary.

²²JW had preached on this text at least twice in 1756. A sense of his themes when he now returned to the text can be gained from the sermon 'The Mystery of Iniquity', based on the text, which he published in the Arminian Magazine in 1783; see Works, 2:451–70.

⁵JW was opening this new Methodist preaching house.

⁶There is an account of this occasion by George H. Harwood in his History of Methodism in Nottingham, enlarged edn. (Nottingham: John Ellis, 1872), 55: 'In the morning Dr. Coke read the service from the Book of Common Prayer, and Mr. Wesley preached from the Epistle for the day, Heb. 9:11, 12 [this was the Fifth Sunday in Lent]. The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was afterwards administered. At five o'clock, Dr. Coke read the evening service, and Mr. Wesley preached from Isaiah 4:6, 7.' There are discrepancies in this account. For example, Isa. 4 has only six verses (JW cites Isa. 55:6 as his text). Harwood also gives the date as Apr. 4 (a Friday), when the occasion actually took place on Sunday, Apr. 6 (as JW's diary confirms). One of JW's sermons in Hockley Chapel on this day was a charity sermon preached for the benefit of the new General Hospital at Nottingham which had opened the previous Sept. 28 (hospital records show that £7.9s.1 1/4d was collected).

JW preached another charity sermon at Hockley Chapel for the benefit of the General Hospital in Nottingham on Nov. 11, 1787. The amount collected was £14.6s.10 3/4d. On July 11, 1788, he preached at Derby for the Nottingham hospital and collected £5—which he delivered the next day.

⁷Hester Ann Roe (later Rogers) writes in her manuscript journal that JW took her in his chaise to Newcastle-under-Lyme, where she heard him preach this and the following sermon; see Rogers, Extract, 242.

⁸This is the text for JW's sermon 'The Danger of Riches', which JW had published in 1781 in the Arminian Magazine; see Works, 3:227–46.

¹²JW published a sermon on this text, eventually titled 'On Pleasing All Men', in the Arminian Magazine in 1787; see Works, 3:415–26.

¹³“The Episcopal church is not quite so large as the chapel in West Street. It is very elegant both without and within. The service began at half-past nine. Such a congregation had not often been there before. I preached on “God created man in His own image.” The people seemed “all but their attention dead.”

¹⁷JW's preaching on Ephesians 4:1ff from about this time likely reflected themes in the sermon 'Of the Church' which he published in the Arminian Magazine in 1786; see Works, 3:45–57.

¹⁸Dyson (Congleton Circuit, 89) gives a first-hand account by John Boothby of Kettleshulme, who heard JW preach on 'The Raising of the Ruler's Daughter' at Congleton. However, there is no evidence in either the Journal or the diary that JW preached on such a text from any of the Synoptic Gospels. Perhaps this was instead a memorable illustration in a sermon rather than a preaching text.

¹⁹Fairfield was the eastern district of Buxton; see OS #119, SK 0673.

²⁰Samuel Bradburn gives the text for this service 'in Leeds Chapel' as Ps. 116:13 (from the Authorized Version), 'I will take the cup of salvation and call upon the name of the Lord.' See his 'Farther Account of Rev. John Wesley,' p. 23 in A Discourse delivered at the Chapel in Oldham Street, Manchester, March 13th, 1791, on the Occasion of the Death of the Rev. John Wesley, A.M. by Richard Rodda ... to which is added a Further Account ... by Samuel Bradburn (Manchester: J. Radford, 1791).

²¹Edmundson, Commonplace Book, includes first-hand accounts of this and the following sermon. JW 'showed what was implied in the two heads. The words naturally divide themselves into viz., first, For to me to live is Christ; secondly, To die is gain'.

²²While in his diary JW gives Matt. 8:2 as his text, Edmundson says JW preached from 'three of the first verses', which he then quotes. He goes on to give an outline of JW's sermon. 'First, he showed the historical or literal meaning of the words; secondly, the inward or spiritual meaning'.

²³Joseph Benson has a first-hand account of this sermon in his unpublished diary: 'Mr. Wesley preached a useful sermon on "Who shall lay anything to the charge of God's elect?" and afterwards gave an account of his tour through Holland.' Benson, MS Diary, Methodist Archive and Research Centre, accession number MA 1977/209, The John Rylands University Library, The University of Manchester.

²⁴That JW was at Stroud is conjectural since the diary gives no place name. However, Stroud was a frequent stopover between Gloucester and Bristol. In this instance, 'going back nearly the same way I came' would have placed JW at Stroud. An interesting diary entry for early morning on the following day, Sept. 13, is 'Dryford', no listing for which appears in Bartholomew. However, Ryeford is a locality 2 mi W of Stroud on the River Frome. This is perhaps another instance of JW's having 'mis-heard' a name and entering it phonetically. He stopped at Ryeford again on March 15, 1790, when traveling between Newport and Stroud.

²⁵JW's sermons on this text at this late point likely reflected themes found in his sermon on this text published in the Arminian Magazine in 1792; see Works, 4:168–76.

²⁶'Bristol' does not occur in the diary here but can be inferred from entries prior to and following the text: '4 [p.m.] Hanham, dinner, religious talk, prayers, chaise. 4:30 Necessary business. 5 Prayers, tea, prayed. 7 Luke 18:25! the bands! at brother Castleman's [of Bristol].'

³⁰Seymour, Huntingdon, 2:125: 'In the year 1768 [Lady Huntingdon] procured a permanent residence in that part of Tunbridge Wells called Mount Ephraim.' Mount Ephraim was a neighborhood on the north edge of Tunbridge Wells, on a bluff overlooking the village.

³¹The '2' in '27' in the diary entry is blotched. This could be interpreted as a deletion to read Jer. 23:7 (see below, Nov. 23, 1783, at West Street).

³The Journal entry for this date reads: 'I went down to Nottingham and preached a charity sermon for the General Hospital. The next day I returned to London.' This is misplaced; JW actually preached that sermon on Apr. 6, 1783 (see above). Cf. Works, 23:296 n 75.

⁶George Cussons records in his diary that this was 'an excellent sermon on Abraham offering up his son'; quoted in Nehemiah Curnock, ed. Journal of John Wesley (London: Epworth, 1915), 6:478.

⁸The Journal entry for this date states, 'I preached in the church at Quinton'. W. C. Sheldon, in WHS 5 (1905): 93, says there was no Anglican church at the Quinton near Birmingham until 1840, raising the question as to whether JW was, instead, in Quinton, Warwickshire. However, Quinton, Warwickshire, is some twenty-five miles (as the crow flies) from the Quinton near Birmingham, and the diary is clear that on this day JW traveled only an hour by coach from Birmingham. Reginald Ward suggests it might be the parish church at Halesowen (Works, 23:299 n 89).

¹⁰Orig., 'Hanly Green'.

¹⁶Ripley writes that JW 'taught us to number our days from Psalm 39.' The text in JW's diary is nearer the topic Ripley reports than Ps. 39 which Ripley cites.

¹⁸Atmore gives 2 Cor. 5:1–4.

¹⁹Ripley records this and the following four sermons; Gaskin, 'Ripley's Journal', 128–29

²⁰Ripley comments (129): '[This sermon] was such a blessing to us that we advised him to print it.' But no sermon from this text appears among JW's published sermons.

²¹Ripley (129) gives a brief outline of this sermon: 'In the evening his subject was "How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation?" 1st, not by lukewarmness; 2, desires; 3, not escape sin,—then 4, laying the blame on God; and 5, hell.'

²³Ripley records that in relation to this text: 'Mr. Wesley told us God often took [the righteous] away before calamitous seasons, and when gone employed them amongst the angels to minister to the heirs of salvation.' Gaskin, 'Ripley's Journal', 129.

²⁴At this point JW's diary and Journal entries are confusing. Ripley's diary helps somewhat to sort out the puzzle. He says: 'We got safe to a little place nigh Daw-green, to preach at eleven o'clock, in a new house where my good old father JW enforced the words of the Canaanitish woman, "Lord, keep me," with all the power of speech he was master of.' Gaskin, 'Ripley's Journal', 129.

²⁷JW left a blank space in his diary where the Scripture text is usually recorded. Ripley fills in the blank neatly: 'Tuesday morning at six, Mr. Wesley gave us an excellent discourse from this testimony, "We are not our own, therefore glorify God with your body and spirit, which are His".' Gaskin, 'Ripley's Journal', 131

³¹Ripley comments: 'At five this morning we had a learned discourse from 2 Cor. 5. ... Mr. Wesley showed some of Paul's philosophy, and it was profitable to many whose treasure is laid up in this building of God. I think I am going home to this heavenly city—and it is to prepare me for my residence there [that] Mr. Wesley has preached from so glorious testimony and to stir up the gift of God in me before we part. I bless God that I find my mind surprisingly resigned, and am enabled to say, "Thy will be done".'

³²The place of JW's preaching during July 21–23 cannot be determined with certainty; the diary is not specific. It does show that he was preparing for the upcoming Conference (which began at Leeds on the 27th). The most probable guess is that he had retired to the home of Mr. Hartley at Bingley.

³³Orig., 'Ecclesall'.

³⁵Edmundson's record of the seven identified sermons is in a fragment of his Commonplace book, published in WHS 9 (1914), 192–93.

³⁶Atmore records nine of the eleven sermons that JW lists as preached at the 1784 Conference at Leeds (Stamp, 'Atmore', 12–14). For this first sermon, he states that 'the chapel at Leeds was capable of containing a large number of people, yet I believe not one fourth the number gathered together to hear Mr. Wesley could enter; he therefore preached in a field adjoining to several thousands, on the judgment and the great day. All seemed to hear with distinctness'.

³⁷Edmundson cites the parallel text, Mark 12:30.

³⁸William Ripley's firsthand accounts usually confirm JW's diary entries. Ripley lists 1 Cor. 13, but his identification of three other sermons heard at the 1784 Conference at Leeds differs from JW's listed text (see Gaskin, 'Ripley's Journal', 132). He may have been picking up on other scriptures that JW used in developing his point. For example, Ripley reports he heard JW preach on 'It must needs be that offences will come—against holiness ... by the very preachers themselves'. This appears to allude to Matt. 18:7, but likely describes JW's sermon on Matt. 7:16, which concerns false prophets. Again, Ripley says that JW 'showed out of Rom. 8 how Jesus Christ fulfilled the law for us, and yet how the righteousness of the law is fulfilled in us, who walk not after the flesh but after the spirit'. This allusion to Romans was likely made in the sermons on Matt 22:37, 39, which stress love of God and neighbor as the fulfilling of the law. Finally, Ripley says that JW 'confuted the predestinarians' out of Job 25 (a text that hardly fits the topic). This was likely a mistake for the sermon on Jeremiah 35.

⁴²There is an interesting discrepancy here between the text JW records in his diary (2 Tim. 3:5, 'Having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof: from such turn away') and the one Atmore gives (p. 14) for JW's concluding sermon before the conference: 1 Tim. 4:16. JW's Journal has only, 'Our Conference concluded in much love, to the great disappointment of all.'

⁴⁵JW inadvertently omitted the chapter in his text for 4 a.m., which has here been supplied. From the 6:45 p.m. entry we know he was preaching from chapter one.

⁴⁶Orig., 'Ps. 144:16'. However, in both AV and BCP, Ps. 144 has only 15 vss. JW had preached from Ps. 144:15 earlier this year, on June 19 and August 24.

⁴⁷JW first entered 'Deut. 29:10', then underlined it for deletion and wrote 'Heb. 8:10' above the line. Realizing his mistake, he drew a line through 'Heb. 8:10' and made short vertical marks through the underline thus restoring the first text.

⁴⁸George Story was in Salisbury at this time and took down this sermon, mainly in shorthand; see Story, Papers, item #9 (a notebook that Story labeled P.x), last sermon in collection, starting on page numbered '25'.

⁵⁰The Journal and diary do not coincide at this point. For Friday, the 22nd, the Journal reads: 'I preached at High Wycombe about noon, and in the afternoon went on to London'. However, the diary shows that he did not reach High Wycombe until 12:30 p.m. on the 22nd. No noontime preaching occasion is recorded. Instead, he had dinner, worked on the Journal and the Arminian Magazine in the afternoon, and at 6:30 p.m. preached on John 4:24. He met the society, had supper and retired at 9:45 p.m. The next morning he preached at 5 a.m. from Phil. 4:7, had tea and took the London coach at 6:30 a.m., arriving at home just before noon.

⁵¹Atmore cites this and the next five sermons preached on the Norwich circuit; Stamp, 'Atmore', 15–16.

¹This is the text for the sermon JW had published the year before in the Arminian Magazine and eventually titled 'In What Sense we are to Leave the World'; see Works, 3:141–55.

²Orig., 'Mistley Thorn', which JW identifies in the Journal as a 'village near Manningtree'. Bartholomew lists it simply as Mistley.

⁶On this day JW had tea at the home of Joseph Burgess and his wife. In the evening they reported hearing him preach from, 'Fear God and honour the king' (1 Pet. 2:17); see Wesleyan Methodist Magazine 63 (1840): 542. JW's diary, however, gives his text as 2 Cor. 4:18.

⁷The Rev. William Gurley, subsequently of The Methodist Episcopal Church in America, wrote a firsthand account of this sermon which, he says, 'was from the whole thirteenth chapter of 1 Corinthians. It was a most able discourse, just the same as is printed'. Cf. Leonard B. Gurley, Memoir of the Rev. William Gurley (Cincinnati: for the author, 1849), 34. For the printed sermon, see Works, 3:292–307.

¹³On his first visit to Derryanvil, JW described it as 'a little village out of all road, surrounded with bogs, just like my old parish of Wroot, in Lincolnshire' (Journal, Apr. 15, 1769).

¹⁴Orig. 'The Grange.'

¹⁷In the Journal JW gives an account of this canal trip from Dublin to Prosperous and return under date of June 22–23, but the diary shows that the events described actually took place a week later on June 29–30.

²⁰In the Journal JW says, 'I preached both morning and evening on the education of children. I now spoke chiefly to the parents, informing them that I designed to speak to the children at five the next morning.' For his published sermon on this text and title, see Works, 3:347–60.

²¹JW gives 'Col. 3:10' as his text for this early morning sermon to the children. The text of his published sermon 'On Obedience to Parents' is Col. 3:20; see Works, 3:361–72.

²³Also called 'Copperhouse', located one mile east of Hayle. In the Journal JW says he 'preached at the copper-works near the [River] Hayle in the new preaching-house'. This was the Copperhouse Chapel.

²⁴In the Journal JW says that on this occasion he 'applied those solemn words, "One thing is needful"' (Luke 10:42, one of his favorite preaching texts). However, in the diary JW records that his text was John 4:24 ('God is a Spirit: and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth'). This serves to highlight one of the recurring problems in editing the record of JW's preaching. When we have both the diary and Journal accounts, occasionally (as here) they disagree, which means that in the Journal JW may be giving his sermon topic rather than his text. Generally, unless there is overwhelming evidence to the contrary, the diary text takes precedence.

²⁶This was JW's second visit to this ancient manor house which dates from the sixteenth century; the first was on September 3, 1778. Cathanger is near the village of Fivehead in Somerset.

²⁷Orig., 'Road'.

²⁸Orig., 'Stoke'.

²⁹Diary reads 'Ps. 74:14'. However, in the Journal JW says his text was Ps. 74:12, while he quotes vs. 13 (BCP); see also below, Apr. 22, 1787.

³¹This was JW's sermon on the death of his friend and 'designated successor', John Fletcher, vicar of Madeley, who had died August 14. JW wrote the sermon October 22–24 while in Norwich and preached it on this day in London. It was published almost immediately; see Works, 3:608–629.

³²JW first entered '1 Pet. 4:7!' He then crossed out the '4:7!' and entered '5:10'.

³³JW inadvertently omitted the chapter number. Although he had preached from chs. 1 and 4 on November 8, he was also preaching a series of sermons from ch. 2, vss. 11, 12 (on Nov. 7); vss. 13–15 (on Nov. 14); vs. 16 (Nov. 15); vs. 17 (on Nov. 17 and 18).

¹The meaning of the (4) is a bit unclear; while JW preached repeated on 2 Cor. 6:2, he never indicates a version (2) or (3) in surviving records.

⁵Orig., 'Ashton'.

⁶Orig., 'New Hall'. Red Hall chapel had been built for Methodist worship three years earlier.

⁷The diary seems to indicate that JW had returned to Manchester for this evening service but the location cannot be pinpointed with certainty.

⁸William Banning describes an occasion when JW 'engaged to preach a sermon to children in which no word should exceed two syllables. The time was fixed, the scholars of the Sunday school then in Bolton, together with the children of many families, hearers of the Methodists, had due notice. The chapel was the old chapel in Bolton, ... which was crowded in every part; the text was, 'Come, ye children, and hearken unto me, and I will teach you the fear of the Lord.' Cf. John Banning, Memoir of the late Mr. William Banning of Roach (Manchester: J. Thompson, 1855), 24–25. Banning does not give a date for these unusual sermon, and JW's diary never lists Ps.

34:11 as a text for Bolton. However, JW's Journal account of this day makes it the most likely time: 'The house was crowded the more because of five hundred and fifty children who are taught in our Sunday schools. Such an army of them got about me when I came out of the chapel that I could scarce disengage myself from them.' See the similar account below for a sermon in Newcastle on May 07, 1790.

¹¹John Barritt (MS Journal, 13) records, 'Mr. Wesley preached in the church, it being the Sabbath-day and the crowd of people was such that the church and churchyard and all the street was full of people up to the market-place'.

¹²Orig., 'Hoo Hoyle'.

¹⁵In the Journal JW states that Bramley was 'about four miles from Sheffield'; it was in fact four miles from Rotherham and ten miles from Sheffield.

¹⁸JW was traveling with Robert Carr Brackenbury and John Broadbent. They left London by coach at 7 a.m. on Tuesday, August 8, arriving in Harwich at 8 p.m. They went on board the Besborough packet between two and three the following afternoon and arrived at Hellevoetsluis, Holland, about four o'clock in the afternoon, Friday, August 11.

¹⁹We have two accounts of JW's return from Holland to England, his own and that of Sophie von la Roche, a German noblewoman who was also traveling the same route. Unfavorable weather did not allow embarkation on the day scheduled, Thursday, August 31st. Those awaiting passage were delayed at their inn in Hellevoetsluis until Saturday morning, September 2. Sophie gave the following report in her diary: 'There are now twenty-two of us, all sighing for a favourable wind; Wesley, the leader of the Methodists, ... [is] a venerable old man, and very understanding, who speaks well of everything and at the immense age of 83 enjoys complete good health. His disciples, charming young men of twenty or thereabouts, do not talk at all and mostly remain in his room with him. ... After the dinner-bell had sounded we assembled, and the Methodists straightway gave us a proof of their stern practices; for when we had taken our places Wesley began to pray. The good language-master was holding a discussion by the window, and was not at once aware of the prayers, when suddenly Wesley reproached him in the most violent manner, accusing him of lack of piety and righteousness. The poor man was very embarrassed; and old Wesley found it difficult to resume his sermonising'. JW's Journal account: 'We found company enough in our inn at Hellevoetsluis, genteel, good-natured, and sensible; but finding our conversation was not suited to their taste, we only dined with them' Sophie continued, 'All the English hold Wesley and his disciples in high esteem; and he told me "he reckoned his congregation at more than 70,000 souls".' Into the voyage she wrote that the ship's captain and the sailors 'all paid Wesley and his disciples great respect. ... He preached a very fine sermon about the need for death and the danger of life, which was very well chosen and adapted to the storm'. JW says 'between two and three in the afternoon, [I preached] on, "It is appointed unto men once to die"; and I believe all were affected for the present'. Sophie also reported that during the voyage JW 'sat and read Virgil, with spectacles, in an Elzevir edition. Heavens! I thought, if the Methodists' principles keep their sight as clear as that to the age of 83, then I wish I had been educated in their sect; for since their chief reads Virgil on the high seas, I too might have read my favourite works without damnation'. After the ship arrived at Harwich on Monday, September 4, about nine in the morning, Sophie wrote, 'We took tea with our charming traveling companions for the last time; ... Miss Lake divided a jasmine flower with me which she had just received with Mr. Wesley's blessing'. Cf. Sophie in London, 1786, being the Diary of Sophie v. la Roche (London: Jonathan Cape, 1933), 66–81.

²⁰In the Journal JW says he 'preached on Ps. 29:9, 10'. In the BCP these are the last two verses in the chapter.

²¹Orig., 'Tit. 1:19', but none of the three chapters in the Book of Titus has 19 vss.

²²JW's diary becomes confused following Monday, Nov. 20th. He dates Tuesday the 22nd rather than the 21st, and he does not rectify the mistake until Saturday, Nov. 25 (by dating both Friday and Saturday as the 25th). Sunday he dates correctly (the 26th), but he then omits the date for the entry for Monday the 27th. He dates the next entry Tuesday the 28th, but it is, in fact, the entry for Wednesday the 29th (his having made no entry at all for Tuesday). The entry for Thursday, the 30th, follows, also undated. The Journal supplies his activities for Tuesday the 28th by stating, 'About noon I preached at Caistor, a little town twenty miles east of Norwich [it is on the coast about 3 miles north of Great Yarmouth]. The house at Yarmouth was thoroughly filled in the evening'. Neither of the preaching texts used on these two occasions appears in the Journal.

²³In the diary Dec. 11 is recorded out of sequence. The entry for Sunday, Dec. 10, begins at the bottom of a page and runs over to the top of the next. The first full entry there, however, is Tuesday, Dec. 12. Activities for Monday, Dec. 11 were recorded between those for Dec. 15 and 16.

²⁴This was a famous Presbyterian edifice in Meeting-house Court noted for many Nonconformist lectureships. The congregation moved to Jewin Street in 1808.

³'Rom. 8:13' in SR2.

⁵'Rom. 13:11' in SR2.

⁷According to the printed 'Plan for the Preachers in London', JW should have preached at City Road on this Sunday, but the diary puts the service at Spitalfields.

¹¹In the diary JW first wrote 'Matt. 20:16' as his text for the 6:30 p.m. service. Realizing that he had mistakenly entered the wrong text for this date, he drew a line through it and wrote 'Mark 4:3' above. Matt. 20:16 was the text for 6:30 p.m. on the following day (which see).

¹²The diary for this date is confused; part of the entry, including two texts (Matt. 25:1, etc., and Matthew 8:29), has been marked through and 'Gal. 6:14' written above. Gal. 6:14 is not listed for Newark in SR2 which has instead Matt. 9:6 and Matt. 8:2.

¹³Diary reads 'Mark 3:31' (not much of a preaching text), corrected in SR2 to 'Mark 3:35'. JW repeated this mistake twice more in the diary. See below, June 9, 1788, at Barnard Castle (when SR2 corrects with Mark 3:35), and Mar. 19, 1789, at Worcester. Although no sermon register is extant for this 1789 entry, one can presume the correct text to be Mark 3:35.

¹⁴'Psa 90:1, 2' in SR2. This was likely JW's sermon on Psalm 90:2 published in the Arminian Magazine in 1786, eventually titled 'On Eternity'; see Works, 2:358–72.

¹⁸Listed in error in SR2 as '2 Pet. 4, ad fin'. 2 Peter does not have 4 chs.

¹⁹SR2 lists as '1 Pet. 1:14, etc.', not the best text for a funeral sermon which this was (for Sarah Bulgin).

²⁰'1 Cor. 13:1' in SR2.

²²Diary entry confirmed by SR2. By contrast the Journal quotes Isa. 53:6, 7.

²³SR 2 reads '1 Cor. 13:1'.

²⁴'Lane End' in both diary and SR2.

²⁵During this trip to Congleton JW visited Mr. Troutbeck, who was on his deathbed (diary). The gentleman died three days later, Apr. 3. Dyson (Congleton Circuit, 102) reports that JW preached Troutbeck's funeral sermon on 'Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord' (Rev. 14:13). However, by the time Mr. Troutbeck died, JW was in Manchester. The diary has no record of a return to Congleton for such a service or of JW's having preached from Rev. 14:13 at this time.

²⁷Listed in SR2 under Stourport.

²⁸The Methodist preaching house opened on Gravel Walk (later known as Blackhall Place) in July 1770.

²⁹A chapel opened in 1786 by William Smyth, a Dublin goldsmith and friend of JW and other evangelicals.

³⁰This text and the following are listed in SR2 under 'Prosperous'.

³⁴In the Journal JW says of this occasion, 'for the sake of good old Matthew Moore, ... I preached in his parlour'.

⁴¹SR2 reads 'Acts 16:35'.

⁴⁵JW had been granted permission from the bishop to preach in the church, but one of the parishioners ('a warm Seceder') took away the key, so he preached instead in a nearby orchard. Crookshank (Ireland, 1:433) states that among those present on this occasion was Miss Mary Drew (subsequently Mrs. Keys) who resolved to identify herself with the Methodists after hearing JW preach on John 3:16. This text, however, is not verified by JW's diary which gives Prov. 3:17 as his text. As a matter of record, JW seldom preached on John 3:16, using it only five times throughout his long ministry: Christmas Day, 1761 (at the Foundery); twice on Christmas Day, 1782 (at City Road and West Street Chapel); July 11, 1759 (York); and Apr. 1, 1790 (Stockport).

⁴⁶This text is listed in the diary for the 6:30 p.m. service (as is Eph. 3:14 on the day following). In the Journal, however, JW reports that Mr. Broadbent preached the evening services both days.

⁴⁷Diary and SR2 both read 'Newtown'.

⁴⁸This text and the following were recorded under 'Bedford' in SR2. 'Belfast' is listed but no texts were entered for it. Following the two texts here, JW drew a vertical line and entered two texts for Bedford, which he preached from on Nov. 19–20, 1788 (which see).

⁴⁹SR2 gives 'Luke 24:34'. JW used both texts on occasion.

⁵⁰Diary reads 'Job 21:22', a transposition of chapter and verse. In the Journal JW says he preached on 'Acquaint now thyself with Him, and be at peace' (Job 22:21), and this is the text given in SR2 (which also lists the following text, Rom. 1:16). JW makes the same mistake on Mar. 26, 1790, where he records Job 21:22 in the diary but quotes Job 22:21 in the Journal. For other possible transpositions of this text, see Apr. 3, 1789, and note.

⁵¹In SR2 this text and the following for Dungannon are listed under 'Dumesnave' (i.e., 'Drumsna'); however, JW did not visit Drumsna in 1787. He was at Dungannon as the diary shows.

⁵⁴Diary reads '2 Cor. 15:55', an inadvertent error. Second Corinthians does not have fifteen chapters. First Corinthians does have, and 1 Cor. 15:55 was a text JW used upon occasion. In the Journal JW mistakenly places this sermon on the following day.

⁵⁵The text here appears in SR2 among the 1787 entries for Stockport—which are listed under Stourport! So also are the two entries which follow for Stockport.

⁵⁷SR2 has 'Matt. 5:42'.

⁵⁹In SR2 this text and the two following are listed under Bolton. But JW was at Manchester for the annual Conference, and wrote letters dated from Manchester at this time.

⁶¹In the Journal JW says, 'We quickly went on to Mr. De Jersey's hardly a mile from town...'—i.e., St. Peter Port. Mon Plaisir was the 60-acre fruit and cider farm of Henri de Jersey.

⁶²The Methodist 'preaching house' in Les Terres was a room in the house of Mr. Walker, a soapboiler; cf. WHS 7 (1909): 40.

⁶³The Journal adds confusion here when JW says, 'Joseph Bradford preached at six in the morning at Mon Plaisir les Terres. I preached at half an hour past eight'. Mon Plaisir and Les Terres are not only separate places but are at opposite ends of the town.

⁶⁴In the Journal JW says he preached on 1 Cor. 1:24, but the text in the diary is Isa. 35:8. He did preach on 1 Cor. 1:24 on the 27th.

⁷⁷SR2 reads 'Heb. 4:1'.

⁷⁹Diary seems to imply that JW was at Brentford, but SR2 lists this text under Wapping.

⁸⁰SR2 lists text under West Street Chapel.

⁸²This was a charity sermon for the General Hospital. A sum of £14.6s.10 3/4d was collected. See above, Apr. 6, 1783, and note.

⁸⁴Listed in SR2 as 'Heb. 20:22', but Hebrews has only 13 chapters. Heb. 13:22 was a text JW used occasionally from 1783 onward. This text appears in SR2 under Spitalfields, but JW always preached at Snowsfields chapel on Saturday evenings.

⁸⁵'Rom. 13:11' in SR2.

⁸⁶Probably preached at West Street Chapel.

⁸⁷Location given in SR2.

⁸⁸This is the sermon JW preached at City Road Chapel when, on coming downstairs at 5:30 a.m. on Sunday morning and finding none of the three or four preachers in the house awake and ready to preach, 'I preached myself'.

⁸⁹Transposed in SR2 as 'Isa. 4:5', a text JW never used.

⁹⁰Appears in SR2 under City Road Chapel. A transcript of this sermon, made by one of JW's listeners on this occasion, is in the library at Drew University, Madison, New Jersey. A pdf copy of the original manuscript is available online: <http://www.atla.com/CDRIImages/WESLEYMS/00000337.pdf>. It has been reproduced preceding JW's published sermon on this text, 'On Charity', in Works, 3:290–92.

⁹²Both diary and SR2 list Matt. 1:29, but the first chapter of Matthew has only 25 vss. Most probably JW's text was Matt. 1:23; see Dec. 25, 1789.

⁹³Diary reads 'John 12:21', most likely an error since there is no other record that JW used John 12:21. SR2 lists 'John 14:21' under City Road Chapel.

⁹⁴SR2 and the summary of texts at the bottom of the diary page both read 'Prov. 24:14' (a text that JW did not use elsewhere). The text given in the actual diary entry, however, is 'Prov. 28:14'. Since this was the Feast Day of St. Stephen the Martyr, the First Lesson for which was Proverbs 28, the diary text would appear to be correct.

⁹⁵JW had preached two charity sermons on this text at West Street Chapel on Nov 25 of this year and was most likely repeating the same at City Road on Dec 30.

⁹⁶The thirty-four texts which follow are from SR2 and have no equivalents in the diary for the places indicated. They are not dated in SR2 except by year—and even that (whether 1787 or 1788) is conjectural. Possible dates are as follows: Bath, Mar 6 or 7, 1787; Bolton, Aug 3, 1787; Bristol, Mar or Oct, 1787; Bury, Aug 1, 1787; Castlebar, May 21, 1787; Chatham, Oct 26, 1787; Coleford (Somerset), Sept 27, 1787; Derryanvil, ca. June 14, 1787 (when JW was near Tandragee); Downpatrick, June 12–13, 1787; Dublin, April or July, 1787; Frome, Sept 16, 1787; London, Jan and Feb, part of Oct, and Nov 13–Dec 31, 1787; Longford, Ireland, Apr 19, 1787; Newark-on-Trent, Feb 11, 1787; St. Helier, Aug 25–26, 1787.

¹Diary and SR2 both read 'Rom. 6:24', but Rom. 6 has only 23 vss. JW preached from Rom. 6:23 on occasion throughout his ministry.

⁴JW had gone to visit the Wolffs at Balham on Jan 14 to work on his forthcoming Sermons on Several Occasions (vols. 5–8), which would be published this year, returning to London on Jan 18.

⁵SR2 gives '1 Cor. 5:11, 12' as a text for Spitalfields—a probable error for '1 Cor. 3:11, 12' in the diary. JW preached only once on 1 Cor. 5:11 (Jan. 17, 1760, at West Street Chapel). While 1 Cor. 3:11 could not be called a favorite text, JW did use it occasionally.

⁶Location provided by SR2.

⁷SR2 reads 'Matt. 25:36'. If it is the later, it would be the text of JW's published sermon 'On Visiting the Sick', which first appeared in the Arminian Magazine in 1786; see Works, 3:384–97.

⁸SR2 lists under Spitalfields, which may be in error since JW usually preached at West Street on second and fourth Sundays.

⁹SR2 lists 'Rom. 8:31' for Rotherhithe.

¹⁰SR2 reads '1 Thess. 4:7'.

¹¹In the diary for this date JW first recorded 'Luke 19:44', which he crossed out and then wrote something above that is illegible except for what possibly could be read as '72'. He preached on occasion from Luke 1:72, most recently on Feb. 9.

¹²Listed in SR2 under Spitalfields; diary gives West Street.

¹³This may be the listing for 'Gal. 2:8' in SR2 under City Road Chapel.

¹⁴Listed in SR2 under Spitalfields.

¹⁵SR2 reads 'Eph. 5:17, etc.', a text JW never used. And, this is the only recorded use of Eph. 3:17. But the Second Lesson for Evening Prayer for Feb 26 is Eph. 3.

¹⁶SR2 reads 'Gen. 9:25'. In the Journal JW says 'I gave notice of my design to preach ... upon (what is now the general topic) slavery.'

¹⁷Text appears twice under Kingswood in SR2, the second of which is probably a duplication. JW also preached on Mark 9:23 at Bristol, but SR2 has that listing under Bristol.

¹⁸JW preached on this text frequently throughout his ministry. In these final years he identifies at least three sermons based on the text. This second version may be the one published in the Arminian Magazine in 1789; see Works, 4:28–38.

¹⁹JW wrote a letter on this day to Sarah Mallet which he dated from Bath; however, the diary does not indicate travel to and from Bath at this time. It shows, instead, that JW visited classes in Bristol both morning and afternoon of Mar. 11. He definitely was in Bristol on both Mar. 10 and 12. In SR2 the text is given as 'Jam 2:21'.

²¹SR2: 'The Mayor's Chappel'. Journal: 'I was invited by the mayor, Mr. Edgar, to preach in his chapel. ... I explained and applied that awful passage of Scripture, the history of Dives and Lazarus.'

²⁴This is the text for JW's published sermon 'On the Trinity'. Mary Bousanquet Fletcher records of this oral preaching: 'In preaching on the Trinity, he observed it was our duty to believe according to the Word of God. But we were not called to comprehend; that was impossible. Bring me, he said, a worm that can comprehend a man; I will show you a man that can comprehend God. He observed that if three candles were burning in a room, the light was but one.' Henry Moore, Life of Mrs. Mary Fletcher (Birmingham, 1817), 280–81.

³⁷'Only' in both diary and SR2.

³⁸Listed in SR2 with texts for Huddersfield.

⁴⁰The Gentleman's Magazine 58 (1788), 557, confirms the text and reports 'He alarmed some weak minds, by reading Bengelius's opinion, not that the world would then end, but that the millennium reign of Christ would be in the year 1836.' Felix Farley's Bristol Journal (May 31, 1788), p. 1, also notes the text and reports 'He enforced this awful doctrine with uncommon energy, assuring his audience that the world would be at an end in the year 1836. But he intimated that a new world would succeed the old one, far better and infinitely more enlightened, in which there would be no more false teachers – no hypocrites, but universal holiness and angelic purity.' See JW's letter to Christopher Hopper (June 3, 1788) which responds to these reports.

⁴³In SR2 under 'Dunbar'; Dumfries itself is not listed.

⁴⁶'Heb. 6:6' in SR2, a text JW never used.

⁴⁷Diary is unmistakable. In the Journal, however, JW wrote that he preached on Matt. 26 before leaving Alnwick for Morpeth. Neither text is listed among those for Alnwick in SR2.

⁴⁸SR2 reads '1 Cor. 1:24'.

⁵⁰'Monk Wearmouth' under the 'Ws' in SR2.

⁵¹Diary: 'Walsingha[m]'.

⁵²Listed under Newcastle in SR2.

⁵⁴SR2 reads 'Heb. 11:40'—a mistake possibly caused by JW's misreading his diary entry while making up the sermon register. Immediately following verse '11' in the diary, 'visited' was entered in shorthand which at a quick glance or in dim light might have been read '40'.

⁶²Orig. 'Newbey'. Newbig was a village 1.5 mi W of Haxey; as found in W. B. Stonehouse, History and Topography of the Isle of Axholme (London, 1839). It no longer exists and does not appear on the current Ordnance Survey map or in Bartholomew.

⁶³'1 Pet. 4:11' in SR2.

⁶⁴'Luke 10:42' in SR2, a mistake JW repeats, below, on July 7 at Finningley. JW preached from both Luke 10:42 and 19:42.

⁶⁵This was the Raithby 2 miles W of Spilsby, where Robert Carr Brackenbury had built a residence in 1779, near which he also built a chapel. JW first preached in Raithby on July 5, 1779, and again on June 15, 1780, but on neither occasion did he record his texts in the Journal and the diary for these dates is not extant. The text for this visit was recorded in both the diary and SR2.

⁶⁸Again, 'Luke 10:42' in SR2; see above, July 2 at Langham Row.

⁶⁹In the diary JW first wrote 'Job 22:21', then marked through it and entered '1 Pet. 4:7'.

⁷⁰This was a charity sermon preached for the benefit of the General Hospital at Nottingham. £5 were collected which JW delivered the next morning on his arrival in Nottingham. See WHS 5 (1906): 164–65; and above, Apr. 6, 1783, and note.

⁷¹'Rev. 14:1' in SR2.

⁷²Stamp, 'Atmore', 112.

⁷³Recorded in SR2 under Spitalfields as 'Luke 9:42'.

⁷⁵Atmore cites vs. 17

⁷⁶This is the text of JW's sermon 'Prophets and Priests', which was published without title in the Arminian Magazine in 1790; see Works, 4:72–84.

⁷⁷Atmore gives this text as the one JW used on the evening of Aug. 1; JW records it for the morning service on Aug. 3 (ibid.).

⁷⁸Atmore gives JW's text for this occasion as 1 Tim. 6:12.

⁷⁹Text not listed under West Street in SR2 but it does appear under Spitalfields. The Journal places the service at West Street.

⁸⁶'Matt. 19:3' in SR2.

⁸⁸SR2 reads 'Matt. 6:14'.

⁸⁹SR2 reads 'Gen. 17:1', quite possibly the correct text (JW had used it on occasion since 1746). But this raises an interesting question. After JW's long ministry, this is the first recording of his use of Gen. 19:1 which the SR2 seems to indicate was a mistaken entry for Gen. 17:1. In the following year there are four other occasions in the diary when JW recorded that he preached on Gen. 19:1 (Mar 17 and 31, May 7 and July 16, 1789). Were these also mistaken entries for Gen. 17:1? Without a sermon register 'control' and no help from the Journal, the question remains unresolved.

⁹⁰Diary and SR2 read 'Deerham'. East Dereham, Norfolk, was on JW's route between King's Lynn and Norwich by way of Swaffham. West Dereham, also in Norfolk, is a village 3 miles SE of Downham Market.

⁹¹SR2 and Journal read 'John 17:3'.

⁹²'Matt. 20:4' in SR2.

⁹⁴This text and the following for Lowestoft appear in SR2 under 'Lowth' (i.e., Louth). Lowestoft itself was not listed in SR2.

⁹⁵Also listed under Louth in SR2.

⁹⁶Diary: '1 Cor. 5:19', but 1 Cor. 5 does not have 19 vss. 2 Cor. 5:19 was a favorite text of JW's.

⁹⁷Listed in SR2 under City Road Chapel.

¹⁰⁰Listed in SR2 under Spitalfields, but the Journal and JW's usual preaching plan for the second Sunday in the month confirm that the text was preached at West Street.

¹⁰¹The text in diary has been effaced leaving the entry almost illegible. However, '40' has been inserted above the line before a '1', indicating chapter 40, verse 1. The SR2 confirms the text as 'Isa. 40:1'.

¹⁰³Listed in SR2 under Margate.

¹⁰⁴JW had preached from Isa. 5:4 fairly often. The (2) may indicate he is preaching the sermon he published this same year as 'On God's Vineyard' in the Arminian Magazine; see Works, 3:502–17.

¹⁰⁵This sermon may have been similar to JW's sermon on Psalm 73:20, published in the Arminian Magazine in 1791, which Joseph Benson titled 'Human Life a Dream', see Works, 4, 108–19.

¹⁰⁶SR2 cites 'Rom. 13:11'.

¹⁰⁷Listed under Spitalfields in SR2, possibly an error, since JW usually preached at West Street Chapel both morning and evening on the second and fourth Sundays in the month.

¹¹⁰The forty-one texts which follow are from SR2 and have no equivalents in the diary for the places indicated. They are not dated in SR2 except an indication of the year (not always accurate); they probably belong to 1788 rather than 1787 although the matter is open to question. Possible dates are as follows: Alnwick, May 24–26, 1788; Bath, Mar 1–2, 1788; Beverley, June 19–20, 1788; Bristol, Sept, 1788; Burslem, Apr 1, 1788; Carmarthen, August 18–19, 1788; Colne, Apr 25, or possibly late July, 1788; Darlaston, Mar 26–27, 1788; Doncaster, July 8, 1788; Dudley, after Mar 27, 1788; Godmanchester, Nov 21, 1788; Liverpool, Apr 17, 1788; London, Jan 5–Feb 28, July 16–Aug 11, Oct 23–Dec 31, 1788 (with brief periods away from London excepted); Madeley, Mar 31, 1788; Norwich, Oct 6, 1788; Oxford, Oct 15, 1788; Sheffield, July 10, 1788; Wolverhampton, Mar 28, 1788.

²This is JW's text for his sermon written about this time and published the following year in the Arminian Magazine, which was titled 'The Unity of the Divine Being' by Joseph Benson; see Works, 4:60–71.

⁴JW's diary entries are confused and out of order between Friday, Feb. 27, and Saturday, Mar. 7. He recorded no data for Saturday, Feb. 28. Instead, the entry for Sunday, Mar. 1, is dated 'Sat. 28'. Monday, Mar. 2 is incorrectly dated 'March 1'. The entry for Tuesday, Mar. 3, bears no date at all. The entries for Wednesday and Thursday are inverted and dated a day behind—i.e., JW entered data for 'Thur. 4' (instead of the 5th) before data for 'Wed. 3' (instead of the 4th). And there is no entry for Friday, March 6.

⁶Diary reads 'Mark 3:31'. On two previous occasions JW had recorded Mark 3:31 in the diary (Feb. 15, 1787, at Deptford, and June 9, 1788, at Barnard Castle), but in each case SR2 gives Mark 3:35 instead. We have no SR2 control for this third listing of Mark 3:31 in the diary, but one can assume that here, too, Mark 3:35 was probably the text used. Mark 3:31 (which is not a very likely preaching text) does not appear elsewhere, while JW preached from Mark 3:35 more than forty-five times between 1783–90.

⁸Job 21:22 appears only four times in JW's preaching, perhaps five (see June 18, 1789, and note). But in these instances one wonders if JW were again transposing chapter and verse as he did on June 12, 1787 (which see). See below, June 8, and Aug. 19, 1789, and Dec. 1, 1790.

⁹See above, Apr. 6, 1787, and note.

¹¹John Barritt gives an account in his journal of a sermon JW preached on this text 'in a barn'. Whether Barritt was present at Enniscorthy on this day when JW preached on Isa. 35:8 is not certain. However, this is the only instance cited in JW's diary and Journal when he used Isa. 35:8 in such a setting. JW wrote, 'I preached [in Enniscorthy] in the place prepared for me, which was a large, though not very elegant, cow-house.'

Barritt records (MS Journal, 13–15): 'I admired Mr. Wesley's preaching very much. Sometimes he preached in a learned style in churches and among the great ones, and when he came among simple people he laid all his greatness aside. At one place in a barn filled with cottagers he took for his text the words of the Prophet, "a way shall be there and a way and it shall be called the way of holiness." He began by saying, "Love is the way to heaven." He then interrogated the people by saying, "But you will say, how can we know when we love God?" He said, "I ask you men, how do you know when you love your wives? Ye wives, how do you know when you love your husbands? Ye parents, how do you know when you love your children?" Then he said, "You answer, I feel it." He then said, "That is right, 'tis better felt than explained". And he went on to show the people what steps they must take in order to gain the love of God, and exhorted them to continue in the love as the way to happiness here and forever.' JW had used this theme for more than fifty years. See his 'account of himself' in his Journal, Jan. 4, 1739 (Works, 19:30). For other firsthand accounts of JW by John Barritt, see above, Apr. 19, 1786 (at Southfield), and below, Aug. 4, 1790 (at Bristol).

¹³The Journal entry does not agree with the text in the diary: 'In the evening I preached on Luke 8:24, and the word was as fire; it pierced to the dividing of soul and spirit, joints and marrow'.

¹⁹The diary reads '18:22', a clear error. JW quotes vs. 21 in the Journal.

²⁰Orig. quite ambiguous. The entry appears to be 'Job 21:1' (at the end of one line) with '2' or '22' on the next. The best guess is that he was attempting to write 'Job 21:22' while actually preaching on Job 22:21. See above Apr. 3, 1789, and note.

²¹Orig., 'Shields'.

²²This was the Second Sunday after Trinity. The Epistle was 1 John 3:13 which went on to include JW's text on this day.

²⁴JW preached on Jer. 8:22 throughout his ministry. The (2) may indicate that he is here preaching the sermon he published this year in the Arminian Magazine; see Works, 4:85–96.

²⁵Miss Charity Freeman was present on this occasion and gave a firsthand account of this service: 'Mr. JW's text in the forenoon was "Behold I make all things new"' (Rev. 21:5); see 'Journal of Miss Charity Freeman', in WHS 23 (1942): 102.

²⁹Atmore cites 1 Cor. 9:21, 22

³⁰Atmore cites vs. 20

³¹Sarah Wesley Jr. commented on this sermon in a letter to Penelope Maitland (Oxford, Bodleian Library, MS Eng. Misc. c. 502, ff. 54–55), "[he] looked amazing well—some symptoms of declining strength I thought I could perceive, but not in his faculties. His classic powers and scriptural memory continue in all their vigour, and his philanthropy. ... I wished all those who misunderstood or misrepresented his doctrines could have heard him. There was something particularly affecting and edifying in an aged minister, so near the haven, 'full of good works without hypocrisy'—preserved as he has been through so many years of toil and trouble and temptation, exhorting his flock, those whom he believed the furthest advanced in grace, to watchfulness, pointing out with the deepest humility the dangers even to the last, of being 'weary of well-doing'. After preaching twice, meeting societies, and administering the sacrament to thousands, he set off in the mail coach to Bristol and Plymouth."

³²Diary appears to read 'No. 23:33', but Num. 23 has only 30 vss. Num. 23:23 was a favorite text.

³³In the Journal JW says, 'I preached in the afternoon ... on part of the Gospel for the day'. This was the Tenth Sunday after Trinity Sunday.

³⁷This was JW's last service in Cornwall.

³⁹Orig. 'Ez. 18:33', but Ezek. 18 has only 32 verses. In the Journal JW quotes Ezek. 18:31 as his text.

⁴⁰A discrepancy exists between diary and Journal: 'The audience at Portsmouth Common in the evening were of another kind, to whom, therefore, I spake in quite another manner from Eph. 3:14, etc..'

⁴²In the Journal JW says that All Saints' Day was 'a day I peculiarly love' and records that his text was Rev. 7:1.

⁴³JW had first entered 'Matt. 22:12' as his text but marked through it. Of the corrected text only chapter and verse are legible ('35:8'). The Book of Isaiah is the most likely candidate for this particular combination and has been here supplied.

¹JW's 'last' diary (which begins Feb. 1, 1790, and ends with the entry for Feb. 23, 1791, a week before his death) presents a multitude of problems for the would be reader. At eighty-six his hand has become increasingly unsteady, he fails to trim his pen which results in heavy, blunt strokes, with occasional ink blots, he crowds entries together, and often runs one line into another. In a memorandum inserted before the entry for Aug. 1, 1790, he admits 'my sight fails me much'. At times, his scripture text entries are confused by transpositions thus recording a text that either does not exist or one that does not seem feasible for preaching. Some of these can be sorted out (by Journal entries, first-hand accounts, or other evidence such as frequency of use, etc.); some remain enigmas. Among much else, these last diary pages show JW's continuing commitment to recording his daily activities, giving a faithful account of his lifelong quest of 'saving souls'.

²This is the first record of JW preaching on this text. He wrote a sermon on it in April 1790, which was then published in 1792 in the Arminian Magazine; see Works, 4:149–60

⁵'I preached to a select congregation on the deep things of God.' The allusion is to 1 Cor. 2:10, but it likely indicates the sermon JW had been preaching regularly on 1 Cor. 2:2ff.

⁶Orig., 'Job 21:22', a transposition of chapter and verse (the Journal quotes Job 22:21 as the text). This had also occurred on June 12, 1787 (see note), and perhaps at other times as well (see Apr. 3, 1789 and note).

¹¹Orig., 'Matt. 7:42', but the seventh chapter of Matthew does not have forty-two verses. Apparently JW transposed the numbers in the verse. Matt. 7:24 was a text he used frequently.

¹³Charles Atmore records these six sermons preached during JW's last visit to Newcastle; Stamp, 'Atmore', 120.

¹⁴Atmore describes this sermon as 'literally composed and delivered in words of not more than two syllables'; see also Apr. 16, 1786, at Bolton, and note.

¹⁵Atmore cites Phil. 3:7, a text JW records having used only once (Nov. 11, 1739, at Fetter Lane). Phil. 4:7, given here by JW, was clearly his preferred text.

¹⁸Although the diary offers no clue to the place where JW preached on this text, Haddington is the most probable choice. JW had preached here on occasion, at least twice in 'Provost Dickson's parlour' (cf. Journal, May 12, 1761, and May 25, 1764). His route between Dunbar and Tranent could have taken him instead to North Berwick, but since JW had preached here only once (May 12, 1761), evidence for Haddington is stronger.

²⁴JW records in his diary the previous nine texts of sermons he preached during the 1790 Conference, convened in Bristol on July 27th. John Barritt attended this Conference and provides an independent account of one other possible sermon, saying JW 'preached just before the Conference broke up from the following words, "As ye have therefore received Christ Jesus the Lord, so walk ye in Him". He particularly spoke of the spirit Christians are in when they first receive Christ. He said how loving, how humble, how thankful, and how attentive they are to all the means of grace. Then he exhorted us to walk in him, to continue in the same spirit and the same diligence to the end.' This may be an additional sermon, or may show how JW developed the sermon he cited as on 'Rev. 21:5'. For other firsthand accounts by John Barritt, see above, Apr. 19, 1786, and Apr. 27, 1789.

²⁷Orig., 'Roach'.

²⁸Llandaff Court (now the Cathedral School) was the home of Thomas Mathews who had married Diana, daughter of Robert and Mary Jones of Fonmon. JW preached here on occasion; e.g., see above, Aug. 27, 1763, and Aug. 16, 1774. See also Williams, Wesley in Wales, pp. 67, 97, 127, and notes.

³¹James Rogers provides an independent account of this first sermon on JW's return to London. Rogers, Experience, 44.

³²Hester Ann Rogers reports, 'I heard Mr. Wesley preach in Spitalfields Chapel with great liberty, from Eph. 6:11, "Put on the whole armour of God". I never heard a Christian armour so described before. In the course of his sermon he introduced an account of a French marshal, a very wicked man, but a great warrior, who in the blaze of battle lifted up his hand toward heaven, and swore by his Maker, he would never quit the field while there was an Englishman alive in it! He was harnessed with steel, but while pronouncing the oath, with his arm extended, a musket ball entering the joints of the harness shot him in the arm pit, and down he fell. Mr. Wesley showed, in the beautiful contrast, that the Christian being armed with the panoply of God, i.e. his whole armour, no such part is left exposed, but the whole soul is covered and defended against every fiery dart of our common enemy, the devil.' Thomas Coke, The Character and Death of Mrs. Hester Ann Rogers (London: George Story, 1794), 68.

⁴The (2) likely reflects that JW is preaching here the sermon that was published on this text after his death, in the Arminian Magazine in 1792; see Works, 4:161–67.

⁵Elizabeth Ritchie prepared a short account of JW's last days that was published as a four-page broadsheet on March 8, 1791. Ritchie's account is reproduced in Curnock, 8:132.

⁶James Rogers was the assistant (lay preacher) assigned to London at this time. He provides an independent account of JW's last four public sermons; cf. Rogers, Experience, 45–46.

⁸This was the last text which JW recorded in the diary—and the last sermon he preached. He died exactly a week later, on March 2, 1791, at the age of eighty-eight.
