Course Description

This course will expose students to human social structures (family, tribe, nation, etc.) and various social problems (war, racial conflict, abuse of the environment, violence, injustice, divorce, exploitation, AIDS, etc.). The student as a minister of the Gospel will be able to understand and respond to these different problems.

Course Rationale

Narration

The African pastor in the 21st century will have the challenge of entering the ministry in a very complicated situation with the possibilities of economic growth or decline among church members who come from a long history of exploitation and even violence in African society. The Church of the Nazarene believes divine redemption, made possible through Jesus Christ upon the cross, aims at changing the social structures and problems which are the residue of the spiritual condition of the sinner. At least, the pastor should know how to care for others who are victim of various injustices. Since Jesus called us to be the salt of the earth and light of the world (Matt 5:13-14), effective pastors should be aware of the resources available to create a safe environment of love and peace in which true reconciliation promotes just governments at all levels of society as a testimony of the grace of God for all humanity.

Program Outcomes

The following program outcomes assigned to this module are identifiable competencies required of the student in this course:

- CN 4 Appreciation of the theological foundations of the Christian faith from the Biblical point-of-view when read from a Wesleyan perspective
- CN 5 Realization of the biblical, theological, and practical implications of holiness doctrine when taught from a Wesleyan perspective
- CN 7 Appreciation of the mission, history, and government of the Church of the Nazarene and its place in the larger Christian community
- CN 12 Consider the application of Christian morality in daily life
- CN 13 Learn the principles of interpersonal relations
- CP 3 Ability to defend the doctrines and positions of the Church of the Nazarene
- CP 8 Ability to provide pastoral care through visiting the sick, important rites of passage, and give Biblical counseling
- CP 9 Ability to guide people toward reconciliation
- CR 2 Ability to show sexual purity before and after marriage and apply principles of marriage to the Christian family
- CR 6 Ability to give value to relationships through openness, righteousness, and honesty
- CR 9 Ability to engage in continuing formation and education
- CR 10 Ability to set an example of Christian stewardship
- CX 2 Ability to understand the context within which he or she lives with objectivity
- CX 5 Ability to interpret on a scientific and biblical bases the Christian position on magic, spiritism, medicine and traditional healing

Course Outcomes for this Module

For achieving the competencies listed above, this module organizes several learning activities and requirements around the following intended learning outcomes for this course.

At the end of the course, the student will be able to:

- 1. Define the concepts of society and culture and their role in the believer's life (CN 12);
- 2. Understand the various structures of society—family, government, economy, education, etc.—and explain the Christian perspective on each of these structures (CN 4, CN 12, CN 13; CP 3);
- 3. Explain the major problems found in society within this cultural context (polygamy, civil war, racial conflicts, violence, injustice, exploitation, etc.) as the result of original sin coming to life as systemic evil and sinful social structures (CN 4, CN 5, CN 9, CN 13; CP 8; CR 2; CX 2);
- 4. Understand the different political systems and the role of the church in the political system according to the context of one's ministry (CN 7, CN 12; CR 6; CX 2);
- 5. Explain the role of the church in society as an agent of reconciliation and redemption (CN 7, CP 9; CR 6);
- 6. Advise church members how to choose and participate in methods of reconciliation and redemption available in their contexts and/or how to form such as organization (CN 4, CN 5, CN 13; CP 9; CR 9);
- 7. Care for church members that fall victim to societal evils (CN 5, CP 8); Understand and explain the false hopes presented by the various practices of traditional religions (CN 9, CX 5);
- 8. Set an example of Christian stewardship (broadly defined), which includes one's stewardship of the created order (CR 10).

The following sessions and exercises of this course offer the following percentages of the four Cs:

Content 35% Competence 25% Character 25% Context 15%

A sociologist analyzes my group, describes its manners, economy, and _____. I find myself lost in the mix of what society has given me. Eventually, its regularities, if not its laws, that seem to me very communal in nature allow me a way to describe just exactly how I am unique. There is one major truth contained in this citation: humans are ____ beings. In other words, we live in society and society itself is guided by rules that govern and determine the actions of its members. The life of a human being in society is a universally recognized conception. After considering the relationship between self and society, we can then ask ourselves the next question: "How does this relate to humans ?" Professor John S. Mbiti responds to this important question in this way: "A culture fashions persons and persons create culture." It is universally accepted that persons are the product of culture. But, as Mbiti suggests, culture itself is a human _____. If ministers called by God have an adequate of his or her culture and context as well as that of the people among whom they work.

Beyond examining one's cultural context, this course will also offer an analysis of the major problems of society including war, abuse of the environment, racial conflicts, social injustice, exploitation, and AIDS and other diseases. The course will also look at different social and the role of the church within the social politics of the day, Christian and its role in society, the distinctive teachings of the Church of the Nazarene and how they relate to the African in their cultural contexts. Finally it is important to mention that this course will attempt to show how —how one acts when no one is watching—will guide one's involvement as a minister of God in society. It is important to remember the role of the Four Cs (Content, Competency, Character, and Context) in the preparation of ministers in the Church of the Nazarene.
SESSION 1: SOCIETY AND CULTURE
A. What is "society"?
According to the dictionary, society is defined as "a voluntary association of individualsan organized working togetheran enduring and cooperating social group whose members have developed organized community, nation, or broad groupings of people having common , institutions, and shared activities and interests."
These definitions of society reflect two basic ideas found in the Bible: human beings need each other and between persons are for our common good (Leming, DeVries, and Furnish, 1989, 85-86) In Genesis 1, God creates a different aspect of the (Greek, kosmos ) each day concluding with the creation of man (Hebrew, adam ) and calls all parts of His creation "good." But, God comments after creating man, saying "It is not good for the man to be alone" (Genesis 2:18). Creation was not complete until was created in relationship to man. According to the seen in the book of Genesis.

Activity for action – Look up the following passages in Genesis and identify the problems found in human relationships in society:

Genesis 3:12 –
Genesis 4:8 -
Genesis 6:1-3 -
Genesis 19:4-9 -
Genesis 25 –
Genesis 37:12-36 –
Genesis 38:11-27 –
Genesis 39:2-23 –
Based on these biblical references, why do you think God's people are an important part of the society in which they live?
B. What is "society"? What is its relationship to "culture"?
Sociologists Richard T. Schaefer and Robert P. Lamm define society, generally speaking, as a group of individuals that share a common space, common culture, and common and are relatively independent from other groups in these same categories of territory, culture, and language ( Sociology , 4 th edition, MacGraw-Hill, 1992).
According to Schaefer and Lamm's definition of society, the connection between society and culture is undeniable. There is no such thing as a society without or vice versa. According to Schafer and Lamm, "culture is the sum total of all that is and transmitted socially and defines behavior and actions of a social group as well as what it holds as its main, its values taught and received, and its customs and traditions." (Ibid., p.35)
1. The elements of culture
Culture helps us to understand our society and social relationships There are five universal elements in culture: symbols, language, values,, and material culture .

Symbols are anything that carries meaning for members of a cultural group, such as objects, images,, words, and position in family, work, or society in general.
Questions for discussion
In discovering cultural symbols in one's society, ask the following questions for examples to discover cultural symbols in your society.
How do you find a taxi? How do you know who the leaders are in your society? Why are meals usually eaten together?
Language is a type of symbol that helps people with one another.
Values are standards for people to judge what is desirable or undesirable, good or bad, beautiful or ugly. Examples are found in and music.
Norms are expectations that guide behavior in a society (usually derived from its cultural values). Examples are how parents raise or how one deals with authority.
Material culture is the "stuff" or the things that persons use to relate to their (usually by applying shared knowledge to help each other with how to live in one's physical environment, through a process called) We'll consider more of this cultural element later.
According to anthropologist George Murdock, culture helps us understand our social relationships in the types of and games that are played, the way food is eaten, how men and women relate sexually through marriage and family, the way religious are performed, how dances and music are performed, etc. These values may be expressed in a variety of ways between cultures and help one understand and give to one's society.
Note on subcultures . Subcultures are small groups within society that may hold to certain symbols, values, language, and norms that differ from the culture.

Questions for discussion

What might be some examples of subcultures in your society? How might Christian believers be considered a subculture within your society?

In review, culture helps us understand our society (social relationships) by giving us symbols, to communicate values that guide our beliefs and actions, and the ability to _____ this cultural knowledge to the place where we live.

2. Material and non-material culture

Sociologists ma	ke a difference between	material and non-	-material culture. According to	sociologist William Ogbu	urn, material cul	ture includes the	_ and technological aspe	ects of daily living,	, such as tools used for making	and eating food, the m	anner and materia	als used to construct houses a	nd other buildings, and	forms of	_ and transportation. Non-	material culture refers	s to traditions, cus	toms, s (ways of knowing and government, and mea	ans of communication ar	nd education. Non	-material culture is much more	difficult and more	to change t	:han material culture (Scha	afer and Lamm, 35).

Questions for discussion

- a. Can you think of examples of material culture?
- b. Can you think of examples of non-material culture?
- c. Why do you think non-material culture is more resistant to change?

3. The Christian believer in relation to society and culture

You are the salt of the earth. But if the salt loses its saltiness, how can it be made salty again? It is no longer good for anything, except to be thrown out and trampled by men. You are the light of the world. A city on a hill cannot be hidden. Neither do people light a lamp and put it under a bowl. Instead they put it on its stand and it gives light to everyone in the house. In the same way, let your light shine before men, that they may see you good deeds and praise your Father in heaven (Matthew 5:13-16).

In this passage from the Gospel of Matthew, Jesus affirms that those who are truly his are salt and light in this world, meaning representatives of Christian society and culture. Further, these Christian societies – "cities on a hill" – are regulated by certain norms—formal and (Matthew 5:14).
Formal norms are generally written down in the governmental constitutions used by nations to human society. Those who violate these laws (norms or rules / Greek nomos) are punished. On the other hand, informal norms are unwritten but recognized and accepted by members of a society. These informal norms may be violated but there is not usually a formal punishment but rather the of others toward the one who has not lived up to the of society.
In addition, it is also important to remember that each society applies a system for an individual's actions through a means equal to the individual's actions. The sanctions may be negative such as a penalty for breaking the norms or positive through gaining or upholding the norms. Respect of the laws of the state, or formal norms, may lead to social and political To break the law of the state could lead to imprisonment or
If a society defines itself as being a group of individuals with the sameand same culture, it means they have the same language, same religion, same customs, same traditions, and common It is imperative for Christian believers to know the position of the Church in the midst of society and the culture of society in order to be a bright and shining of God's to the rest of the world.
Activity for action – Scenarios: What is normal culturally and biblically?

Consider the following scenarios in small group discussion or as individual homework assignments. Consider the reasons for these practices within the culture and then discuss these practices in light of the Bible. Try to arrive at an appropriate response for the minister of the Gospel in these contexts.

- 1) Consider the practice of the Ivorian ethnic group known as "Les Gouro." In the case of a husband being away from his wife for a prolonged period, the true brother of the husband has the right to have sex with his brother's wife in order to continue producing children. What does the Bible say to this particular aspect of this cultural tradition?
- 2) Among the Mukamba of Kenya, dead ancestors are venerated and prayers are addressed to them. Sometimes sacrifices are offered to them. The ancestors are considered intermediaries between those who are living and God. What is culturally and/or biblically appropriate?
- 3) The temples of voodoo, or fetchism, are found throughout Africa in which followers devote themselves to the dangerous practices of sorcery. What does the Bible say to them?

In all of these cases, what must be the biblical response of the Church in light of these cultural traditions and practices?

Activity for action – Separate the groups into pairs. Assign them one of the following passages from the Bible. Following the reading, have them describe the Christian family based on what they read.

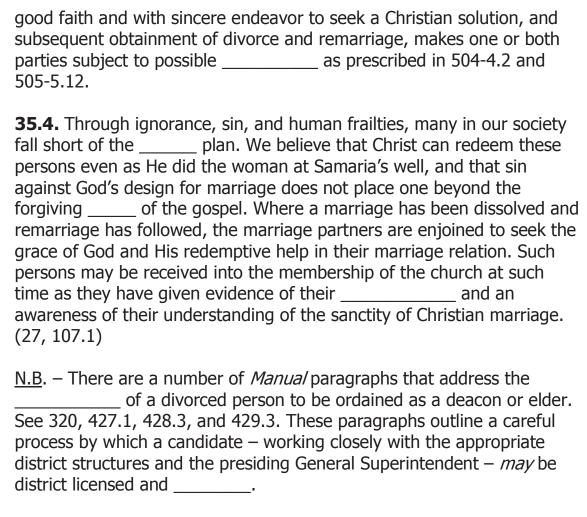

Colossians 3:18-22 Ephesians 5:22-33 1 Peter 3:1-7

After giving each group a chance to respond, ask for specific actions a person can do to be a better family member. Take time to pray with the students to ask for God's help to make them a better family member: spouse, parent, child or other.

Conclude the activity by saying that there's a single commandment found in all three texts: Christian love is to be lived out among one's family.

C. Comparing monogamy and polygamy

These are two types of marriage recognized and sometimes encouraged in some African cultures. We will examine and compare both types.

monogamy

The term monogamy describes a form of marriage in which a man and woman are married to one another.
Question for discussion
What are some of the basic biblical passages supporting monogamy? (If they cannot think of any particular passages, point out Genesis 1:27; Genesis 2:24; Matthew 19:1-11; Ephesians 5:28-33.)
• polygamy (including polygyny and polyandry)
Certain cultures permit polygamy which means a person may marry spouses. Polygyny is when a man is permitted to marry several women as This practice is especially found in Africa and the Middle East. Polyandry is when a woman may marry several men as, as found in the Himalayas and parts of southern India. Spend time comparing the reasons for marrying several spouses in your cultural context with the list given below.
Reasons for polygyny
(from Hiebert and Meneses, 1995, 89)
☐ To solve the social crisis created by a husband's death by providing the widow and her children with a husband and father
☐ To provide a family with children when the first wife is barren — There is a strong desire to have children, in part to care for the in their old age.
☐ To provide in one's old age by having many children
☐ To make with good families for purposes of social prestige, financial gain, and/or political power
☐ To acquire more workers to work the fields and so make the husband and powerful
☐ To provide husbands for all — This is particularly true in societies where many men are killed in raids and wars.

	To enable an important man to be more hospitable by providing women who can care for the guests and the who come to his home
	To provide gratification for a husband in societies where he is forbidden to sleep with his wife for two or three years after she gives birth to a child – This postpartum prevents the birth of another child who might threaten the life of the first because the mother does not have enough milk for both.
	To provide a man with and a sense of social well-being because his culture places high value on having many kinfolk around
	To provide help to senior wives who are tired of doing the household
Qı	uestions for discussion
1.	What are some biblical passages that refer to polygamy ?
	w do these Bible references compare to how polygamy is practiced day?
ро	Take some time to debate the positive and negative aspects for lygamy in today's society. Has urbanization in Africa affected the evalence of polygyny? If so, why?
	Read 1 Timothy 3:2. How should this passage be understood and plied in the Church today in relation to the polygyny question?
D.	Defining "Tribes"
Cul Th Ide bib ha Afi the	tribe may be defined as a group having a ethnic origin, single lture, shared language, and that is identified with a particular territory. e emphasis in tribal societies is on (French, la parenté). entity with the group is more important than as an individual. A plical example would be the people of Jacob, known as Israel, who d twelve sons that became the head of the twelve tribes of Israel. In rica, a tribe can be considered a of an ethnic group that uses a same language. For example, in Côte d'Ivoire, the ethnic group own as the Dida includes the tribes of Godjié, Avicam, and Nêkô.

Look at the chart below from Hebert and Meneses (adapted from Incarnational Ministry, 1995, p. 25), then answer the questions that follow.

Questions for discussion

1. What are the major tribes in your context? What distinguishes one ethnic group or tribe from another?

2. How does one present the Gospel to a tribal society? What values would be present in a Church in a tribal society compared to an urban society?

NOTE: The comparison between worldviews will be discussed more in the course entitled "World Visions in Comparison."

E. Nation, Politics, Economy, and Government

1. What is a nation-state?

A nation may be defined generally as a group with common origins and kinship, such as a tribe, as well as a large group of various united by political organization and common territory.
For instance, a nation like Ghana may have a common government overseeing multiple tribal or national identities. A nation-state is similar in definition but emphasizes the role of a common government for all of its members, making it politically in its decision-making and relationships to other nation-states. For example, the government of Nigeria cannot impose its governmental policies upon the people of its neighboring nation-states such as Benin, Niger, or Cameroon.

2. What is the economy?

Economy is derived from the Greek word oikonomos , meaning ousehold The basic definition of economy is how one nanages that for which one is responsible. The members of a particu	lar ociety are responsible for managing basic resources, such as materia	al I oods and services, necessary for their community to survive and thri	ve.
conomics is the study of the production, distribution and f goods and services within a society. The economic system of a soci	iety
s how this process of meeting a community's needs will be organized or the of its members. The economic systems of most natio	ns re organized between the poles of capitalism and socialism.

3. What is socialism?

Israel Katoke, author of a seminal article on the "Church and African socialism," (1976) argued that socialism is an economic system that gives chance for all people to benefit within society. As the Marxist slogan says, "From each according to their abilities, to each according to their" Generally speaking, a Marxist seeks an immediate revolution of the economic system that equalizes the value of labor, usually the poor, with the value of capital, usually held by the A socialist, on the other hand, seeks a gradual equalization between economic classes.

This gradual process, according to socialists, should be guided by the state by regulating fair practices and by controlling the means of production. The goal will be to prevent some members of society from gaining more material wealth and power through the of other members of society.
4. What is capitalism?
Capitalism refers to an economic system in which the means of production are mostly privately owned and for The cost of goods and services are determined by the demands of the market and not through government control. Promoters of capitalism assert that a free market regulates itself through profit motive and and offers anyone with a little capital the opportunity to succeed individually as well as contributing to economic growth in society. Globalization is a current example of forces at work. The modes of producing and distributing goods are self-organized and streamlined so more goods and services became available for lower to those who demand the goods and services.
Capitalism can sometimes lead to monopolies (a single owner or company the market for its good or services) and imperialism (states seek to expand their markets and means of production through its political influence and economic control). Christian critics of capitalism seek a mixed economy of capitalism and socialism by curbing government regulation of private ownership and the free market as well as striving for better government for fair labor standards to protect the rights of those who might be exploited for their work as well as economic for the poor and the oppressed.

Questions for discussion

- a. What is Christian about socialism? What is Christian about capitalism?
- b. What difference does the Christian faith make in how a believer lives and works within the economic systems of their contexts?
- c. Read the following biblical passages (Acts 2:42-47 and Acts 4:32-37) and discuss the similarities and differences between these passages and the local contexts in which the students minister.

Defining Weelities and Weeverment

5. Defining "politics" and "government"
Politics refers to all that relates to the of a state and participating in the public affairs of a state. It is the art and of governing.
The government directs and guides the decisions and actions of a group. It is usually characterized by the term "state." It is the official representative of the political system of the group or nation. The government may be a monarchy (governed by one ruler) or a democracy (governed by the will of the community).
Absolute monarchy and direct democracy represent the forms of each type of government. An absolute monarch is a ruler without equal in power and influence over a group, much like military today. On the other hand, a direct democracy not only selects representatives for government but also allows to direct policy, found mostly in governments of smaller groups.

There are various forms of governments throughout the world. Today there are forty constitutional monarchies in which a monarch reigns as _____ of state, but elected representatives rule the state through the powers invested in them through a written of law. Representative democracies, also known as republics, are governed by constitutional law and elected representatives that guide policy, decision-making, and regulation on behalf of the society. Unlike monarchies, the head of state is also elected by the people.

The characteristics of monarchy and democracy will need to be considered in further detail.

6. Defining "Democracy"

The following are major characteristics of a democracy:
Democracy is a political regime directed by the "In a republic, the people as a body have the sovereign power, that's a democracy," according to Montesquieu. It includes constitutional rule of law, the of powers, human equality before the law, the participation of citizens in the state, the freedom of expression, the right to privacy and property, a respect for, and the right to belong to the opposition.
Constitutional rule of law
Democratic states rule their countries through a collection of articles of law known as "the constitution." The constitution must be voted upon and down by members of the government the people.
Question for discussion
Has God also offered a constitution to the human race? If so, what is it?
Separation of powers
Executive, judicial, and administrative powers are not all to the head of state, such as a president, but are between the various parts of government, namely, the executive, judicial, and legislative bodies.
Question for discussion
Think of biblical examples of power given to one person "in ignorance" only to be revoked and shared with other (HINT: Look in 1 Samuel). What support can you find for power-sharing in the Bible as it relates to this aspect of democracy?

Human equality before the law

In all true democratic societies, all people are equal before the law. There is no one that is to the just rule of the government.
All citizens have the right to participate in the political life of the state. Each citizen enjoys the right and to participate in the political life of the country. This participation may be supporting or criticizing new legislation, voting in general and local elections. The voice of citizens should make their opinion known to the government through Citizens also have certain duties to fulfill their responsibility to the state, such as paying and following the laws required of them.
Activity for Action – List the rights and duties of the state toward its citizens and – on the other hand – of citizens toward the state.
Questions for discussion
1. What passage from Paul's Epistles supports human equality? (Galatians 3:28) After finding the passage, discuss it as a group.
2. Read together the story of the jailing of the apostles and their appearance before the Sanhedrin (Acts 5:17-32). Why did Peter say in v.29: "We must obey God rather than men!"? Does Peter's response contradict Paul's directive in Romans 13:1, that we are to submit to governing authorities? Under what circumstances might civil disobedience be allowable for the Christian? What are the potential dangers of the Church complying with ungodly directives from the state? On the other hand, what are the dangers of such non-compliance?
Freedom of expression
In all democratic societies, all people enjoying their rights and duties as citizens have the right to of expression in the areas of politics, ethics, the arts, etc.

Right to privacy and private ownership

Citizens have the right to legally goods of all kinds including their property. They also have the right to privacy, to be protected from unlawful and unwanted from others.
Respect for diversity
Citizens in a democracy respect and welcome diversity of opinion, belief, and whether they agree or disagreed. There is always a place for opinions.
Right to belong to opposition
The right to oppose the within legal parameters exists in order that individuals or groups may from the party in power or from other parties in the political system.
Manual Statement on the Church and Human Freedom, 903.6
Read aloud and together the following statement in the Manual in paragraph 903.6 on the church and liberty.
"Concerned that our great Christian be understood and safeguarded, we remind our people that both political and religious freedom rest upon biblical concepts of the of humankind as God's creation and the sanctity of one's own individual conscience. We encourage our people to participate in appropriate activity in support of these biblical concepts and to be ever vigilant against to this precious freedom.
"These freedoms are constantly in danger, therefore we urge of persons to public office at all levels of government who believe in these principles and who are answerable only to God and the constituency that elected them when carrying out a public Further, we resist any invasion of these principles by religious groups seeking special
"We believe that the role of the Church is to be and constantly to remind the people that 'righteousness exalts a nation' (Proverbs 14:34). (2005)"

Questions for discussion

- 1. Is there one biblical form of government? Defend your position.
- 2. How do a monarchy and a democracy differ? What are the benefits (and drawbacks) of each?
- 3. When the Bible speaks of Jesus as our "King" or describes the "Kingdom of God," are these political statements or spiritual ones? Explain.
- 4. What is the best form of government for human nation-states in general and African nation-states in particular? What forms of government—monarchy or democracy—are found in modern African nation-states, cities, and villages?
- 5. How can Christian believers be active in the government without falling into discord and even violence with fellow members of society?

SESSION 3—MAJOR PROBLEMS IN SOCIETY

The following section will survey the problems of war, ethnic conflict, violence, and AIDS. These sections will be followed by a consideration of the Church's redemptive role in resolving these social problems through reconciliation. An addendum dealing with abuse of the environment and the Christian response of Creation Care will follow.

A. War in historical and biblical perspective

1. What is war?

War is an historical and social	that is defined as being an armed struggle between states. Civ	il war is an armed struggle between groups and citizens of the same sta	te. War is the opposite of

2. What are the consequences of war?

War as an armed struggle has many ill-fated consequences such as loss of life, destruction of buildings, pollution of the environment, decreased availability of food, increased sickness, displacement of refugees, and a cessation of

3. Does the Bible talk about war?
War is not absent in the Biblical record. Even Jesus Christ announced that wars would be signs signaling his (Matthew 24:6-8). There are several other biblical passages referring to war:
Genesis 14:2 2 Samuel 12:31 2 Samuel 22:35 1 Chronicles 20:3 2 Chronicles 25:12 Psalm 27:3 Psalm 79:3 Ezra 9:4; 13:16, 19:2 Ecclesiastes 3:8 Revelations 6:4 Jewish law on the subject of war: Deuteronomy 20:2, Deut 23;9; Deut 24:5; Leviticus 14:31
4. Wars of the 20 th century
The 20 th century witnessed two wars many wars that engulfed many nations, thereby earning the title "world war." In September 1914, the first World War (WW 1) began in Europe and lasted until 11 November 1918. According to historians it was one of the and most destructive of human lives. It was known at the time as the War and the War to End All Wars at least until 1939.
In September of that year, the government in Germany invaded Poland, leading Italy, Russia, Britain, and the United States (among others) to declare full-scale war. Known today as the Second World War (WW 2), it was fought in Europe and northern until 8 May 1945. In August 1945 the war was brought to an end in the Pacific after the United States dropped two atomic bombs on Japan forcing its surrender.
Apart from these two world wars, many nations in the world have suffered from wars and civil wars. In the 1990s several civil wars arose throughout Africa, including the Democratic Republic of the Congo (DRC; formerly Zaire), Rwanda, Burundi, Liberia, and Sierra Leone, to name a few. These wars tore apart,, and destroyed the populations of these countries and their neighbors. According to some survivors, many women were violated during the civil war in the DRC. They insist that many women were and forced into sexual slavery.

5. Wars since a.d. 2000
Recently, war has not but only changed locations. In the Middle East war is a constant threat. Even Côte d'Ivoire – once known for its peaceful existence – broke into civil war in September 2002. As Zechariah prophesied about the coming Messiah at the birth of Jesus, the Messiah would "shine on those living in and in the shadow of death, to guide our feet into the path of peace" (Luke 1:79).
6. Manual statement on war
Read aloud and together the following statement in the Manual in paragraph 903.7, "War and Military Service":
"The Church of the Nazarene believes that the ideal world condition is that of and that it is the full obligation of the Christian Church to use its influence to seek such means as will enable the nations of the earth to be at peace and to devote all of its agencies for the propagation of the message of peace. However, we realize that we are living in a world where forces and philosophies are actively in conflict with these Christian ideals and that there may arise such international emergencies as will require a nation to resort to war in of its ideals, its freedom, and its existence.
"While thus committed to the cause of peace, the Church of the Nazarene recognizes that the supreme of the Christian is due to God, and therefore it does not endeavor to bind the of its members relative to participation in military service in case of war, although it does believe that the individual Christian as a citizen is bound to give to his or her own nation in all ways that are with the Christian faith and the Christian way of life.

Activity for Action – Research several local, national, or international hard copy (or internet) newspapers for current articles related to wars in the world today. After identifying these outbreaks of violence, commit each local church represented in class to pray for those involved in these conflicts.

B. Ethnic conflicts

There have been ethnic conflicts throughout world history. Three cases will be examined here: Racism in the USA, apartheid in South Africa, and the Jewish holocaust in Germany under the Nazis.

Editor's note — The language of "race" is fraught with difficulties. Charles Gailey, former head of the School of Missions of Nazarene Theological Seminary, Kansas City, MO (USA), has questioned whether the concept of "race" as popularly conceived (with its fixation upon incidentals, like skin color) is accurate, helpful, or even necessary. After all, is not God the Father of one race, Adam's race, otherwise known as the human race? Gailey believes that the more common, narrow use of the word "race" tends to divide us, rather than unite us as one human family, since it focuses attention upon superficial differences rather than upon the more important characteristics that we as humans share. Because of this concern, the alternate terms "ethnic" or "ethnic groups" will be favored in this manual. However, for clarity of understanding, the words "race" (or "races") will also appear, though in quotation marks (" ") to indicate their dubious validity. Since no functional equivalent of the word "racism" exists — "ethnocentrism" carries a weaker meaning, and "prejudice" is broader — the word "racism" has been retained.

1. Ethnic conflicts in the United States

The United States of America is a society. In the 19 th century, the presence of freed slaves and immigrants offered new citizens the opportunity for religious freedom and certain liberties. The mixture of ethnic groups is a true reason for on the part of the United States, but also a between groups as they struggled to understand each other as equals. For the minority populations these tensions sometimes became a struggle for survival, particularly for black Americans.
Up until the 1960s black Americans struggled under severe of the "races." For decades better schools, universities, neighborhoods, hospitals, shops, hotels, restaurants, and professions were refused to non-whites. Certain restaurants, buses, trains, and other public places has certain sections for whites only or blacks only. Some blacks were refused participation in some parts of society regardless of their competencies andsimply because they were not
There was also a violent turn in the separation of "races." Thewas an organization situated mainly in the American South that attempted through legal demonstrations and illegal acts of violence against non-whites to to what its all-white membership perceived to be white Malcolm X and Martin Luther King, Jr.
Malcolm X and Martin Luther King, Jr. represented two sides in the against racism in the United States during the 1960s. Malcolm X converted to Islam and chose to battle racism by following the dictum: "An eye for an eye and tooth for a tooth." His methods were mainly, as he told his many followers and sympathizers, "If a white slaps you, send him to the cemetery." Malcolm X was assassinated by another black man. Racism, therefore, was not only a case of hatred of one race toward another one, but hatred for oneself. As one observer noted, however, "racial" conflict is not only

Martin Luther King, Jr. chose the path of in the struggle against racism in the United States during the same period of the 1960s. Born in 1929 in the southern city of Atlanta, Georgia, he was raised in a Christian family. His education included a bachelor's degree in 1948, a master's of divinity in 1952, and a doctoral degree in 1955. He became a pastor in the same Baptist church where his father had served.
He became involved in the civil movement through the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. This organization was created to struggle against social It used non-violent methods such as marches and the "sit-in." The sit-in was a non-violent means of protest by just sitting peacefully in a place reserved for whites only such as a restaurant. In 1964 MLK received the Nobel Peace Prize. Four years later, at the age of 39, King was by a white man.
Question for discussion
Malcolm X and Martin Luther King represent violent (Malcolm X) and peaceful (MLK) means of social change. Which one is the most effective way to change one's society? Which one is the most biblical way?
2. Apartheid in South Africa
The word "apartheid" is Afrikaans for "" Racism through apartheid was instituted officially into South African law and implemented by the white government from 1948 to 1991. It was under the prime minister Hendrik Verwoerd that apartheid instituted the law of "" in which the nine ethnic groups of Bantus or blacks were to live in 14% of the country separated from the whites. The main gold mines and principal cities were governed by the white minority.
Blacks were to live and in their own neighborhoods, ones assigned to them by whites. They could leave these areas only with appropriate identity papers. In 1962 police could a black person without identity papers outside of their assigned neighborhood. In such a case, they could be for 30 days. Blacks also could not own land under apartheid law. Oppression of these fundamental rights namely Nelson Mandela. Active in the African National Congress, a South African political party representing some blacks, Mandela was of acts of violence and put into a political prison in the early 1960s and stayed there for 28 years.

Despite UN resolutions and by religious organizations from around the world, apartheid worsened during the 1960s. In the same period, South Africa withdrew from the Common Wealth—a collection of nations united under the crown. The Dutch Reformed Church in South Africa withdrew from the World Council of in spite of the calls for social justice in their country.
The last bastions of apartheid fell under the leadership of Frederik de Klerk during his time as prime minister of South Africa. A new was written and voted into law in 1993. De Klerk suggested that a multiracial and multiparty government should be instituted. Multiparty and free were held in 1994 which gave the victory to the African National Congress. Nelson Mandela became the first black President that was elected in South Africa.
3. The Jewish holocaust in Nazi Germany
The Nazi political party ruled a totalitarian in Germany from 1933 to 1945. Totalitarian governments require absolute over the government and society. During the Nazi regime led by Adolf Hitler, the national identity of Germany was tied to the of the Aryan race over all others—noted by certain physical traits. The Nazis created a stereotype for the ideal man and ideal women. A stereotype* is a common yet opinion or judgment about others.
Most social were blamed on minority groups, especially Jews. They used negative stereotypes to sow fear and hatred of these minorities. It is estimated that six Jews died during the years of Nazi rule in Germany and its conquered territories.
Manual statement on discrimination

Read aloud and together the following statement from the Manual, paragraph 903.2, "Discrimination":

"The Church of the Nazarene reiterates its historic position of Christian compassion for people of all races. We believe that God is the Creator of all people, and that of one blood are all people created. We believe that each individual, regardless of race, color, gender, or creed, should have equality before law, including the right to vote, equal access to educational opportunities, to all public facilities, and to the equal opportunity, according to one's ability, to earn a living free from any job or economic discrimination.

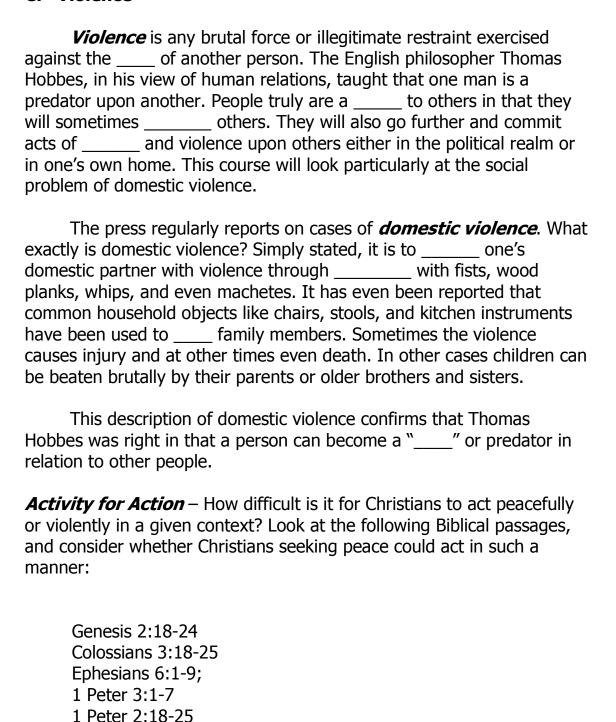

"We urge our churches everywhere to continue and strengthen programs of education to promote racial understanding and harmony. We also feel that the scriptural admonition of Hebrews 12:14 should guide the actions of our people. We urge that each member of the Church of the Nazarene humbly examine his or her personal attitudes and actions toward others, as a first step in achieving the Christian goal of full participation by all in the life of the church and the entire community.

"We reemphasize our belief that holiness of heart and life is the basis for right living. We believe that Christian charity between racial groups or gender will come when the hearts of people have been changed by complete submission to Jesus Christ, and that the essence of true Christianity consists in loving God with one's heart, soul, mind, and strength, and one's neighbor as oneself" (2005).

Questions for discussion

- 1. The Church of the Nazarene is blessed by its multi-ethnic membership. Discuss relations among various groups within the Church of the Nazarene. Be sure to remain factual, objective and true in describing these relationships.
- 2. What stereotypes are found in your local context? (Examples: One ethnic group might be viewed as overly opinionated or violent. Another might be construed as quiet and submissive toward outsiders.) How do societies create and maintain stereotypes? What can the Scripture tell us about breaking stereotypes? (See Galatians 2:26-29 and Philippians 3:4-11).
- 3. How can Christian believers avoid notions of ethnic or "racial" superiority? How can Christians minister to those whom society has historically and wrongfully treated as somehow inferior?

C. Violence

Take some time in a small group to prepare a Bible study or legal public protest against domestic violence. Search and use these biblical texts for this activity.

1 Timothy 6:1-2 Titus 2:9-10

D. HIV/AIDS

The following section will discuss the definition of HIV/AIDS, ways of transmitting the virus, means of prevention, biblical counsel about avoiding HIV/AIDS, and the Church's compassionate response toward those infected or affected by AIDS.

This section on AIDS is extracted from an article, "Basic information on HIV/AIDS" by Rev. Trino Jara in TransAfrica magazine, January/February/March 2002, also found in the resource from Africa Nazarene Publications (2002). Jara organizes the article in a question and answer format as presented below.

What is HIV/AIDS (Human Immunodeficiency Virus/Acquired Immunodeficiency Syndrome)?

HIV (Human Immunodeficiency Virus) is the virus responsible for AIDS (Acquired Immunodeficiency Syndrome). This mysterious sickness has spread around the world over the last thirty years.

Since then there have been no vaccinations or discovered to conquer this illness. There have been medicines developed that inhibit the growth and of the virus, but it is always present in those inflicted.
Every human body has an immune system , a natural against common diseases. Its main task is to defend the human body against any strange that tries to attack it. When the immune system works correctly, the cells, called CD4 or white globules, work in different ways. Some directly attack the disease's pathogenic agents and absorb them while others form what are called "antibodies" as their answer against the invaders. The antibodies generally protect us against diseases and When the immune system is weak or damaged its ability to protect the human body is less efficient and it is, for that reason that illness attacks a person.
The HIV virus attacks the human system and makes the victim vulnerable to other diseases, such as influenza, tuberculosis, and others. AIDS is the last phase of the infection caused by HIV .

The period of time between initial infection and subsequent death varies according to the state of the victim's prior to contamination as well as their level of nutrition. Generally speaking, this period of time may last up to ten years.
An infected person in this incubation period will not show visible signs of the illness yet remains a vector for the virus, usually through unprotected sexual intercourse or sharing used needles for intravenous drug use.
How is HIV transmitted?
A person infected with HIV possesses a great quantity of the virus in certain bodily, such as the blood, sperm, vaginal fluids, and maternal milk. HIV may be transmitted from an inflected person to a healthy person in the following ways:
<ul> <li>Blood transfusion and transmission (sharp objects, such as needles, contaminated by)</li> <li>Sharing syringes—contaminated and non-sterilized—usually used by drug addicts to inject</li> <li>A mother infecting their child during</li> <li>Breastfeeding between mother and child—the HIV virus is also contained in the mother's</li> <li>Sperm and all vaginal fluids occurs through sexual intercourse.</li> </ul>
It is important to remember that HIV is contracted 90% of the time through sexual relations.
How can we prevent the spread of HIV/AIDS?
Although there is not yet a cure for HIV/AIDS, this disease can be avoided by following these guidelines:
<ul> <li>Sexual before marriage</li> <li>Sexual between marriage partners</li> <li>Require a blood test before marriage to insure one's is not infected.</li> <li>Use a during sexual relations.</li> </ul>

 Be careful in selecting clinics; make sure they use sterilized equipment for taking _____ or giving injections. Remember that it only takes one instance of unprotected sexual intercourse with someone carrying the virus to become infected oneself with HIV. What are biblical ways of avoiding infection by HIV/AIDS? (Make sure to read aloud all of the scripture verses listed with each point.) • Maintain self-_____ (1 Timothy 1.7). • Live a life ______ to God (Romans 12.1). • Avoid _____ immorality (1 Thessalonians 4.3). • Practice sexual _____ outside of marriage (1 Corinthians 6.18). • ____ all situations that make one vulnerable to sexual sin (Genesis 39). • Be capable of making good _____ (1 Corinthians 6:12). • Know that Christians are ______ in this world (John 17:15-20). • Guard one's thoughts and use of time. Choose good friends, those who will encourage you to do the _____ thing (Proverbs 17:17). • Remember that using a condom will usually protect an individual and others against the spread of HIV/AIDS, but it cannot protect our against the power of sin (James 4:17). What attitude and actions should the Church display toward those infected with HIV/AIDS? Our Lord Jesus Christ shows _____ for those infected by illness including the lepers of this age. The church must therefore follow in the footsteps of our Master by testifying and acting with compassion toward those who are infected and with HIV/AIDS. The following statement comes from the Manual of the Church of the Nazarene: Manual statement on HIV/AIDS Read together the following Manual statement on HIV/AIDS (paragraph) 903.15):

"Since 1981, our world has been confronted with a most devastating disease known as HIV/AIDS. In view of the deep need of HIV/AIDS sufferers, Christian compassion motivates us to become accurately informed about HIV/AIDS. Christ would have us to find a way to communicate His love and concern for these sufferers in any and every country of the world (2001)."

For discussion

Discuss ways in which pastors can guide their local church members to be a witness of Christ's love to persons afflicted with HIV/AIDS in one's local context, such as a hospital or clinic. List those ideas and have pastors commit to discussing these acts of compassion with their churches.

E. Creation Care

1. The sin of exploitation

Sadly, one of the effects of the Fall is that instead of for the creation, humans too often exploit God's good earth. The Apostle Pau speaks of all Creation as "" (Romans 8:22). This is a result of the Creation being "subjected to frustration" (v.20) at the time of the Fall. This groaning continues as human activity exploits Creation with little thought about future illue tilought about future
2. Owners or stewards?
When something to someone, it is only natural to believe that he or she is free to do with it what they want. For example, if I own a bicycle, I can keep it clean and safely secured to avoid On the other hand, if I choose to leave it caked with mud and leave it outside where it might be stolen, that is my prerogative. After all, it's my bike.
When it comes to the earth, too often humans have treated the environment like that bicycle. Some care for their bikes, but many do not. But in reality, the earth is not a bicycle or any other possession.
Humans do not the earth. The Psalmist writes:

Annual tropical stor	ms and hurricanes dump huge quantities of water on the mounta	ainous island. Since few mountains have tree cover, the water can _	down to the valleys, killing animals
destroying houses, and drowning	hundreds, even thousands of citizens
in its wake.	·

Questions for discussion

- 1. What are the reasons people cut down too many trees? What would encourage the planting of new ones? How can the Church be involved in finding alternative sources of fuel that would make deforestation less likely?
- 2. Beside deforestation, what are some of the other ecological challenges facing your country? Name one positive thing your local church could do on a regular basis to help resolve the problem.

SESSION 4—THE ROLE OF CHURCH IN SOCIETY

A. The responsibility of the Church

Go and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit, teaching them to obey everything I have commanded you . . . [Jesus] said to them, Go into all the world and preach the Good News to all creation. Whoever believes and is baptized will be saved, but whoever does not believe will be condemned. - Matthew 28:19-20, Mark 16:15-16

The church of Jesus Christ has a	and gracious task to preach
the Good News of salvation offered by J	esus alone (John 14:56; John 3:16; Ephesians 2:8; Romans 8:1). Chris	stians must not only preach the teachings of Christ, but put them into	on a daily basis
(Matthew 7:21ff; James 2:14-26).	·

B. Four main tasks of the Church in society

1) _____ Christian believers and other members of society the importance of Romans 13:1-7, particularly verse 1:

D.	. The Church as agent of redemption and re	conciliation

Sin in the heart of individuals and their is at the base of many problems found in society. Being separated from God by sin results in artificial divisions in society,, and politics, driving us to the need for reconciliation and redemption .
1. Redemption
All sinners are spiritually and relationally from God because of their sin (Isaiah 59:1ff). But when someone repents of their sins and believes in God through Jesus Christ as Lord and Savior, they will be (John 1:11-13; 3:3-8; Acts 16:31; Romans 8:1ff; Ephesians 2:8). This is what the Christian message means by the term redemption . Following the truth of the passages cited above along with these (Romans 5:10-11; Ephesians 2:16; Colossians 1:20) will help a sinner enter into the redemptive of Jesus Christ.
2. Reconciliation
It is important that the Church takes for receiving the "ministry of reconciliation " (2 Corinthians 5:18ff). This ministry is from God in this world that suffers so much division and God teaches and even commands the Church to begin the reconciliation of all with one another as it leads to the possibility of worshipping and serving God (Matthew 5:24; 1 Corinthians 7:11).
Activity for Action : In a role play, offer a scenario between two factions that need to be reconciled, such as a dispute over land ownership or a problem between a husband and wife. After presenting the scenario, give the pastors an opportunity to discuss how they will act redemptively and in the ministry of reconciliation.
For group reflection: What is a "redemptive analogy"?
Missionary Don Richardson worked among the Sawi people of Irian Jaya. In his book, Peace Child , he tells of his frustration in trying to reach them with the story of Jesus. In their culture, was considered the highest good. When they heard the story of Jesus' crucifixion, they would clap for Judas!

War broke out between the Sawi and a neighboring tribe. Because his people were suffering, the chief knew what he must do. He took his baby, and solemnly presented him to the chief of the enemy tribe. As long as the baby lived, there would be peace between the two groups. Anyone who killed the "peace child" would himself be killed. That day, a lasting was born.
Richardson saw in this act a redemptive analogy . It was a of what God did when He gave his only Son, Jesus, to reconcile the world to himself. The incident was a break-through for Richardson, and allowed him to present the Gospel in a way that they could
Questions for discussion
1. John Wesley taught that prevenient grace was an expression of the drawings of the Father, the enlightening of the Son, and the convictions of the Holy Spirit. (See Wesley's 1765 sermon, The Scripture Way of Salvation ). Prevenient grace always precedes our conversion, and operates universally. In what way might redemptive analogies be considered expressions of God's prevenient grace?
2. The Church is to be an agent of redemption. What are some of the "redemptive analogies" in your own culture that the Church could use to preach the message of redemption and reconciliation?
3. Beyond words, what concrete actions could your local church or district take to bring reconciliation between feuding rivals or tribes that live in your community?
SESSION 5—LIVING AS A CHRISTIAN IN SOCIETY
The Nazarene Manual offers for how to live out a Christian within society. There is a section in the Church Constitution that describes the Church as a whole and the Church of the Nazarene particularly and the important role of its members in society.
The following section includes excerpts from the Church Constitution found in the Nazarene Manual . It covers areas listed here as Who We Are (The Church), What We Believe (Agreed Statement of Belief), How

We Live (Covenant of Christian Conduct) divided into three sections labeled here as: What We ___, What We ____, and How We ____ Together.

Read each section and respond to the questions that follow. Be prepared to discuss these questions in class.

Who We Are

THE CHURCH

I. The General Church

23. The Church of God is composed of all spiritually regenerate persons, whose names are written in heaven.

II. The Churches Severally

24. The churches severally are to be composed of such regenerate persons as by providential permission, and by the leadings of the Holy Spirit, become associated together for holy fellowship and ministries.

III. The Church of the Nazarene

25. The Church of the Nazarene is composed of those persons who have voluntarily associated themselves together according to the doctrines and polity of said church, and who seek holy Christian fellowship, the conversion of sinners, the entire sanctification of believers, their upbuilding in holiness, and the simplicity and spiritual power manifest in the primitive New Testament Church,

What We Believe

IV. Agreed Statement of Belief

- 26. Recognizing that the right and privilege of persons to church membership rest upon the fact of their being regenerate, we would require only such avowals of belief as are essential to Christian experience. We, therefore, deem belief in the following brief statements to be sufficient. We believe:
- 26.1. In one God—the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit.
- 26.2. That the Old and New Testament Scriptures, given by plenary inspiration, contain all truth necessary to faith and Christian living.
- 26.3. That man is born with a fallen nature, and is, therefore, inclined to evil, and that continually.
- 26.4. That the finally impenitent are hopelessly and eternally lost.
- 26.5. That the atonement through Jesus Christ is for the whole human race; and that whosoever repents and believes on the Lord Jesus Christ is justified and together with the preaching of the gospel to every creature.

For discussion -- Reflect on the three statements above. Why do you think it is important for a Christian believer to be a church member?

regenerated and saved from the dominion of sin.

26.6. That believers are to be sanctified wholly, subsequent to regeneration, through faith in the Lord Jesus Christ.

26.7. That the Holy Spirit bears witness to the new birth, and also to the entire sanctification of believers.

26.8. That our Lord will return, the dead will be raised, and the final judgment will take place.

How We Live

V. The Covenant of Christian Character

27. To be identified with the visible Church is the blessed privilege and sacred duty of all who are saved from their sins and are seeking completeness in Christ Jesus. It is required of all who desire to unite with the Church of the Nazarene, and thus to walk in fellowship with us, that they shall show evidence of salvation from their sins by a godly walk and vital piety; and that they shall be, or earnestly desire to be, cleansed from all indwelling sin. They shall evidence their commitment to God—

What We Do

- 27.1. FIRST. By doing that which is enjoined in the Word of God, which is our rule of both faith and practice, including:
- (1) Loving God with all the heart, soul, mind, and strength, and one's neighbor as oneself (Exodus 20:3-6; Leviticus 19:17-18; Deuteronomy 5:7-10; 6:4-5; Mark 12:28-31; Romans 13:8-10).
- (2) Pressing upon the attention of the unsaved the claims of the gospel, inviting them to the house of the Lord, and trying to compass their salvation (Matthew 28:19-20; Acts 1:8; Romans 1:14-16; 2 Corinthians 5:18-20).
- (3) Being courteous to all men (Ephesians 4:32; Titus 3:2; 1 Peter 2:17; 1 John 3:18).
- (4) Being helpful to those who are also of the faith, in love forbearing

How is church membership a privilege? How is it a duty?

List five words from the first paragraph and explain how they are the basis for living as a Christian in society.

- one another (Romans 12:13; Galatians 6:2, 10; Colossians 3:12-14).
- (5) Seeking to do good to the bodies and souls of men; feeding the hungry, clothing the naked, visiting the sick and imprisoned, and ministering to the needy, as opportunity and ability are given (Matthew 25:35-36; 2 Corinthians 9:8-10; Galatians 2:10; James 2:15-16; 1 John 3:17-18).
- (6) Contributing to the support of the ministry and the church and its work in tithes and offerings (Malachi 3:10; Luke 6:38; 1 Corinthians 9:14; 16:2; 2 Corinthians 9:6-10; Philippians 4:15-19).
- (7) Attending faithfully all the ordinances of God, and the means of grace, including the public worship of God (Hebrews 10:25), the ministry of the Word (Acts 2:42), the sacrament of the Lord's Supper (1 Corinthians 11:23-30); searching the Scriptures and meditating thereon (Acts 17:11; 2 Timothy 2:15; 3:14-16); family and private devotions (Deuteronomy 6:6-7; Matthew 6:6).

What We Avoid

27.2. SECOND. By avoiding evil of every kind, including:

(1) Taking the name of God in vain (Exodus 20:7; Leviticus 19:12; James 5:12).

How We Live Together

27.3. THIRD. By abiding in hearty fellowship with the church, not inveighing against but wholly committed to its doctrines and usages and actively involved in its

- (2) Profaning of the Lord's Day by participation in unnecessary secular activities, thereby indulging in practices that deny its sanctity (Exodus 20:8-11; Isaiah 58:13-14; Mark 2:27-28; Acts 20:7; Revelation 1:10).
- (3) Sexual immorality, such as premarital or extramarital relations, perversion in any form, or looseness and impropriety of conduct (Exodus 20:14; Matthew 5:27-32; 1 Corinthians 6:9-11; Galatians 5:19; 1 Thessalonians 4:3-7).
- (4) Habits or practices known to be destructive of physical and mental well-being. Christians are to regard themselves as temples of the Holy Spirit (Proverbs 20:1; 23:1-3; 1 Corinthians 6:17-20; 2 Corinthians 7:1; Ephesians 5:18).
- (5) Quarreling, returning evil for evil, gossiping, slandering, spreading surmises injurious to the good names of others (2 Corinthians 12:20; Galatians 5:15; Ephesians 4:30-32; James 3:5-18; 1 Peter 3:9-10).
- (6) Dishonesty, taking advantage in buying and selling, bearing false witness, and like works of darkness (Leviticus 19:10-11; Romans 12:17; 1 Corinthians 6:7-10).
- (7) The indulging of pride in dress or behavior. Our people are to dress with the Christian simplicity and modesty that become holiness (Proverbs 29:23; 1 Timothy 2:8-10; James 4:6; 1 Peter 3:3-4; 1 John 2:15-17).

continuing witness and outreach (Ephesians 2:18-22; 4:1-3, 11-16; Philippians 2:1-8; 1 Peter 2:9-10).

Which activities deemed harmful to a church member are the most difficult to avoid in your local context?

What can a Christian believer do to avoid these harmful activities if the rest of their family members are not Christian?

SESSION 6—THE AFRICAN IN SOCIAL CONTEXT
A. Famine, poverty, and illiteracy in Africa
According to Israel Katoke of Tanzania, there are several constants in much of Africa. First, ignorance , or lack of knowledge, keeps much of Africa from developing beyond the that arise from primitive technology, lack of sanitation, malnutrition, and bad governance, illiteracy, and lack of vision. This ignorance is perpetuated by illiteracy —the inability to communicate through reading, writing, and understanding the written language and symbols in the larger community.
According to Katoke, poverty is the source of due to primitive means of production. The cycle of poverty at times prevents the progress necessary to develop sustainable goods and extra goods for export.
Famine and disease continue unabated in many rural areas beyond the reach of local hospitals and clinics health and sanitation might help avoid many of these pitfalls. Malnutrition can also be attributed to certain beliefs in, certain animal or plant foods rich in nutrients but considered off-limits by certain traditional religions.
B. Africa and the occult, sorcery, magic, and spiritism
According to Kenyan John S. Mbiti, many times when something bad happens to a person or in one's family, the question is generally asked, "What caused this?" This usually is not a question of how did it happen, but what was the supernatural or cause of the misfortune. In the majority of cases, the victims of a misfortune will suspect that someone used against them, their families, or their possessions.
In Africa, there is a belief in the existence of mystical forces in the, according to John Mbiti (pp. 166-173). There is also the belief that certain people possess the and capacity to control and use these forces. Once these forces are conquered by this special considered	between the living and God, becoming the benefactors and prote	ectors of the living. These spirits also are believed to punish the living sh	nould they forget the dead and the necessary

C. The biblical position on magic, sorcery, spiritism, and traditional medicine

The biblical position is clear in relation to the practice of magic, sorcery, spiritism, and traditional medicine. Using a Bible concordance, you can find the biblical teachings on these practices; the Bible ______ these practices for Christian believers. The following passages offer the Christian teaching on these practices:

1 Samuel 28:7ff Galatians 5:20
Zachariah 10:2ff Col. 2:6-23
Micah 3:7ff Acts 8:9ff
Daniel 2:2-27ff Acts 13:6ff
Jeremiah 27:9ff
Jeremiah 29:8ff
Malachi 3:5

Editor's commentary: What happens after death?

Christian theologians do not speak with one voice on the issue of life immediately beyond the grave. New Testament scholar N.T. Wright has championed the view that conscious human existence ends at death, pending the general resurrection and judgment at the return of Christ (John 5:28-29; Rev. 20:11-15). An alternate view, based in part on the story of the rich man and Lazarus (Luke 16:19-31) as well as Jesus' words to the thief on the cross (Luke 23:43), allows for a conscious existence for both the righteous and the wicked immediately following death, the former enjoying blessings while the latter are tormented. In this conception, human spirits are in a holding place from which they cannot exit, cut-off from interaction with the living. Only on the day of judgment will they be released and reunited with their resurrected bodies.

Nazarene Article of Faith # 16, "Resurrection, Judgment, and Destiny," affirms:

20. We believe in the resurrection of the dead, that the bodies both of the just and of the unjust shall be raised to life and united with their spirits—"they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation.

What may be concluded?

It is irrelevant whether Wright's position or the alternate view is correct. In either case, from a biblical standpoint, the dead do not interact with the living in the manner that spiritism supposes. What is guaranteed for the dead is not continued interaction with the living, complete with their deference and petitions, but judgment before a holy God (Hebrews 9:27).

While deceased humans await the resurrection – either in non-existence (Wright) or in a holding place of punishment or comfort (Luke 16) – evil spirits are not subject to the same limitations. Accordingly, they may impersonate deceased humans, in the same way that Satan "masquerades as an angel of light" (2 Cor. 11:14). Interactions with deceased "ancestors" or other persons are in fact encounters with the forces of darkness, and should be treated by the Christian as such (Eph. 6:10-18).
