VOLUME VIII NO. 8

TREVECCA NAZARENE COLLEGE, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

JANUARY 31, 1952

CHRISTIAN WORK APPEALS TO STUDENTS

Yes, this is an appeal to you. You are a member of the student body of Trevecca Nazarene College. We will presume that you are a Christian. From the foregoing two statements we will assume that you would like to share in the problems of the Christian Worker's Organization, one of the most active student groups on our campus.

There are some problems connected with the Christian work that can be remedied if you as a new student or an old one, will help us. The first problem is the need for new workers in the organization. If you have a desire to work in any department, contact the captain or co-captain and express your desire in terms that he or she can understand. OFFER YOUR SERVICES, not just once, but over and over again. Once you have visited these institutions and come in contact with the needs there, you will never be the same again.

Another problem of importance is the attitude, at times, of the people in charge of the places where we go to take the gospel. Because they have become accustomed to the type of people who are admitted there, they see very little use for our coming, and often make it difficult for us to have the freedom in the service which we need. If you cannot go with the workers, you can pray that God will change circumstances and yes, even change people, so that the saving gospel of Jesus Christ can be given to these unfortunate people.

If you want to grow in grace, if you feel the lack of a burden for the lost, plunge into the activities of this organization, lose sight of yourself and your own trivial problems and get a glimpse of the results of sin in this one city. We not only welcome you into the Christian Worker's Organization, we urge you to make it a vital part of your life while you are at Trevecca!

REVIVAL FIRES FLAME

Dr. Basil Miller, who was currently delivering The Benson Lectures, speaking on Christian Journalism in the evenings, proved himself an able Evangelist in the chapel services which followed the Week of Revival Emphasis.

Beginning Tuesday morning, Dr. Miller spoke on "Yielding Ourselves to God," relating the story of how the parents of Hudson Taylor consecrated him to God before he was born. He continued the theme of yielding to God on Wednesday, basing his remarks on Rom. 12:1,2. We should yield our bodies to God, he insisted, for (1) physical energizing, (2) moral transformation, and (3) spiritual endowment. This was followed with the text: "Our God is a consuming fire." Stating that fire has always been a symbol of God's presence, he dealt with the thoughts: (1) God is a glorifying fire, (2) an empowering fire, (3) an illuminating fire, (4) a blott-ing-out fire, and (5) a purifying fire.

In addition to those who received special help at the altar, students and faculty alike feel that all were helped and stirred spiritually, and that these special services have helped us off to a good start in 1952. God bless these godly men who have contributed to our spiritual uplift!

Sparked by the ministry of Brother Sammy Martin and fanned by the messages of Dr. Basil Miller, revival fires which had been smoldering for some days burst into flame in recent chapel services.

Brother Martin was God's man for the hour during the Week of Special Revival Emphasis. Majoring on the theme that we desperately need the Holy Spirit in all His fulness, he introduced the messages of the week with the subject, "The Secret of a Revival",

PANEL DISCUSSION IS PRESENTED

The evening program Friday, January 18, was a panel discussion. The group touched on the subjects of conduct in the classroom, at Friday night programs, in the dormitories, off campus, at social and religious affairs, and at work as well as discussing what the student's attitude toward the college should be. Especially stressed was the fact that more reverence at chapel is needed. Do's and don'ts for chapel were discussed. After the panel concluded its talks, the meeting was opened to the audience for their questions, which the panel then discussed.

Members of the panel were Eugene Williams, Betty Meggs, Frances Nichols, Betty Barnett, and Melvin Taylor. The group was most capably led by Verlin Archer.

BENSON LECTURER

The speaker for the annual Benson Lectures, sponsored by John T. Benson in honor of his father, was Dr. Basil Miller, preacher, teacher, lecturer, traveler, and internationally known author.

"Want to be a journalist? Well, here's how you do it." In just as simple a manner as this, Dr. Miller spoke for the entire week on Christian Journalism. "Spread your brains on paper," he challenged his listeners. "Any one of you can write his way to fame and fortune in the next twenty-five years."

In his opening lecture on Monday evening, Dr. Miller covered what could be included in Christian Journalism. These included articles for magazines, descriptive materials for Sunday school periodicals, etc., character descriptions, "How To Do It" articles and books, short stories, quizzes, sermonic materials, church methods, biography, etc.

Tuesday evening Dr. Miller discussed "Cutting The Patern," dealing with the techniques one employed in organizing the materials for short story, biography, etc.

In dealing with "The Technique 'For Writing 'Light' Fiction," he insisted that the story must start with action, with the hero in a very difficult situation.

The Junior Theological students met Thursday evening, January 10, at the home of James Lucious in Woodbine. A number of guests were present, also.

The program featured the theme "The Voyage Ahead—1952." After the song "I've Anchored in Jesus", G. A. Fender spoke one "The Old Ship of Zion." R. L. Merriman used as his subject, "The Chart and Compass." Hilton Gillespie spoke on "The Anchor That Holds." Following the singing of "The Haven of Rest", Professor K. W. Phillips, faculty sponsor of the Junior Theological Class, brought a message on "The Pilot Tried and True." The program ended with the singing of "Jesus Savior Pilot Me." Before leaving everyone enjoyed an inspirational testimony meeting.

The women of the group brought covered dishes, and the food was excellent.

ARE YOU A FRIEND

A true friend is worth far more than money. You may be sure that if there is a person that knows all about you and still loves you, he is your true friend. When trials and troubles come your way, your real friend will not forsake you. No, he will stand by you through thick and thin, and take up for you when someone else is tearing you down. You may confide and trust in your friend, and he will never talk about you behind your back. He is always willing to help you in anyway he can. Your true friend has a great consideration for your interests and confidence in the motives of others. True friends are scarce. Are you a true friend? —By Betty Jewell

THE PEST STRIKES

The Pest strikes again! It is fifteen minutes before the bell will ring to end the library period. Pens and pencils are flying madly in an effort to wind up the report for next class period. Suddenly, without any warning whatever, the Pest swoops down on his innocent victim. His calling card is a rude jolting of the victim's elbow, which usually spoils whatever he is writing. He, too, has come to the library to secure the needed information, but alas, he has come too late to "dig" for himself. His only recourse is to dip his parasitic pen into the ink of his fellow classmate. It is useless to try to shake him for his desperation makes him a determined foe. —By Louise Phillips

WHY NOT BE HAPPY

By Gloria Dean Taylor

So many people today go around with a long, unhappy face. My question is, "Why?" Oh, I know you don't know how you are going to make ends meet for next month and there is so much to do and so little time. But what good will a long face do? "Laugh and the world laughs with you, weep and you weep alone for the sad old earth must borrow its mirth but has trouble enough of its own." This quotation is certainly true and we should also remember that God is still on the throne and that His clock keeps perfect time. So if we have any long faced people here at Trevecca why not smile and surprise the old world?

The theme for Thursday evening was "Writing Non-fiction Books." "Discard old worn-out words and phrases," he warned, "and slant your materials in a new direction."

Dr. Miller's final lecture on Friday was "The Challenge of Christian Journalism," in which he urged upon his audience the urgent need for more Christian Journalists, and the vast opportunities for both service and personal advancement in this field of Christian endeavor. In his eloquent manner, he made a "Career in Christian Journalism" a challenge indeed.

Perhaps as interesting as the lectures themselves were the items of information concerning Dr. Miller himself which came out in the course of the lectures. Among other things these lectures revealed that Dr. Miller has had 120 books published to date, has written numerous tracts whose sales run into the millions, has had over 8 million words published, more than 4000 articles published in more than 250 magazines and church publications, had more books copyrighted in 1951 than any other living writer, and one book has sold more than a million copies. And much of this work was done under the handicap of ill health.

Surely it has been a rare privilege for Trevecca Nazarene College to have had so qualified a Christian scholar and godly servant of the Lord to minister to us. God bless Dr. Miller as he goes from us. Our prayers shall go with him.

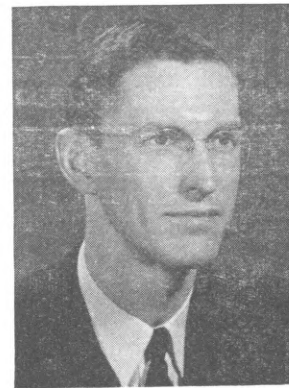

INTRODUCING FACULTY

"Meet a Christian scholar."

These words would very aptly introduce the faculty member whom we present in this issue of Trev-Echoes, for William Marvin Greathouse, though yet a young man, has already made a place for himself as an astute thinker and sincerely devout Christian gentleman.

Brother Greathouse, although not a native of Tennessee — he was born in Van Buren, Arkansas, April 29, 1919 — has spent most of his adult life in the Volunteer State; and has, for all practical purposes, adopted it as his home. This is not surprising, for Tennessee gave him his wife (she is a native of Paris), his education, his teaching positions, and some of the best pastorates in the nation.

While pastor of the Church of the Nazarene in Jackson, Tennessee, Bro. Greathouse was graduated from Lambeth College in 1941 with an A.B. in religion. Two years later he received his Th. B. from Trevecca Nazarene College. While pastoring Emmanuel Church of the Nazarene here in Nashville, and teaching at Trevecca, he worked on his Master's degree at Vanderbilt University; and received from that institution in 1948 an M.A. in theology.

He is an authority on Wesleyan theology, the special field in which he studied for his M.A.; the topic for his thesis in this work was "Wesley on Sin and Perfection," and the high quality of his scholarship won high praise from his instructors.

Brother Greathouse is currently pastoring First Church of the Nazarene in Clarksville, Tennessee, and teaching at Trevecca. Since he assumed his duties at Clarksville, he has guided the church there in the enlargement and renovation of the church auditorium

"Guess I'll ask Eunice . . . she's on a diet."

Yes, we had quite a few visitors on the campus last week. Why, we had three from Jacksonville, Florida—Rev. E. G. Bly, the pastor of Northside Nazarene Church, former Trevecca student, and his family; Donald Murray, brother of Laurie Murray; and Mary Geiger, sister of Ruby Geiger, a former Trevecca student. Oh, yes, Ruby got married last week, didn't she? So I suppose her name has been somewhat changed.

We're very happy to welcome Martha Watts to our Trevecca campus. Yes, she's the little blonde with the nightingale voice.

What was that Dr. Miller said at the luncheon last Wednesday? "Five years from now some of you ladies could be making enough money through writing to support a scalawag husband and a growing family." (Wonder why everyone looked at Frances?)

Want to know how to get a man, girls? Just ask Dr. Miller. He knows all the answers.

In French class Bill Shearer was asked the question, "What is a contrast?" Bill innocently answered, "Two extremes."

We were very sorry to lose one of our former students, Ethelene (Rusty) Biggs. But take it easy, Garth, things will work out all right.

The other evening Martha McKamey and Bill Bridges were walking down the sidewalk with another couple. The other boy happened to be walking on the inside. Martha, very reprovingly, placed him on the outside. When she looked around, she saw Bill hastily trying to change sides. Yes, he was walking on the inside, also.

Remember what I said about Joe Kirkus last issue? Well Billie Toney said that was all right except she didn't like the idea of my telling other girls to ask him questions. She thought one was enough.

Boys, have you been listening very closely in class to Dr. Bracken and Professor Phillips? Seems as though they've been telling you what kind of wife to choose. (that is, if you haven't already chosen). Maybe the girls should get together and talk to Mrs. Bracken and Mrs. Phillips. Perhaps they could give you a few pointers.

Journalism Class Has Luncheon

The class in Journalism entertained Dr. Basil Miller at a luncheon given in his honor at Bozeman's Restuarant January 23. Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Mackey were also guests of the Class.

Others present at the luncheon were Prof. and Mrs. M. E. Redford, Prof. V. Neil Richardson, Prof. and Mrs. K. W. Phillips, Mrs. Margaret Shrope, members of the Darda Staff, reporters for Trev- Echoes, members and former members of the Journalism Class, and others interested in writing.

Dr. Miller made an after-dinner speech, in which he said that he would say some things to his listeners he wished had been said to him when he first began to write. In an informal manner he described the simplest way to get one's name into print.

"Writing," he insisted, "is simply the application of the mind to a tangible task in an intelligent manner." If one is willing to start small, and will turn out copy—write, write, and rewrite—he can make it as a journalist.

The luncheon was a very pleasant time of Christian fellowship, thoroughly enjoyed by all. Bill Slonecker was photographer for the occasion.

FEBRUARY 8

Friday night, February 8, Arthur Crowley, a teacher of organ in Fiske University, will present the students and friends of Trevecca College with an organ recital in the Alumni Auditorium.

This is the first real concert organist to ever perform at Trevecca College. Well accomplished in his field, he will present a program of highstanding, intellectual worth.

The sophomore class, who is making this program possible, feel sure that you will never regret coming Friday night, February 8, for this unusual program of music.

ANDERSON TO PRESENT SPEECH RECITAL

On Thursday evening, January 31, 1952, Bill Anderson will give a speech recital in the McClurkan Auditorium. He will give cuttings from "The Robe" by Lloyd Douglas.

Miss La Vera Applegate will assist him with selections on the piano, including "Canzonetta" by Schutt, "Sonata Pathetique" by Beethoven, a Negro spiritual called "Were You There?" and "Bagatelles Opus 5" by Qcherepne. All students are invited to attend.

TIME IS VALUABLE

By Mavis Sharpton

Time is the world's greatest asset and also the greatest waste. There is nothing in which we are more profligate than we are with time. Time has been spoken of as being life's freightage with which some trade and make a fortune, while others like the prodigal son waste it in riotous living. Time is life's ladder by which some let themselves down into degradation. Time is life's book from which some extract wondrous wisdom, while others leave it unopened and die ignorant of things that could have been learned by them. Time is life's tree, from which some gather precious fruit, while others lie under its shade and die of starvation. Time is valuable to people because it is really what life is made of.

ATTENTION

Do you like organ music? Do you like unusual, worthwhile performances? If so, come Friday night, February 8th to hear Arthur Crowley of Fiske, University.

ERMA CHENOWETH

We have chosen out of the lofty senior rank Miss Erma Grace Chenoweth to be given special recognition. This twenty three-year-old lassie comes to us from Elkins, West Virginia.

Erma has always been quite active in her class activities, and now serves in the position of Class Secretary. However, her work is not limited to the class alone, for she finds time to work for the Master. She has very efficiently filled her place as Captain of the group to visit the City Work House each Sunday morning.

Erma's major is Religion, and her minor is History. When asked what her special talents were, she modestly replied that she did not have any; however, we who know her, are quite confident that she does have a talent. We believe she can very capably fill a position as shall we say, a Nazarene Preacher's wife?????

BILL STONE

Looking over the Senior Roll, I suddenly came upon the name William (Samuel) Stone. This rolling stone comes from Clarksville, Tennessee. After checking a little more, I found that he is very definitely interested in turning a very rare Rubye into another Stone.

Bill, as he is known to us, has as his major Religion, and Psychology and Education as minor. With many joys of Quartet experiences in the background, Bill has taken over the responsible position as (cont. on page 4)

HIGH SCHOOL SWAMP FROSH

55 - 27
By "Heab"

Tuesday evening in the Red Shield gym the high school blue jays opened the basketball season with a decisive victory over the freshmen green hornets. Throughout the first half the freshmen were in the thick of the battle but faltered in the third and final quarters to trail at the final whistle 55-27. The high school started slowly and found it hard to connect on their shots but managed to hold an eleven to seven advantage at the first quarter whistle.

The second quarter was much the same and the blue jays led at halftime 23-18. During the third quarter the jays scored almost at will although many shots were off the rim. The final quarter found the frosh without the services of Roel Nabors their leading scorer via the foul route. This was the straw which broke camel's back and the freshmen were completely out of the game as Bill Lancaster and Howard Spruill burned the nets freely.

Lancaster and H. Spruill were the big guns for the high school with 23 and 17 points respectively, while Nabors with 8 and Bob Turner with 6 were the leaders of the freshman attack.

Ping Pong Patter

The basement of Tidwell Hall is a favorite hangout for the table tennis fiends on the campus. This is one of the older sports here at Trevecca, but it has become more popular than ever in the last few months. We regret that there are no facilities at present for the girls but this will be arranged.

There has been talk of having a tournament to determine the campus champion, but it has not been worked out as yet. It is the feeling of all concerned that there should be several different classes in which fans of varying abilities could participate. If you know of any method of determining the group that a player should be in, let the sports editor of this paper know so that we might have the best tournament possible. among the top contenders for campus championship will be Verlin Archer, Frank Holbrook, Bob Sherrill, Philip Rodgers, Warner McPherson, Howard Spruill, Calvin Privett, Pete Malone, Bill Patrick, Jack Archer, and Douglas Meredith. These boys would perhaps all compete in the Class A. division, however, as they are the best we have seen on the campus. We are unable to make any predictions concerning the girls due to the fact that we have seen only a few play.

Watch for notices of the tournament and let us know if you get any bright ideas concerning it.

STUDENT WIVES REPORT ACTIVITIES

The Student Wives Club, a social instructive organization which meets each Tuesday night at 7 o'clock in the cafeteria with Miss Person as instructor, has scheduled a group of six lessons on the subject of home nursing. The course will be for one hour each Tuesday for the six weeks beginning January 22 and will be taught by Miss Virginia Benedict. Refreshments will be served after each course. Twenty-six members have indicated their intention of attending this course. Any of the students' wives who are interested are welcome to attend these and all other meetings.

At this time a Valentine party is being planned with husbands and children of the members as special guests.
